

Tempelhof Is Buzzed By Soviet

Autobahn Closed By Reds 4½ Hours

BERLIN (AP) — The East German Communists closed the Berlin autobahn for 4½ hours today and a Soviet jet buzzed West Berlin's big Tempelhof Airport for the first time.

Protest Shutdown

The United States, Britain and France strongly protested the shutdown on the autobahn and a U.S. Air Force spokesman said the buzzing also would be protested.

The spokesman said a Soviet twin-engine plane came in from the east at 500 feet and swept across the field, which is heavily used by commercial airliners flying in and out of West Berlin.

"The visibility was good and there were observers who clearly saw the red star on the plane," the spokesman declared.

The U.S. Army reported that five Allied vehicles held up by the autobahn shutdown were allowed to proceed at 2 p.m. One U.S. military sedan was stopped at Babelsberg on the West Berlin end. At Helmsdorf on the other end of the autobahn four Allied vehicles were detained.

There were no signs that U.S., British or French authorities were planning any strong measures. The East Germans closed the 110-mile lifeline linking the city with West Germany for 3½ hours Monday.

The Allies said their protests were strong ones, however.

Parliament Tie Seen

There was no explanation as to why no stronger efforts have been made, despite the fact that U.S., British and French military cars have been held up along with civilian traffic.

It may be that they are waiting to see if the new Communist squeeze will last beyond Wednesday, the day the West German Parliament convenes in West Berlin.

It is this session, the first in seven years, that has irritated the Reds and prompted the road they used to pretext that traffic would interfere with Communist military maneuvers.

The highway was blocked by barricades at 9 a.m. at the outskirts of Berlin and at Helmsdorf, the western end. The barricades were lifted at 1:35 p.m.

Monday, the blockade began half an hour earlier and lasted for more than three hours for civilian traffic and for nearly seven hours for all Allied military vehicles.

Same Excuse

Armed East German army officers told civilian travelers today they must turn back as the road was closed because of maneuvers, the same excuse as was used Monday.

While the traffic was at a standstill, Soviet and East German trucks carrying infantry, tank columns and heavy artillery units moved over the highway.

In the West German capital at Bonn, a government spokesman said Chancellor Ludwig Erhard will fly to Berlin at once instead of Wednesday morning to attend the one-day session of Parliament.

The three Western Allies in Berlin protested to the Russians in "strong terms" Monday night against the interference with autobahn traffic, a spokesman reported. The United States, Britain and France hold the Soviet Union responsible for free Western access to Berlin.

The barriers came down again at 8 a.m. at Babelsberg. (Continued on Page 14, Col. 6)

Zoning, Building Codes Only Control

Some residents of Sunset Park in the Town of Ulster might still be wondering how the million-dollar Sunset Garden Apartments got to be a reality when the Town's Planning Board hasn't to this day given its approval to the original developer's plans.

Especially in view of the fact that:

1. The first 80 units of the complex are now renting and occupied.
2. Ownership has been transferred from the original developer, Malvern H. Cunningham, to the Germano Brothers of Poughkeepsie.
3. The town is providing water to the development (although that's practically where ordinary town services end.)

However, the situation was not particularly a "mystery" to Cunningham, who from the outset apparently had no doubt as to his legal grounds.

Advice of Expert

Nor was it necessarily a mystery to some of the town officials who today will reaffirm their original opinion that the town very probably lacked jurisdiction over what was to be a condominium complex development—even as far back as a year ago when the plans were still on the drawing board.

In fact, town officials eventually got supporting confirmation of their opinion from a New York City lawyer, author and recognized expert in the field of land development—Arden H. Rathkopf. Hired by the board to investigate the proposed development plan, Rathkopf told town officials that there just wasn't much the town could do about the way things stand. He put it this way: "I can only repeat . . . reliance upon planning board rules and regulations to control development of the community is terribly misplaced. The only effective means of control is a zoning ordinance coupled with a building code, plumbing and electrical code."

The town neither had—or has—any of these.

It wasn't however, that it didn't try. For instance it tried zoning years ago, and since that time there is evidence that numerous town residents regard "zoning" as a nasty word.

Defeated Seven Years Ago

Two Former Army Buddies Charged With Espionage

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Two former U.S. Army buddies, in jail on opposite sides of the continent, face charges of involvement in an 11-year spy plot to sell defense secrets to the Soviet Union for $250 to $350 a month.

Sgt. Robert Lee Johnson, a Army courier, was arrested Monday while making his rounds in the Pentagon. James A. Mintkenbaugh, a silver-haired 46-year-old salesman, was arrested by FBI agents about the same time in Castro Valley, Calif., near his San Martin home.

Going to Grand Jury

San Francisco's U.S. attorney, Cecil Poole, said a federal grand jury will consider the case today in Richmond, Va.

Mintkenbaugh was held in Alameda County jail. Johnson, 43, was in an Alexandria, Va., jail awaiting a preliminary hearing April 15.

Neither man was able to make $20,000 bail bonds.

They are charged with espionage. The maximum penalty is death.

"It's news to me," Mintkenbaugh said when arraigned in Oakland, Calif. Neighbors described the quiet-mannered real estate salesman as "about the nicest guy you'd want to know."

Contacted Agents

The complaint said Johnson was working in the Army's intelligence section in February 1953 and contacted Soviet agents in Karlsruhe, East Berlin.

"He agreed to work for the Soviets and began photographing classified documents," the complaint said.

Before his transfer from Berlin in April 1954 Johnson allegedly recruited Mintkenbaugh.

The FBI said Johnson and Mintkenbaugh conspired to pass secrets to Vitaly Ourjournov, a former attaché at the Soviet Embassy in Paris. Ourjournov reportedly is now in the Soviet Union.

Had Team Arrangement
Johnson would photograph documents, the complaint said, and Mintkenbaugh would deliver them to agents in East or West Berlin. The complaint listed contacts named Paula, Viktor, Yuri and Nervous Nick.

Both men were discharged from the Army in 1956. The FBI said Johnson was told by his espionage bosses to re-enlist "for the specific purpose of pho-

Inspection For Fires Scheduled

Cornell Closing May Have Figured

Mayor John J. Schwenk was notified today that a team of inspectors from the New York Fire Insurance Rating organization—a non-profit service organization supported and operated by a majority of the companies who transact the business of writing fire and allied lines of insurance in the state—will inspect all properties in the city with the exception of private dwellings.

Purpose of the inspections, which are scheduled to start next Monday, April 12, is "in line with the rating organization's continuing effort to maintain up-to-date information in its rating file," according to the NYIRO letter, and upon completion of the inspection the information gathered by the inspectors is expected to be utilized by the organization on the "checking of rates applicable to individual properties."

Sort of Surprise

Apparently the organization's plans for the proposed inspection came as a surprise. The last such inspection for rating purposes was conducted by the National Underwriters in 1960.

However, there was some speculation that the announced closing of the Cornell Fire Station for the second time on last Thursday, on order of Fire Chief James M. Brett might have precipitated the inspection.

Personnel Problem

Chief Brett, in a prepared announcement, said that it was necessary to close the Cornell Station "until such time as the uniformed personnel receive compensatory time off in accordance with state law."

"This action," he said, "is necessitated by the failure of the city to provide necessary manpower to compensate for reduced working hours during the past four years."

The Cornell Station was closed last summer under order of Chief Brett because of what he described as personnel problems.

"In taking this drastic action again this year," he said, "I am fully cognizant of the increased hazard to buildings and citizens of the southern section of the city by being deprived of their first 'due-in' apparatus. However, after considering several plans, I can conceive of no practical alternative to the aforementioned."

By Jan. 1, 1967, the 48-hour week will become mandatory for firemen. The Kingston department now operates on a schedule requiring 56 hours of service. Brett had asked for 11 new firemen and two dispatchers five years ago and subsequently repeated his request.

Text of Letter

The New York Fire Insurance Rating Organization, in its letter to Mayor Schwenk, said in part: "The inspectors will visit and inspect all buildings containing mercantile and manufacturing occupancies as well as properties occupied by municipal departments, educational institutions,

King Denies Boycott To Hurt Program

BY DON McKEE

ATLANTA, Ga. (AP) — Dr. Martin Luther King Jr. predicted today that a planned boycott of Alabama will produce action toward removing racial inequities despite "a temporary bitterness and alienation of people."

King said in an interview that a three-stage economic withdrawal was necessary in order to bring hostility and discrimination into the open in Alabama and force the white citizens to deal with these factors.

Answers Criticism

Answering criticism from various sources, King said the boycott would not cause more harm than good to the civil rights cause.

"It will do just what critics think it won't," he said.

The boycott was announced last week after King met with the executive board of the Southern Christian Leadership Conference which he heads.

The economic withdrawal is part of an Alabama civil rights drive, centering on Negro voting, now in its 12th week.

King said he hoped the threat of the boycott alone would produce the desired results. But he said that before calling off the boycott, he would want commitments on voting rights and other issues from Gov. George C. Wallace and Alabama's political leadership.

The Negro minister, winner of the 1964 Nobel Peace Prize, also said some form of demonstrations would continue in Alabama until Congress acts on the new voter-rights bill.

Gives Answers

Here are questions and answers from the interview:

Q: Are you going through with the Alabama boycott?

A: Yes. Very definitely.

Q: It has been reported that the final plan is a softening of your original statement—a backing off of a massive withdrawal program. Is this true?

A: I wouldn't say it was a backing off. When I made the proposal it was in terms of a general boycott. If there's any softening it's only to give Alabama a chance for the decent people and moderates to rise up.

(Under the plan announced, the three stages of the boycott are: an appeal to industries to suspend expansion or building in Alabama; efforts to get private investors and federal agencies to withdraw deposits from Alabama banks; and finally a consumer boycott of selected Alabama products.)

Q: What is your response to statements that the boycott will hurt the Negroes of Alabama worse than anyone else?

A: The Negro has demonstrated over many years that he is willing to accept suffering, sacrifice and temporary hurt in order to relieve the larger and psychological hurt that he faces every day. Negroes are now hurting and suffering so severely that it couldn't be much worse. Unemployment among Negroes in Alabama is 40 percent more than among the whites. The average Negro income in Dallas County is about $800 a year.

Q: Roy Wilkins (executive secretary of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People) said a boycott is a two-edged sword. Will not the boycott tactic do more damage than good in terms of your own past statements that a minority cannot hope to gain real progress without reconciling some of the majority?

A: I don't think so. I had hoped that we could move through this Alabama struggle without engaging in what I call last-resort nonviolent action. On the other hand, with three murders (Continued on Page 10, Col. 4)

Battle Is Continued At Ca Mau

Major Targets Are Sought Out Now

BY JOHN T. WHEELER

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP) — More than 120 Communist Viet Cong were killed and six Americans were dead or missing today in one of the bloodiest engagements in the Mekong delta in months, U.S. officials said.

Initial reports indicated that South Vietnamese government forces suffered more than 60 casualties, including about 16 killed.

The confirmed American dead were a U.S. Army officer and a U.S. Navy officer. Their deaths brought to 323 the number of Americans killed in combat in South Viet Nam since December 1961.

Four U.S. Army helicopter crewmen were missing and believed dead. Their aircraft was hit by 50-caliber Viet Cong machine-gun fire and exploded in air.

The helicopter had been providing cover for a downed Vietnamese air force fighter-bomber.

A second U.S. Army helicopter was shot down while covering the same crash. Its four crewmen were rescued and were reported only slightly injured.

Battle of Peninsula

Heavy fighting was reported still in progress. The scene was the Ca Mau Peninsula, about 130 miles southwest of Saigon.

U.S. Air Force B57 jet bombers flew 16 strikes against Viet Cong in the area today.

Elsewhere in South Viet Nam, 32 American strikes were flown, making today one of the heaviest days of air operations in South Viet Nam to date.

Military sources said a Communist captain was among the Viet Cong killed in the Ca Mau fighting. Many of the enemy brought down by fire from a U.S. Army helicopter.

An American source said the Viet Cong casualty count was confirmed by American officers.

Under the heavy battering from land, water-borne and air units, the Viet Cong apparently were forced to make tactical withdrawals leaving their dead on the battlefield. Usually they try to carry off the bodies.

Capture Weapons

A heavy haul of Communist weapons was reported captured. The action began Sunday when 24 U.S. Army helicopters escorted by 13 armed choppers landed rangers and regular Vietnamese soldiers in several attack zones. They were met with immediate heavy fire, and a battle in the paddy fields reportedly has been raging ever since.

The U.S. Army officer, an adviser to a ranger battalion, was killed in the action Sunday. The American Navy officer was killed Monday when a Vietnamese gunboat hit a Viet Cong mine.

Newsman in Saigon tried to reach the battle scene but were informed by American authorities, "The weather is bad and we can't take you."

The Vietnamese Defense Ministry claimed 60 Viet Cong were killed in two battles in Binh Dinh Province, where the government is trying to roll back massive gains made by the Viet

Teacher Quits Due To Frivolous Seniors

WAYZATA, Minn. (AP) —

Douglas Sarff, a high school teacher for 10 years, says the students of this Minneapolis suburb are "self-centered, frivolous and lead a slick, empty life" and he is fed up.

Sarff, 30, an English teacher in 10th and 11th grades at Wayzata Senior High School, paid $140 for a full page in a weekly newspaper to air his opinions.

Then he announced he had written to his school board several weeks ago that he did not want his contract renewed.

Donald Freeburg, also an English teacher at the high school said "most teachers expressed disbelief" that Sarff had the letter printed, and added that "a teacher with a family and other responsibilities just couldn't do it."

Ronald Johnson, principal at Wayzata High School, would not comment on the letter. He said he thought Wayzata was little different from any other suburban school.

Sarff, a bachelor, said today, "I've saved up some money and after the current term ends in June I'm going to take my car, a tent and a few other things and travel into the Southwest and write a book. Not about the subject of this local tempest, or about suburbia, but a novel."

union meetings during working hours delayed the first press run of today's New York Daily News for about 2½ hours as a threat by printers to strike at any time continued to hang over seven major newspapers here.

Fresh dissension in the ranks of the newspaper unions broke out shortly after the work interruption at the news.

He threatened independent negotiations between five unions and the publishers.

SANTA MONICA, Calif. (AP) — "My Fair Lady," like the Cockney flower girl whose story it tells, made good — winning eight Oscars at the 37th annual Motion Picture Academy Awards.

The show won the best-picture honor and was filmed entirely in Hollywood. But in other respects Academy voters were generous to foreigners: the four top acting awards at Monday night's ceremonies went to Europeans — three of them British.

Among them was Rex Harrison, the rapid-fire, acid-tongued Professor Henry Higgins, who coached his flower girl Eliza Doolittle into such a fair lady she was mistaken for a princess.

Top actress award went to Julie Andrews — the Eliza Doolittle of the stage but not the screen — for her role as the high-flying nanny in "Mary Poppins."

Two long shots, Britain's Pe-

For Harrison, the honor was the highest in a distinguished

Tempelhof Is Buzzed By Soviet

Autobahn Closed By Reds 4½ Hours

BERLIN (AP) — The East German Communists closed the Berlin autobahn for 4½ hours today and a Soviet jet buzzed West Berlin's big Tempelhof Airport for the first time.

Protest Shutdown

The United States, Britain and France strongly protested the shutdown on the autobahn and a U.S. Air Force spokesman said the buzzing also would be protested.

There were no signs that U.S., British or French authorities were planning any strong measures. The East Germans closed the 110-mile lifeline linking the city with West Germany for 3½ hours Monday.

The Allies said their protests were strong ones, however.

Parliament Tie Seen

There was no explanation as to why no stronger efforts have been made, despite the fact that U.S., British and French military cars have been held up along with civilian traffic.

It may be that they are waiting to see if the new Communist squeeze will last beyond Wednesday, the day the West German Parliament convenes in West Berlin.

It is this session, the first in seven years, that has irritated the Reds and prompted the road they used the pretext that traffic would interfere with Communist military maneuvers.

The highway was blocked by barricades at 9 a.m. at the outskirts of Berlin and at Helmsdorf, the western end. The barricades were lifted at 1:35 p.m.

Monday, the blockade began half an hour earlier and lasted for more than three hours for civilian traffic and for nearly seven hours for all Allied military vehicles.

Same Excuse

Armed East German army officers told civilian travelers today they must turn back as the road was closed because of maneuvers, the same excuse as was used Monday.

While the traffic was at a standstill, Soviet and East German trucks carrying infantry, tank columns and heavy artillery units moved over the highway.

In the West German capital at Bonn, a government spokesman said Chancellor Ludwig Erhard will fly to Berlin at once instead of Wednesday morning to attend the one-day session of Parliament.

The three Western Allies in Berlin protested to the Russians in "strong terms" Monday night against the interference with autobahn traffic, a spokesman reported. The United States, Britain and France hold the Soviet Union responsible for free Western access to Berlin.

Zoning, Building Codes Only Control

Some residents of Sunset Park in the Town of Ulster might still be wondering how the million-dollar Sunset Garden Apartments got to be a reality when the Town's Planning Board hasn't to this day given its approval to the original developer's plans.

Especially in view of the fact that:

1. The first 80 units of the complex are now renting and occupied.
2. Ownership has been transferred from the original developer, Malvern H. Cunningham, to the Germano Brothers of Poughkeepsie.
3. The town is providing water to the development (although that's practically where ordinary town services end.)

However, the situation was not particularly a "mystery" to Cunningham, who from the outset apparently had no doubt as to his legal grounds.

Advice of Expert

Nor was it necessarily a mystery to some of the town officials who today will reaffirm their original opinion that the town very probably lacked jurisdiction over what was to be a condominium complex development—even as far back as a year ago when the plans were still on the drawing board.

In fact, town officials eventually got supporting confirmation of their opinion from a New York City lawyer, author and recognized expert in the field of land development—Arden H. Rathkopf. Hired by the board to investigate the proposed development plan, Rathkopf told town officials that there just wasn't much the town could do about the way things stand. He put it this way: "I can only repeat . . . reliance upon planning board rules and regulations to control development of the community is terribly misplaced. The only effective means of control is a zoning ordinance coupled with a building code, plumbing and electrical code."

The town neither had—or has—any of these.

It wasn't, however, that it didn't try. For instance it tried zoning years ago, and since that time there is evidence that numerous town residents regard "zoning" as a nasty word.

Defeated Seven Years Ago

It was given a try back in 1957 when it was rejected by town voters in a referendum as being "too severe and overly restrictive" in its provisions.

Lately, however, with much impetus being placed on town, village, city and even county planning, zoning has been regarded as something of a community "safety valve" designed not to stifle commercial or industrial development, but to find a means of adjusting them to a pattern in which they can work to the best advantage of all—including the homeowner.

Ulster has responded to the trend. In fact, there loomed even the possibility that a new zoning proposition might go before the voters again.

Supervisor Alexander J. Banyo told The Freeman that while he couldn't predict this as a soon-to-be realized fact, a zoning committee headed by Mrs. Reta H. Frederick has been meeting regularly over the past few months.

Mrs. Frederick, committee chairman, reaffirmed that the committee has put "endless hours" into a study on various zoning proposals, with emphasis on phases that are "less severe" and not "overly restrictive."

While viewing zoning as anything but a panacea for current growing pains in such fast-developing townships as Ulster, there are many who are willing to concede that "some protection" is needed to prevent "unwelcome elements in the neighborhood." Likewise, many realistic taxpayers realize that a modern development such as Sunset Gardens could find a rightful place in the community—after all it could mean additional real estate revenue for the town, possibly some tax relief for the property owner—and besides, who's against progressive development which can result in housing for the community's residents and possible profit at a proven risk for the land developer?

In Ulster—apparently quite a few.

Chronologically, it went something like this:

Cunningham notified the Town Planning Board last spring that he proposed to erect a condominium complex for some 100-150 families on approximately 15 acres of what was then vacant land located at Van Keuren Road Pine Place in Sunset Park.

He told the board that there would be a community sewage disposal system installed with service from the existing water line on Pine Place. On-site improvements, he said, would include roads, on-site parking, play areas, swimming pool, landscaping, lighting walks and curbs, all to be installed by the owners of the condominium.

Advices on Legislation

Cunningham also advised the board of legislation passed by the State Legislature at the 1964 session and signed into law by Governor Rockefeller pertaining to such condominiums in the state. He said that he had con-

Purpose of the inspections, which are scheduled to start next Monday, April 12, is "in line with the rating organization's continuing effort to maintain up-to-date information in its rating file," according to the NYIRO letter, and upon completion of the inspection the information gathered by the inspectors is expected to be utilized by the organization on the "checking of rates applicable to individual properties."

Sort of Surprise

Apparently the organization's plans for the proposed inspection came as a surprise. The last such inspection for rating purposes was conducted by the National Underwriters in 1960.

However, there was some speculation that the announced closing of the Cornell Fire Station for the second time on last Thursday, on order of Fire Chief James M. Brett might have precipitated the inspection.

Personnel Problem

Chief Brett, in a prepared announcement, said that it was necessary to close the Cornell Station "until such time as the uniformed personnel receive compensatory time off in accordance with state law."

"This action," he said, "is necessitated by the failure of the city to provide necessary manpower to compensate for reduced working hours during the past four years."

The Cornell Station was closed last summer under order of Chief Brett because of what he described as personnel problems.

"In taking this drastic action again this year," he said, "I am fully cognizant of the increased hazard to buildings and citizens of the southern section of the city by being deprived of their first 'due-in' apparatus. However, after considering several plans, I can conceive of no practical alternative to the aforementioned."

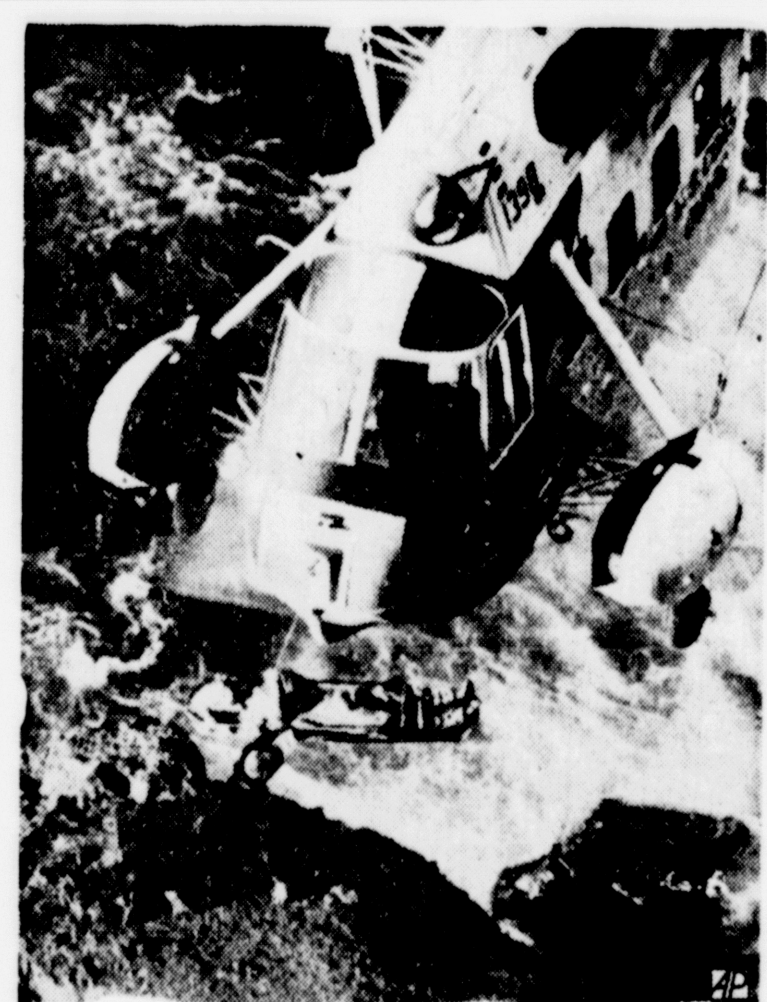

By Jan. 1, 1967, the 48-hour week will become mandatory for firemen. The Kingston department now operates on a schedule requiring 56 hours of service. Brett had asked for 11 new firemen and two dispatchers five years ago and subsequently repeated his request.

Text of Letter

The New York Fire Insurance Rating Organization, in its letter to Mayor Schwenk, said in part:

"The inspectors will visit and inspect all buildings containing mercantile and manufacturing occupancies as well as properties occupied by municipal departments, educational institutions,

King Denies Boycott To Hurt Program

BY DON MCKEE

ATLANTA, Ga. (AP) — Dr. Martin Luther King Jr. predicted today that a planned boycott of Alabama will produce action toward removing racial inequities despite "a temporary bitterness and alienation of people."

King said in an interview that a three-stage economic withdrawal was necessary in order to bring hostility and discrimination into the open in Alabama and force the white citizens to deal with these factors.

Answers Criticism

Answering criticism from various sources, King said the boycott would not cause more harm than good to the civil rights cause.

"It will do just what critics think it won't," he said.

The boycott was announced last week after King met with the executive board of the Southern Christian Leadership Conference which he heads. The economic withdrawal is part of an Alabama civil rights drive, centering on Negro voting, now in its 12th week.

King said he hoped the threat of the boycott alone would produce the desired results. But he said that before calling off the boycott, he would want commitments on voting rights and other issues from Gov. George C. Wallace and Alabama's political leadership.

The Negro minister, winner of the 1964 Nobel Peace Prize, also said some form of demonstrations would continue in Alabama until Congress acts on the new voter-rights bill.

Gives Answers

Here are questions and answers from the interview:

Q: Are you going through with the Alabama boycott?

A: Yes. Very definitely.

Q: It has been reported that the final plan is a softening of backing off of a massive withdrawal program. Is this true?

A: I wouldn't say it was a backing off. When I made the proposal it was in terms of a general boycott. If there's any softening it's only to give Alabama a chance for the decent people and moderates to rise up.

(Under the plan announced, the three stages of the boycott are: an appeal to industries to suspend expansion or building in Alabama; effort to get private investors and federal agencies to withdraw deposits from Alabama banks; and finally a consumer boycott of selected Alabama products.)

Q: What is your response to statements that the boycott will hurt the Negroes of Alabama worse than anyone else?

A: The Negro has demonstrated over many years that he is willing to accept suffering, sacrifice and temporary hurt in order to relieve the larger and psychological hurt that he faces every day. Negroes are now hurting and suffering so severely that it couldn't be much worse. Unemployment among Negroes in Alabama is 40 per cent more than among the whites. The average Negro income in Dallas County is about $800 a year.

Q: Roy Wilkins (executive secretary of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People) said a boycott is a two-edged sword. Will not the boycott tactic do more damage than good in terms of your own past statements that a minority cannot hope to gain real progress without reconciling some of the majority?

A: I don't think so. I had hoped that we could move through this Alabama struggle without enraging in what I call last-resort nonviolent action. On the other hand, with three mur-

Teacher Quits Due To Frivolous Seniors

WAYZATA, Minn. (AP) — Douglas Sarff, a high school teacher for 10 years, says the students of this Minneapolis suburb are "self-centered, frivolous and lead a slick, empty life" and he is fed up.

Sarff, 30, an English teacher in 10th and 11th grades at Wayzata Senior High School, paid $140 for a full page in a weekly newspaper to air his opinions.

Then he announced he had written to his school board several weeks ago that he did not want his contract renewed.

Donald Freeburg, also an English teacher at the high school said "most teachers expressed disbelief" that Sarff had the letter printed, and added that "a teacher with a family and other responsibilities just couldn't do it."

Ronald Johnson, principal at Wayzata High School, would not comment on the letter. He said he thought Wayzata was little different from any other suburban school.

Sarff, a bachelor, said today, "I've saved up some money and after the current term ends in June I'm going to take my car, a tent and a few other things and travel into the Southwest and write a book. Not about the subject of this local tempest, or about suburbia, but a novel."

The ad in the Minnetonka Herald complained about the high school administration and parents of the community of

Printers Delay News Run, Union Dissension Flares

NEW YORK (AP) — Printer union meetings during working hours delayed the first press run of today's New York Daily News for about 2½ hours as a threat by printers to strike at any time continued to hang over seven major newspapers here.

Fresh dissension in the ranks of the newspaper unions broke out shortly after the work interruption at the news.

James J. McMahon, president of the stereotypers, said a majority of the 17,000 persons employed in the industry do not want a strike at this time.

He threatened independent negotiations between five unions and the publishers.

F. M. Flynn, president and publisher of the News, called the printer meetings in the composing room a work stoppage in violation of contract.

Bertram A. Powers, president of Local 6 of the AFL-CIO International Typographical Union, called the composing room meetings to discuss the dispute

Prisons Picketed For Pay Raises, May Occur Again

ELMIRA, N.Y. (AP)—Orderly picketing was conducted at six New York State prisons and correctional institutions by off-duty correction officers—joined in one case by their families—seeking an increased salary grade.

And a spokesman indicated after the picketing Monday, that similar demonstrations may be held again if the increase is not provided.

The correction officers claim the New York State Civil Service Commission in 1962 authorized the higher grade, but that T. Norman Hurd, state budget director, has refused to include the new rate in the state's annual budget.

Picketing was reported at Elmira Reformatory, where 15 persons participated; at Auburn Prison, by five off-duty officers from Elmira Reformatory; at Green Haven Prison, by 70 persons, and at Eastern Correctional, Napanoch and New York Vocational, West Coxsack.

About 100 pickets—off-duty officers, wives and children—paraded at the entrances of Matfawawan State Hospital for the criminal insane at Beacon.

Ex-Marine Pleads Innocent to Slayings

NIAGARA FALLS, N.Y. (AP)—A former Marine, who said he had a sudden, unexplained urge to destroy, has pleaded innocent to second-degree murder in the knife-slaying of two sisters, whose bodies were found in an apartment.

Judge Nunzio Rizzo of city court accepted the plea Monday from 21-year-old Wayne Drinkwater of Niagara Falls. He ordered Drinkwater held without bail and adjourned the case until Friday.

Drinkwater was accused by police of stabbing and mutilating Amelia Maracle, 20, and her sister, Alva, 17, both of Niagara Falls, who he had invited to his apartment.

The sisters, who were Mohawk Indians born on the Six Nations Indian reservation in Canada, were to be buried today at Brantford, Ont.

Informal Agreement Reached on Elections

BUFFALO, N.Y. (AP)—An informal agreement on supervision of court-ordered committee elections has been reached by opposing factions in an Erie County Republican committee leadership dispute.

The agreement was announced Monday night after a three-hour meeting between Robert W. Grimm, incumbent county chairman whose re-election last June has been upset by a court ruling, and Thomas W. Ryan, who opposed Grimm last June.

Ryan will try to unseat Grimm Wednesday night in committee elections ordered by the State Court of Appeals, which overturned Grimm's election in a ruling March 18.

Ryan's supporters obtained a court order Saturday for Grimm's appearance in State Supreme Court to explain why the committee elections should not be supervised jointly by Grimm and Ryan forces.

The court action was dropped Monday after the informal agreement was reached.

Wagner Orders 1,200 Cops for Safer Subways

NEW YORK (AP)—An armed patrolman on every train during high-crime night hours is the new weapon in the city's drive to rid the subways of terror and attacks by muggers and hoodlums.

"The hoodlums and toughs who prey on innocent people are going to be taught a lesson—a lesson they need," Mayor Robert F. Wagner said Monday night in a televised speech announcing the emergency program.

The mayor ordered 1,200 men into the campaign. He said one or more policemen also would patrol each of the subway system's 480 stations between 8 p.m. and 4 a.m. He described these hours as the key "trouble period."

Negro Seeks Seat

RICHMOND, Va. (AP)—Clarence L. Townes Jr., 37, is the first Negro Republican to run for a seat in the Virginia House of Delegates in this century.

He said Monday that he will campaign "not as a Negro, but as a Virginian and an American." The insurance executive announced his candidacy, subject to local GOP nomination, which is expected. He has been a strong force on behalf of the Virginia Republican party among Negro voting organizations in Richmond.

To Treat Goldwater For Back Ailment

PHOENIX, Ariz. (AP)—Barry Goldwater, the 1964 Republican presidential candidate, was to enter the neurological clinic at St. Joseph's Hospital today for treatment of a chronic back ailment.

The condition, caused by an old injury, plagued the former senator throughout his campaign last year.

A neurosurgeon, who asked not to be identified, said the trouble is probably centered on a cervical (neck) disc in the spine.

The surgeon said the condition is no cause for concern and that Goldwater will be hospitalized for observation and possible therapy. He said no surgery is contemplated.

All-Night 'Teach-in'

BUFFALO, N.Y. (AP)—An all-night "teach-in" was staged Monday night by more than 1,200 students at the State University at Buffalo campus.

Students and faculty members alternated in discussing in open forum whether the United States should remain in South Vietnam.

About 50 students, who said they were upset with picketing, demonstrations, and "teach-ins," picketed the student union.

There were no disturbances reported.

Too Much Stuffing

SEZANA, Yugoslavia (AP)—Customs officials seized a stuffed chicken which a Yugoslav housewife wanted to take into Italy. The reason: Police said the stuffing was 300,000 dinars ($400). Yugoslavs are allowed to take only 1,500 dinars ($2) outside the country.

Nikita Still Plugging for Coexistence

COPENHAGEN (AP)—Nikita Khrushchev has broken six months of silence on political matters with a new demand for peaceful coexistence, a Scandinavian correspondent in Moscow reported today.

Lars Bringert of the Copenhagen Politiken and the Swedish Dagens Nyheter reported that he encountered the former Soviet premier and his wife at an art exhibit in Moscow Monday.

"I want peace for everyone and wealth for everyone," Bringert quoted Khrushchev as saying. "The politics of the peaceful coexistence one founded must continue."

By "one" Khrushchev obviously meant himself, Bringert said.

"The world must coexist," Khrushchev continued, shaking his forefinger in customary fashion. "No alternative can be found."

"Trying to solve controversial questions with weapons is a practice that must belong to the past or we will be thrown in disaster. It would begin in a small way like in Viet Nam and finish in destruction. That is why I want peace for the whole world."

With a smile, he told the newsmen.

"I am a Communist. I believe in communism and its final victory. You are a capitalist and of course you believe in capitalism. But all the same we must coexist in peace."

Bringert said Khrushchev obviously wanted to say more but his wife, Nina Petrovna, took his arm and said, "We must go," as more and more people gathered around them.

"Yes, we must go," Khrushchev replied. He shook hands with the correspondent and added, "Good luck."

Bringert said the former premier assured inquirers he was in good health. He said Khrushchev was tanned and looked very well.

G-U Sales Increase

EAST PATERSON, N. J. — Sales of The Grand Union Company for the four-week period ended March 27, 1965, totaled $56,541,314, it was announced today by the Eastern food chain. Covering the first four weeks of the company's 1965 fiscal year, this figure represents an increase of 8.5 per cent over sales of $52,115,674 in the comparable period of 1964.

Note Savings If Passenger Runs Cease

ELMIRA, N.Y. (AP)—The Erie-Lackawanna Railroad contends that if passenger service were dropped from two trains that run daily between Hoboken, N.J., and Chicago, it would realize an annual net savings of $128,987.

And there could be another $78,788 saved every year in cutting locomotive requirements by two diesel units if passenger service were discontinued on the trains, J.M. Moonshower, of Fairview Park, Ohio, the railroad general superintendent, testified Monday at an Interstate Commerce Commission hearing here.

The railroad has asked the commission for permission to discontinue passenger service on trains No. 7, westbound in the morning from Hoboken to Chicago, and No. 8, an afternoon train from Chicago to Hoboken.

Each train has one passenger coach, but no pullman or dining car. And each train stops daily in Elmira.

The hearing will shift to Jamestown Wednesday and Akron, Ohio, on Friday. A decision on the railroad's petition must be reached by the ICC by July 3.

White Eagle Ass'n Breakfast Slated After Communion

Plans have been completed for the annual communion breakfast of the White Eagle Benevolent Society of Kingston, N. Y. Inc., will hold on Palm Sunday, April 11, according to Walter Tylec, chairman.

District Attorney Joseph P. Torraca will be guest speaker. His topic will be Twentieth Century Prosecutors Views on the Illegal Trial of Christ.

Since the origin of the Society as the Sacred Heart of Jesus and Mary Sick and Aid Society on May 8, 1892, the communion breakfast has been the most important event of the year. Members and their sons will attend the 8 a. m. Mass at Immaculate Conception Church, Delaware Avenue.

JOSEPH P. TORRACA
Breakfast will be served immediately following the Mass at the new hall which was completed in 1961.

The guest speaker was a member of the staff of District Attorney Frank Hogan, New York City, for two years; law investigator for the City of New York for two years, and for three years he was a United States Naval Intelligence Agent. He served for eight years as assistant district attorney in Ulster County during the terms of former District Attorneys Howard C. St. John, Raymond J. Mino and David W. Corwin. He has had 15 years of legal experience in law enforcement and prosecution of crimes.

HISTORIC SPADE—William A. McBride, left, presented Postmaster Oscar V. Newkirk with spade used in breaking ground for present main Post Office Building on Broadway more than 60 years ago. McBride, whose father, Charles Luther McBride was secretary to Board of Trade when ground was broken Oct. 31, 1904, was given spade for his keeping after death of his father. Inscription on spade, which in turn was presented to local Post Office, contains date of groundbreaking and further reads: "This spade was used in breaking ground for the first building erected by U.S. Government in the 24th Congressional District, Presented by the Board of Trade, Kingston, New York." It Takes 174 Years

Supreme Court Finally Has Ruling on Rights of Accused

BY JAMES MARLOW
Associated Press News Analyst

WASHINGTON (AP) — The mills of justice grind so slowly it has taken the Supreme Court 174 years to say a man tried for crime in a state court has as much right to question his accuser as a man tried for crime in a federal court.

It finally reached that point Monday in the case of Bob Granville Pointer, convicted in Texas of robbing Kenneth W. Phillips of $375. By the time Pointer was brought to trial Phillips had moved to California.

Since he didn't show up at the trial, Pointer's lawyer couldn't cross-examine him. Instead, the state offered as evidence against Pointer a transcript of testimony given by Phillips at a preliminary hearing some time before.

In the appeal to the Supreme Court, Pointer's lawyer argued that, under the Constitution's Sixth Amendment guarantee of an accused man's right to confront his accuser, his client should have been able, but wasn't, to question Phillips.

The Supreme Court agreed. Its decision was a landmark. And what happened to Pointer in Texas can never happen again — at least in that way — in a state criminal trial.

Why So Long?

But why did it take the Supreme Court all these years to reach a decision which might seem obvious to anyone reading the Constitution? This is an explanation, along with two other cases to explain a delay of almost two centuries.

In 1791 the first 10 amendments to the Constitution — the Bill of Rights — were adopted because the states were afraid the federal government might in time encroach upon what they considered the rights of states and individuals.

Among other things these amendments guaranteed trial by jury, religious liberty, freedom of speech, of the press, and of the people to petition the government for redress of grievances.

Two of these amendments — the Fifth and Sixth — are particularly pertinent here. The Fifth said a man could not be compelled to testify against himself.

The Sixth said a person accused of crime not only had a right to be informed of the charge against him but to confront his accusers and to have a lawyer to defend him.

For much of its history the Supreme Court took the view that the Bill of Rights' guarantees applied only to what happened within federal jurisdiction and not to the states at all.

Change Sets In

In fact, more than 100 years ago it ruled that the bill's amendments applied only to federal jurisdiction. A change of view set in, but ever so slowly, after the adoption of the 14th Amendment in 1868.

This one, aimed at protecting the newly freed Negroes, said everyone must have equal protection of the laws and that no one could be deprived of life, liberty or property without due process of law.

Gradually in the years since the court decided, although with a slowness that seems unbelievable, that this 14th Amendment meant various provisions of the Bill of Rights did and must apply to states.

But as late as 1908 the court specifically held that the Fifth Amendment — which said a man can't be compelled to give testimony which might incriminate him — did not apply to state proceedings.

Direction of Decision

It was only last June that the court reversed itself on that. Justice William J. Brennan Jr., writing the 5-4 decision, said:

The 14th Amendment's guarantee of due process of law for everyone "secures against state invasion the same privilege that the Fifth Amendment guarantees against federal infringement — the right of a person to remain silent unless he chooses to speak in the unfettered exercise of his own will, and to suffer no penalty."

Back in 1942 the court took a step, an extremely timid one, in making the Sixth Amendment's guarantee — that a man accused of crime is entitled to a lawyer — apply to state courts but only if the accused faced the death penalty.

After 21 years the court was ready to go further, and did. In 1963 the court ruled that every state, as well as every federal court, must provide an attorney for a person charged with crime but too poor to hire a lawyer.

And in Monday's case of the Texas man whose lawyer wasn't able to question the accuser — because the accuser wasn't there — the court reversed previous decisions in saying a man accused of crime in a state court must be permitted to cross-examine his accuser.

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP) — The Public Service Commission today authorized the New York Central Railroad to discontinue passenger service between Utica and Lake Placid.

The commission said that continued use of the two daily trains on the Central's 142-mile Adirondack division would be "an inexcusable economic drain" and "a threat to the financial stability of the carrier."

The railroad will continue operating a freight train over the division one day a week.

ARE WE REALLY SICK?

To listen to some people tell it, America in mid-20th century is in a pretty bad way.

The stock in trade of so-called "sick" comedians is defiance of taboos and customs and stark exposure of Everyman, American-style, as prejudiced, hypocritical and neurotic.

In art, the avant-garde, which has always disdained popular taste, has mockingly elevated comic strip and advertising art to museum level. Novelists and playwrights find little in contemporary life that is not obscene and contemptible.

Some Peace Corps volunteers, we are now told, face a "re-entry" problem on returning home after their tours of duty in underdeveloped lands. They see American ways and American values as crass and shallow and commercialized. The feel like aliens in a society where everything, beneath the glittering chrome, is cheap and phony.

The cry is for "values" and "meaningfulness" and "causes," and anyone who does not howl and protest and reject is a pitiful conformist.

Like all extremisms, the modern philosophy of discontent serves a purpose if it reminds us of certain basic truths. But sick humor, for instance, is not necessarily a reflection of a pervading sickness in society, as some have characterized it.

It may rather reveal an underlying healthiness. A really sick society could not tolerate such merciless criticism of itself.

In cultural matters, there is more mass participation in and appreciation of art and music and literature than ever in history. Not everything outside exhibition halls and academic cloisters is entirely worthless; not everything inside is good.

And those few Peace Corps volunteers who find themselves estranged from the rest of us should remember that it was their country which gave them the opportunity to put their ideals into practice in the first place.

Individual freedom, the greatest ideal of all and from which all other values stem, is still a vital and enlarging force in America. The protesters themselves are the best evidence of that.

Ronald Reagan says he'd like to run for governor of California but thinks Governor Brown won't be "easy to defeat." Still, if the engaging grin he developed in years of movie acting works as well in politics, Reagan's got a good chance.

Carl Swanson rode his bull 1,325 miles to dramatize the virtues of beef. We prefer it from steers that spend their time in a feedlot instead of out hiking.

ACT OF TERROR

High explosive kills. It tears heads and limbs from bodies, it crushes, mangles.

When it doesn't kill, it blinds, deafens, maims—sometimes so terribly that the living consider the dead the lucky ones.

A single blast of high explosive before the U.S. embassy in Saigon killed 20 persons and wounded scores of others.

None of the victims was a combatant, unless police guards can be called combatants. Many were innocent passers-by in the street.

This was not an episode of battle but an act of sheer terror.

Outrage swept the world when it was revealed that the United States had used non-lethal—in other words, a life-preserving—gas a number of times to flush out Viet Cong guerrillas hiding among South Vietnamese villagers.

Aside from the immorality of it all, America had made a great blunder, it was claimed; Asians had been given one more proof that we consider them merely guinea pigs on which to experiment with horror weapons.

Ironically, 18 of the 20 killed in the embassy explosion were Vietnamese—killed by Vietnamese.

We still await a wave of international condemnation of this barbarous act by the

'These Days'

By JOHN CHAMBERLAIN

THE "FRONTS" ARE BLOOMING AGAIN

You've heard of "fronts." The period of the Nineteen Thirties was alive with their noise, their meetings, and their paid political advertisements. What distinguishes a "front" is that it is a judicious mixture of innocent people and others, not so innocent, who have roots in organizations that do not deem it good politics to make a pitch for their beliefs or desires under their own name.

In the Thirties there was something called the American League Against War and Fascism. It advocated that we fight Nazis tooth and claw. But when Stalin signed a pact with Hitler to carve up Poland, the League Against War and Fascism blossomed out overnight as the American League for Peace and Democracy.

And its new "line" was that we owed it to civilization to inform the Europeans that the Yanks weren't coming.

Well, it didn't take any particular gumshoe work to determine just who was calling the shots in the "front" called the League Against War and Fascism. The "front" technique was not used very much in the later days of Stalin, largely because Americans had become disillusioned with the Soviets in the early Cold War period. But the Khrushchev period got our hopes up—and as the "Spirit of Geneva" and the "Spirit of Camp David" took over, the "fronts" began to burgeon once more.

They are now in full cry. There is the Progressive Labor Movement, which doesn't have much to do with American labor because it is so busy making propaganda hay for whatever Mao Tse-tung and Fidel Castro think is progressive. There are the DuBois Clubs of America, which would like everyone to believe they are "unaffiliated," but which always seem to line up with any cause that favors the isolation of America in a world "neutrally" committed to the destruction of capitalism. There is the May 2 Committee, which is for peace provided it is the peace advocated by the Viet Cong in South Vietnam. There is the Youth Against War and Fascism, which never denounces war when it is practiced by "liberation" groups, and which would be affronted if you called Mao Tse-tung a Red Fascist. And there are lots of others, with old or new names, depending on the organizers' ideas about the need for better wool-pulling over naive eyes.

It was a "front" for a "front" that took a number of young Americans to Castro's Cuba a year ago. The "front" in back of the "front" was the Progressive Labor Movement; the "front" that was out in front was the Student Committee for Travel to Cuba. A young man who helped organize this bit of Chinese-egg double-fronting—his name is Philip Luce, and I understand he is under guard lest his former associates decide to bang him up a bit—has snilled the beans on the technique of double-fronting.

The "fronts" are now very busy trying to pressure Lyndon Johnson into "negotiating" a peace with the Viet Cong in Viet Nam by giving South-east Asia to "neutrals" who will wind up as "fronts" for the extension of Communism. Their advertisements are now appearing in big city newspapers. The who are skilled in following the burrowing of moles will note the judicious mixture of innocent and non-innocent names on petitions to the President to get out of Saigon before the peace-loving Viet Cong bombs us out. I counted nine names of veteran "fronters" of the Thirties attached to one of these letter-advertisements, mixed in with a lot of new names who are probably innocent of the whole technique of "fronting."

The "front" technique is more confusing now than it was in the Nineteen Thirties for the simple reason that Communism now has two heads, one in Moscow and one in Peking, plus a character who dwells in Havana on a swivel that moves swiftly through 180 degrees like the neck of an owl. But the fact that Communism now has a double focus does not prevent the Moscow and Peking "fronts" from becoming a "united front" on specific issues.

Confusing or not, "front"-spotting isn't so difficult. All you have to do is to note who calls for peace when you don't find many legions of "fronters" objecting to such gentle things as the bombing of American embassies, or the burning of U. S. libraries, or the murder and cannibalization of a few priests and nuns.

The Doctor's Mailbag

Take These Precautions

To Avoid Poisonous Fish

By WAYNE G. BRANDSTADT, M.D.,
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

Q—My family eats pompano, sea bass and snapper regularly. As a result on your article on poison fish we are worried. What precautions should we take? And what about tuna, bonito and skipjack?

A—I did not include pompano in the list of tropical and subtropical salt water fish that have been known to cause poisoning. In eating any fish it is wise to eat as little of the skin as possible. Whenever there is any reason to doubt the harmlessness of the fish you plan to eat, it will help to prepare thin filets, boil them in water and discard the water.

Tuna, bonito and skipjack are safe if canned or if frozen immediately after they are caught and not thawed until they are to be cooked. If fish of these three types have a sharp peppery taste they should not be eaten.

Q—I have a terrible itching under my arms in hot weather. What can I do for this?

A—Check with your doctor to determine whether or not you have a fungus infection in this region. If you have, he will prescribe something to remove it. If not, keep the region dry and clean by frequent shaving and the daily use of antiperspirant. These preparations will not help unless they are used daily.

Q—What is fornication and what causes it?
A—Fornication is the sensation of insects crawling on your skin when there are none there. It is derived from the Latin fornicia (ant). Some people have this sensation whenever they wear woollen underwear. Others have it especially in the winter when they wear undies. Q—What causes Landry's paralysis? What can be done for it?

A—Although the cause of Landry's paralysis is unknown, it often starts a week or two following an upper respiratory infection with fever. This disease is characterized by weakness that starts in the fingers or toes on both sides and works upward. Drugs of the cortisone group help some victims but not others. The chief danger is that the disease will extend to the respiratory center. If this happens an iron lung must be used. After the acute stage there is a gradual return of strength. There is no danger of recurrence.

WASHINGTON — (NEA) —

Bombing of the U. S. embassy in Saigon — two Americans killed, 54 wounded and acting Ambassador U. Alexis Johnson cut by flying glass — brings to mind a lunch with Johnson at his Saigon residence.

The garden of Johnson's home was quiet and orderly. The house seemed almost empty. The French built their colonial homes with simple, spacious, open lines. You'd think you were a thousand miles from any war. The service was tasteful, the conversation subdued.

The high ceiling fans moved slowly and noiselessly. There was hardly a sound as the two of us ate a light mixture of American-Vietnamese food.

But there were three strands of wire along the top of the wall around the house and garden. There was a soldier in a sentry box at the gate. We'd ridden out in an embassy car with a plainclothes bodyguard riding next to the driver.

As we ate we looked out the windows at the garden. From where we were seated the high-ceiling house seemed, in fact, to be all huge windows. A Viet Cong without much effort could easily throw a grenade over the garden wall with its wire and into the house. He could almost do it blind and stand a reasonably good chance of hitting a window, they were so numerous and so large.

RIDING BACK TO THE EMBASSY, I couldn't help asking "How dangerous is it? Do you worry?"

"I guess it's dangerous," Johnson said. "You see that little bridge just ahead? The Viet Cong know this is the way I come and go from home. The police found a bomb under that bridge a few days ago. The presumption is that it was scheduled to blow."

THE TERRORIST CAPTURED in this latest bombing claimed to be no Viet Cong. He said he'd joined the rumble for $150, not for principle.

When we were in Saigon, Viet Cong experts assured me some major terrorist acts in the city in the past had been by men hired by the Viet Cong.

"You can go into the Saigon shantytowns and find men who would do anything for a little money," said a man who had made it his business to live awhile in those slums.

The Viet Cong, it's understood, hires these outsiders because it is chary about the way it expends its professionals.

A year or so ago, one high-placed American suggested infiltrating the slums of Saigon with agents and self-help programs so there'd be government U. S. ears to the ground to spy out such terrorist attacks in advance. Apparently nothing came of this proposal.

History touched our very shores. In reading about an Old Kinderhook Mansion by Henry C. Van Schaack, as reprinted from the Magazine of American History Sept. 1878 I find many interesting items. One reads:

"The news of Burgoyne's surrender was brought to Kinderhook by Colonel Henry Van Rensselaer, on his way from Saratoga to his residence in Claverack, and its truth confirmed by the particulars given—that he had dined with the captive general in General Gates' marquee. When the rumor of this great event was mentioned to Peter Van Schaack, he remarked with emphasis: 'If this be true, I pronounce you an independent nation.'"

Not long after the passage of Burgoyne, Benedict Arnold was conveyed through Kinderhook on his way from Saratoga to Connecticut. One of the side posts of the doorway, in the house at which he stopped, was cut out to make room for the litter on which the wounded officer, then in the zenith of his reputation, was borne.

The author mentions other distinguished men whose presence graced that Kinderhook famous mansion, among them were John Jay, Alexander Hamilton, Philip Schuyler, Theodore Sedgwick and others.

Corruption in Political Campaigns at Voting Time

BY DAVID LAWRENCE

WASHINGTON — Will the "Great Society" be an honest society? Will an exposure of the corruption in politics which was witnessed in the 1964 Presidential and Congressional campaigns be undertaken by Congress? Will public sentiment demand it?

There is, for instance, a law on the statute books known as the Federal Corrupt Practices Act. But thus far it has been narrowly interpreted by the Supreme Court of the United States. Congress has made no effort to correct the omissions which are plainly indicated by the rulings of the high court.

The existing statute makes it unlawful "for any corporation whatever, or any labor organization to make a contribution or expenditure in connection with any election at which Presidential and Vice-Presidential electors or a Senator or Representative in, or a delegate or resident commissioner to Congress are to be voted for, or in connection with any primary election or political convention or caucus held, to select candidates for any of the foregoing offices, or for any candidate, political committee, or other person to accept or receive any contribution prohibited by this section."

The same law defines a "labor organization" as one "in which employees participate and which exists for the purpose, in whole or in part, of dealing with employers concerning grievances, labor disputes, wages, rates of pay, hours of employment, or conditions of work."

In order to get around this statute, separate organizations have been set up under the direction of officials of unions and others active in the labor-union movement. Because these organizations are not supported by the regular dues of union members but depend instead on "voluntary" contributions, they have come to be regarded as immune from the prohibitions set forth in existing Federal law.

The Supreme Court has discussed the subject in two important cases. One was decided in 1948 and dealt solely with a labor-union publication distributed among its own members or subscribed for by those members. The second case, which came up for decision in 1957, involved the propriety of a unions' expenditure in sponsoring a broadcast that went "to the public at large." Justice Frankfurter, in setting forth the opinion of the court, differentiated the 1957 case from its predecessor in 1948 as follows:

"The decision in that case (1948) rested on the court's reading of an indictment that charged defendants with having distributed only to union members or purchasers an issue of 'The CIO News,' a weekly newspaper owned and published by the CIO. That issue contained a statement by the CIO president urging all members of the CIO to vote for a certain candidate. Thus, unlike the union-sponsored political broadcast alleged in this case (1957), the communication for which the defendants were indicted in CIO was neither directed nor delivered to the public at large. The organization merely distributed its house organ to its own people."

"The evil at which Congress has struck in section 313 is the use of corporation or union funds to influence the public at large to vote for a particular candidate or a particular party."

Since these cases were decided, the labor unions have set up what they call "voluntary" organizations, which presumably have an entirely different personnel from the labor unions and derive no financial support from the regular union organizations or from dues collected by these organizations.

But there is no doubt that labor union officials, often participate in conferences with the separate or "voluntary" organization and that there are frequent consultations between the two groups relating to political activities in support of particular candidates for Federal offices.

The Federal Corrupt Practices Act describes a "contribution" as "anything of value." Hence, if a union or corporation as "anything of value" tary outside organization the part-time services of its executives while they are being paid for that time by the corporation or union, the donation of such services it open to question in the courts.

The fact remains that the political activities of labor groups involve the collection and expenditure of more money than is usually raised or spent by many of the local organizations of either the Republican or the Democratic party throughout the country.

So the real problem is whether the rights of the American people, who deserve to have fair elections, are being violated through loopholes in the law or by indifference to the enforcement of the law. Certainly when millions and millions of dollars are being spent to influence elections and when something which is prohibited directly is being done indirectly, this is an issue which is of vital concern to all the people who believe in "law and order" or what has lately been emphasized again and again as "strict enforcement of the law of the land."

ARE WE REALLY SICK?

To listen to some people tell it, America in mid-20th century is in a pretty bad way. The stock in trade of so-called "sick" comedians is defiance of taboos and customs and stark exposure of Everyman, American-style, as prejudiced, hypocritical and neurotic.

In art, the avant-garde, which has always disdained popular taste, has mockingly elevated comic strip and advertising art to museum level. Novelists and playwrights find little in contemporary life that is not obscene and contemptible.

Some Peace Corps volunteers, we are now told, face a "re-entry" problem on returning home after their tours of duty in underdeveloped lands. They see American ways and American values as crass and shallow and commercialized. The feel like aliens in a society where everything, beneath the glittering chrome, is cheap and phony.

The cry is for "values" and "meaningfulness" and "causes," and anyone who does not howl and protest and reject is a pitiful conformist.

Like all extremisms, the modern philosophy of discontent serves a purpose if it reminds us of certain basic truths. But sick humor, for instance, is not necessarily a reflection of a pervading sickness in society, as some have characterized it.

It may rather reveal an underlying healthiness. A really sick society could not tolerate such merciless criticism of itself.

In cultural matters, there is more mass participation in and appreciation of art and music and literature than ever in history. Not everything outside exhibition halls and academic cloisters is entirely worthless; not everything inside is good.

And those few Peace Corps volunteers who find themselves estranged from the rest of us should remember that it was their country which gave them the opportunity to put their ideals into practice in the first place.

Individual freedom, the greatest ideal of all and from which all other values stem, is still a vital and enlarging force in America. The protesters themselves are the best evidence of that.

Ronald Reagan says he'd like to run for governor of California but thinks Governor Brown won't be "easy to defeat." Still, if the engaging grin he developed in years of movie acting works as well in politics, Reagan's got a good chance.

ACT OF TERROR

High explosive kills. It tears heads and limbs from bodies, it crushes, mangles. When it doesn't kill, it blinds, deafens, maims—sometimes so terribly that the living consider the dead the lucky ones.

A single blast of high explosive before the U.S. embassy in Saigon killed 20 persons and wounded scores of others.

None of the victims was a combatant, unless police guards can be called combatants. Many were innocent passers-by in the street.

This was not an episode of battle but an act of sheer terror.

Outrage swept the world when it was revealed that the United States had used non-lethal—in other words, a life-preserving—gas a number of times to flush out Viet Cong guerrillas hiding among South Vietnamese villagers.

Aside from the immorality of it all, America had made a great blunder, it was claimed: Asians had been given one more proof that we consider them merely guinea pigs on which to experiment with horror weapons.

Ironically, 18 of the 20 killed in the embassy explosion were Vietnamese—killed by Vietnamese.

'These Days'

By JOHN CHAMBERLAIN

THE "FRONTS" ARE BLOOMING AGAIN

You've heard of "fronts." The period of the Nineteen Thirties was alive with their noise, their meetings, and their paid political advertisements. What distinguishes a "front" is that it is a judicious mixture of innocent people and others, not so innocent, who have roots in organizations that do not deem it good politics to make a pitch for their beliefs or desires under their own name.

In the Thirties there was something called the American League Against War and Fascism. It advocated that we fight Nazis tooth and claw. But when Stalin signed a pact with Hitler to carve up Poland, the League Against War and Fascism blossomed out overnight as the American League for Peace and Democracy.

And its new "line" was that we owed it to civilization to inform the Europeans that the Yanks weren't coming.

Well, it didn't take any particular gumshoe work to determine just who was calling the shots in the "front" called the League Against War and Fascism. The "front" technique was not used very much in the later days of Stalin, largely because Americans had become disillusioned with the Soviets in the early Cold War period. But the Khrushchev period got our hopes up—and as the "Spirit of Geneva" and the "Spirit of Camp David" took over, the "fronts" began to burgeon once more.

They are now in full cry. There is the Progressive Labor Movement, which doesn't have much to do with American labor because it is so busy making propaganda hay for whatever Mao Tse-tung and Fidel Castro think is progressive. There are the DuBois Clubs of America, which would like everyone to believe they are "unaffiliated," but which always seem to line up with any cause that favors the isolation of America in a world "neutrally" committed to the destruction of capitalism. There is the May 2 Committee, which is for peace provided it is the peace advocated by the Viet Cong in South Vietnam. There is the Youth Against War and Fascism, which never denounces war when it is practiced by "liberation" groups, and which would be affronted if you called Mao Tse-tung a Red Fascist. And there are lots of others, with old or new names, depending on their organizers' ideas about the need for better wool-pulling over naive eyes.

It was a "front" for a "front" that took a number of young Americans to Castro's Cuba a year ago. The "front" in back of the "front" was the Progressive Labor Movement; the "front" that was out in front was the Student Committee for Travel to Cuba. A young man who helped organize this bit of Chinese-egg double-fronting—his name is Philip Luce, and I understand he is under guard lest his former associates decide to hang him up a bit—has spilled the beans on the technique of double-fronting.

The "fronts" are now very busy trying to pressure Lyndon Johnson into "negotiating" a peace with the Viet Cong in Viet Nam by giving South-east Asia to "neutralists" who will wind up as "fronts" for the extension of Communism. Their advertisements are now appearing in his city newspapers. Those who are skilled in following the burrowing of moles will note the ingenious mixture of innocent and non-innocent names on petitions to the President to get out of Saigon before the peace-loving Viet Cong bombs us out. I counted nine names of veteran "fronts" of the Thirties attached to one of these letter-advertisements, mixed in with a lot of new names who are probably innocent of the whole technique of "fronting."

The "front" technique is more confusing now than it was in the Nineteen Thirties for the simple reason that Communism now has two heads, one in Moscow and one in Peking, plus a character who dwells in Havana on a swivel that moves swiftly through 180 degrees like the neck of an owl. But the fact that Communism now has a double focus does not prevent the Moscow and Peking "fronts" from becoming a "united front" on specific issues.

Confusing or not, "front" spotting isn't so difficult. All you have to do is to note who calls for peace when you won't find many inconvertible "fronters" objecting to such gentle things as the bombings of American embassies, or the burning of U. S. libraries, or the murder and cannibalization of a few priests and nuns.

Take These Precautions
To Avoid Poisonous Fish

By WAYNE G. BRANDSTADT, M.D.,
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

Q—My family eats pompano, sea bass and snapper regularly. As a result on your article on poison fish we are worried. What precautions should we take? And what about tuna, bonito and skipjack?

A—I did not include pompano in the list of tropical and subtropical salt water fish that have been known to cause poisoning. In eating any fish it is wise to eat as little of the skin as possible. Whenever there is any reason to doubt the harmlessness of the fish you plan to eat, it will help to prepare thin filets, boil them in water and discard the water.

Tuna, bonito and skipjack are safe if canned or if frozen immediately after they are caught and not thawed until they are to be cooked. If fish of these three types have a sharp peppery taste they should not be eaten.

Q—I have a terrible itching under my arms in hot weather. What can I do for this?

A—Check with your doctor to determine whether or not you have a fungus infection in this region. If you have, he will prescribe something to remove it. If not, keep the region dry and clean by frequent shaving and the daily use of antiperspirant. These preparations will not help unless they are used daily.

Q—What is fornication and what causes it?

A—Fornication is the sensation of insects crawling on your skin when there are none there. It is derived from the Latin fornicia (anti). Some people have this sensation whenever they wear woolen underwear. Others have it especially in the winter when they undress. The sensation is closely related to itching and is usually relieved by gently rubbing—not scratching—the area.

Q—What causes Landry's paralysis? What can be done for it?

A—Although the cause of Landry's paralysis is unknown, it often starts a week or two following an upper respiratory infection with fever. This disease is characterized by weakness that starts in the fingers or toes on both sides and works upward. Drugs of the corticosteroid group help some victims but not others. "But you can't go on thinking about these things all the time. You'd never get anything done. You have to put them out of your mind."

The embassy took precautions. Going there, you'd get out of your taxi in the middle of the street, pass through a "fence" of wire, then step into the embassy driveway where a U. S. Marine would check your credentials, phone upstairs to verify your appointment. None of this would prevent anyone from throwing a bomb or setting off one in the street or in a next door building. It could happen any time.

With all this, there was very little air of danger or excitement. Despite the known danger and your own recollection of past incidents, these precautions somehow seemed overly dramatic, so peaceful and quiet were the residential streets where Johnson lived and so normal the work within the embassy.

He studied law with Aaron Burr, was his second in the famous duel with Hamilton and the author of "Publio." William P. Van Ness was the son of Peter Van Ness. It seems this name appears in Washington Irving's writing according to this book.

Further this Old Kinderhook Van Schaack is linked with Henry Clay's visit to Kinderhook the year previous to his death. He dined in the same room in which the captive British General had been entertained three quarters of a century before."

They also mention a "well-authenticated" Burgoyne-Gates anecdote. On the surrender, "The English and German generals dined with the American commander in his tent, on boards laid across barrels. On this occasion, General Burgoyne proposed a toast to General Washington; an attention that Gates returned by drinking the health of the King of England."

So no matter how much blood is spilt in wars, and destruction, peace is made on paper with signatures, usually by friendly men. It all must be settled on paper in this so called civilized world.

With this famous mansion are also connected such names as Doctor Abram Clark, who died there in 1834. His father was a signer of the Declaration of Independence. The Beekman family, Mrs. A. J. Vanderpoel, Cornelius Van Schaack, (father of the mother of James I. Roosevelt), and Aaron J. Vanderpoel. All well known in the annals of American early history of this section and the country, according to this Sept. 1878 manuscript of the Magazine American History.

BY DAVID LAWRENCE

WASHINGTON — Will the "Great Society" be an honest society? Will an exposure of the corruption in politics which was witnessed in the 1964 Presidential and Congressional campaigns be undertaken by Congress? Will public sentiment demand it?

There is, for instance, a law on the statute books known as the Federal Corrupt Practices Act. But thus far it has been narrowly interpreted by the Supreme Court of the United States. Congress has made no effort to correct the omissions which are plainly indicated by the rulings of the high court.

The existing statute makes it unlawful "for any corporation whatever, or any labor organization to make a contribution or expenditure in connection with any election at which Presidential and Vice-Presidential electors or a Senator or Representative in, or a delegate or resident commissioner to Congress are to be voted for, or in connection with any primary election or political convention or caucus held, to select candidates for any of the foregoing offices, or for any candidate, political committee, or other person to accept or receive any contribution prohibited by this section."

The same law defines a "labor organization" as one "in which employees participate and which exists for the purpose, in whole or in part, of dealing with employers concerning grievances, labor disputes, wages, rates of pay, hours of employment, or conditions of work."

In order to get around this statute, separate organizations have been set up under the direction of officials of unions and others active in the labor-union movement. Because these organizations are not supported by the regular dues of union members but depend instead on "voluntary" contributions, they have come to be regarded as immune from the prohibitions set forth in existing Federal law.

The Supreme Court has discussed the subject in two important cases. One was decided in 1948 and dealt solely with a labor-union publication distributed among its own members or subscribed for by those members. The second case, which came up for decision in 1957, involved the propriety of a unions' expenditure in sponsoring a broadcast that went "to the public at large." Justice Frankfurter, in setting forth the opinion of the court, differentiated the 1957 case from its predecessor in 1948 as follows:

"The decision in that case (1948) rested on the court's reading of an indictment that charged defendants with having distributed only to union members or purchasers an issue of 'The CIO News,' a weekly newspaper owned and published by the CIO. That issue contained a statement by the CIO president urging all members of the CIO to vote for a certain candidate. Thus, unlike the union-sponsored political broadcast alleged in this case (1957), the communication for which the defendants were indicted in CIO was neither directed nor delivered to the public at large. The organization merely distributed its house organ to its own people."

"The evil at which Congress has struck in section 313 is the use of corporation or union funds to influence the public at large to vote for a particular candidate or a particular party."

Since these cases were decided, the labor unions have set up what they call "voluntary" organizations, which presumably have an entirely different personnel from the labor unions and derive no financial support from the regular union organizations or from dues collected by these organizations.

But there is no doubt that labor union officials often participate in conferences with the separate or "voluntary" organization and that there are frequent consultations between the two groups relating to political activities in support of particular candidates for Federal offices.

The Federal Corrupt Practices Act describes a "contribution" as "anything of value." Hence, if a union or corporation "any thing of value" "tary" outside organization the part-time services of its executives while they are being paid for that time by the corporation or union, the donation of such services it open to question in the courts.

The fact remains that the political activities of labor groups involve the collection and expenditure of more money than is usually raised or spent by many of the local organizations of either the Republican or the Democratic party throughout the country.

So the real problem is whether the rights of the American people, who deserve to have fair elections, are being violated through loopholes in the law or by indifference to the enforcement of the law. Certainly when millions and millions of dollars are being spent to influence elections and when something which is prohibited directly is being done indirectly, this is an issue which is of vital concern to all the people who believe in "law and order" or what has lately been emphasized again and again as "strict enforcement of the law of the land."

Graham Protests Singling Alabama As Whipping Boy

MONTREAT, N.C. (AP) — Evangelist Billy Graham says "it is wrong for people in other parts of the country to point an accusing, self-righteous finger at Alabama."

Graham made the statement Monday as he canceled several engagements in Great Britain to go to racially troubled Alabama for four speeches this month.

"To single out one state as a whipping boy often becomes just a diversion to direct attention from other areas where the problem is just as acute," he said.

The evangelist said he believes the only permanent solution to the racial problem is the "message of God's love in Jesus Christ and our obligation to love our neighbors as ourselves."

His Alabama schedule includes two public meetings in Dothan April 24-25, an address at the University of Alabama in Tuscaloosa April 26, and an address at Tuskegee Institute, a Negro college near Montgomery, April 27.

The invitations for the Dothan meetings were extended by both white and Negro churches.

'My Fair Lady' to do the screen version of "My Fair Lady."

She had costarred with Harrison on Broadway in the hit Lerner-Loewe musical, based on George Bernard Shaw's "Pygmalion."

But Warner Bros. chose Audrey Hepburn for the film role, in which she did not win a nomination.

Miss Hepburn, who flew here from Europe especially for the award ceremonies, presented the Oscar to Harrison. When she stepped onto the stage of the Santa Monica Civic Auditorium, she received an ovation.

Harrison kissed her and they embraced. "This is a very exciting evening for me," said the 56-year-old Englishman. "I feel, in a way, I should split it in half."

Extremely Happy

Miss Andrews ran happily down the aisle to accept her award from 1963's best actor, Sidney Poitier.

"I know you Americans are famous for your hospitality, but this is ridiculous," she said.

The 29-year-old veteran of English vaudeville shows and music halls thanked "Mary Poppins" producer Walt Disney, as well as Americans everywhere, "for making me so welcome in this country."

Ustinov became one of the two-time Academy winners for his portrayal as the head of a burglary ring in "Topkapi," a comedy dealing with a bizarre jewel theft. The portly, mustachioed Ustinov, 43, London-born of Russian parents, did not come from London to accept the award — the second he has won for supporting actor. He received an Oscar for his performance in "Spartacus" in 1960.

The Russian-born Miss Kedrova, now living in France, was making her first movie in English when she appeared in "Zorba the Greek" as the much-used woman of pleasure. She stopped on the way to the stage and kissed Anthony Quinn, star of "Zorba."

Bob Hope guided the evening as master of ceremonies. Noting the preponderance of nominations and awards for the English, Hope said:

"There'll always be an England — even if it's in Hollywood."

Steer Stomps Back

TUCSON (AP) — Rear Admiral William Blenheim tried to avoid a steer that wandered onto the highway, but his car struck it.

Worried about the steer's injuries, he jumped out to examine it. The steer jumped up, stamped on Blenheim's foot and ran into the desert.

Blenheim was left with a badly swollen foot and $400 damage to his new car.

ROBERT WASHBURN

Robert Washburn, a member of the Math Department at Oteora Central School has been notified by the Shell Companies Foundation that he is a recipient of the Shell Merit Fellowship.

The Fellowships will permit selected teachers and supervisors of these subjects to participate in a special six-week program. The grant will provide tuition and fees, living expenses, an allowance for travel, and an award of $500 as partial compensation for salary that might have been earned during the required summer period.

A special laboratory class will be held daily with the main theme being how to resolve problems that arise in high school teaching, especially those which cause difficulty in presentation and understanding.

In addition, an original research project is required. Washburn will be working on the curriculum for an experimental course in geometry.

Prior to this award, Washburn had received four National Science Foundation awards which allowed him to obtain his masters degree at Bowdoin College.

The Shell grants were made to 50 teachers out of 910 applicants from all over the United States. The program is held at Cornell University and will be in session from July 5 to August 13.

Mintkenbaugh, then living with parents in Campbell, Calif., was allegedly called to Berlin and ordered to act as a delivery man for Johnson in Los Angeles.

Johnson was stationed at a Nike missile base in Los Angeles. He was then transferred to the Missile Training School, Ft. Bliss, Tex.

In accusing Johnson of espionage, the complaint listed incidents as late as April 1964. The record on Mintkenbaugh ended in August 1962.

Warning Is Given On Intentional Setting of Fires

Fire Chief James M. Brett issued a warning today to persons responsible for the intentional setting of fires in the wake of several alarms which kept fire fighters busy late Monday afternoon.

He said that violators would be prosecuted to the fullest extent of the law and called upon persons having any information as to the identity of those setting fires to provide the department with that information.

Chief Brett's statement:

"During this critical dry period, any person apprehended starting grass or other fires will be prosecuted to the fullest extent possible."

Information Important

"The Kingston Fire Department would appreciate any information concerning the identity of the persons starting these fires. All information of this nature will be treated in strict confidence."

City firemen responded to the first alarm Monday at 2:33 p. m. in the rear of 286 East Chester Street. Engines 1 and 4 and Salvage responded under Capt. Harry Sills.

Rapid Hose was summoned at 2:49, with Union Hose and Cordis Hose called to stand by shortly after 3. Excelsior and Willywick Volunteers were also called to stand by at 3:19. All units returned to service by 5:58.

Capt. Sills said the fire was confined to a junked car, logs and brush in the area off East Chester Street. However, firemen were called to five separate calls subsequent to the East Chester alarm. They were to Tammany and Kingston streets, Liza Lane, First Avenue and another East Chester location.

Grease Catches Fire

Those fires were extinguished with booster lines, Indian tanks and brooms.

Engine 1 was summoned a short time later from the East Chester alarm to join Engine 2 and Truck from Central in another alarm at 3:29 in a three-story brick building on Hasbrouck Avenue near East Union.

The building is owned by George Chelsea and occupied on the first floor by George DuBois; second floor by Fred Zuddly, and third floor by Fred Taylor.

Fire officials said that the fire was caused by grease in an overheated frying pan on the second floor. They said the fire was out on arrival of firemen, but vent fans were used to force smoke from the building.

In the final alarm, firemen used pressurized water and Indian tanks to extinguish a grass fire which broke out about 6:30 near 140 First Avenue. Deputy Chief Robert Hardwick was in charge.

Scratched Wall?

Scratched your wood paneling? It can happen, but don't despair. Just use a dab of furniture polish stain applied with a bit of soft rag. Choose the blond polish for light colored woods like hemlock and pine, the dark polish for western red cedar. Rub the polish stain in, then immediately wipe off. Repeat until color is matched.

Dear Abby . . .

Nay, Nay, Nay!

Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: I am a 21-year-old working girl who is in love with Gary, a junior in college. We have known each other for four years, and have been dating regularly for two years. Before Gary went away to college he was just like any other guy, but what college has done to him is terrible. It seems that every time I go out with him he tries to get me to go all the way. I keep telling him no, but I don't see how I can hold out much longer. I love him and he loves me. I don't want to date anyone else. All I want is for Gary to respect me. Please tell me how to keep him without giving in. If you use my letter in your column, please don't use his real name.

GARY'S GIRL

DEAR GIRL: If it's respect you want, keep right on saying no. Only louder! "Giving in" would provide Gary with the best reason in the world to drop you. If he is the man for you, there will be plenty of time for such intimacies after you are married, without the guilt, fear and shame that accompany pre-marital relations. And if he is not the man for you, you'll be glad you held out.

DEAR ABBY: Maybe I should listen to my husband and mind my own business but something inside me won't permit it. Here's the story: We bought this house last November and are making payments on it. The woman next door must be crazy. She beats her kids so bad I just can't stand to hear them cry and whimper. We don't speak as she cussed me out the day we moved in and I stay clear of her. I can hear her screaming at those kids and knocking their heads against the walls and floors until it's about to drive me out of my mind. The neighbor on the other side of her says she hears it, too. The kids are never outside and don't go to school yet, so if they have bruises nobody sees them.

I have kids of my own and I know how mad kids can make you, but I hope I drop dead if I ever hit mine like she hits hers. I saw the people we bought our home from and they said that's the reason they moved. (NOW they tell us!) Is this my business or isn't it? Tell me what to do, but don't use my name or city. ROPE'S END

DEAR ROPE'S: Call your sheriff's office, or police station and find out how to get in touch with the Children's Protective Association in your county. When defenseless children are abused, it's everybody's business. The mother sounds sick.

DEAR ABBY: The letter from the boy who was born with part of his arm missing, and his problem of how to answer curious people who wanted to know why, has prompted me to write to you.

I have two boys, ages 5 and 2, and they were both born with cleft palates, so I think I can speak with experience on this subject. I am constantly asked, "What is wrong with the boys?"

My answer is simple. "God made them that way."

I quote from JOHN CHAPTER 9, VERSES 1 through 3:

"And as Jesus passed by he saw a man blind from birth. And his disciples asked him, 'Who did sin? This man or his parents?' And Jesus answered, 'Neither hath this man sinned, nor did his parents sin, but that the works of God might be made manifest in him.'"

These words have truly answered my prayers, Abby. I feel honored that God chose me to be the mother of these boys. I proudly sign my name, and you may use it.

Stiff Tax on Gains

LONDON (AP) — The Labor government slapped a stiff tax on capital gains and corporation profits and outlawed most tax-free expense account spending today in its budget for 1965-66.

Also effective today, as previously announced by Chancellor of the Exchequer James Callaghan, the basic British income tax rises from 38.75 per cent to 41.25 per cent.

Outlining his budget to the House of Commons, Callaghan said he planned to raise a total of $700 million a year in new taxes and was determined to cut the outflow of British capital abroad by $280 million a year.

In 1964, he pointed out, Britain's balance of payments deficit reached a staggering $2.086 billion, including a net capital outflow of $1,038,800,000.

Canada is the world's second largest country, exceeded only by Soviet Russia.

Cross a Wildcat engine with a Buick Special, and what do you get?

A car with 9 lives and a very businesslike purr.

Why nine lives? You'll find that we build Buicks to last. That's one of the nice advantages Special has in store for you. As to that purr: you'll find it exciting to have a 210-hp. pet around the garage. Just say "scat," exert a slight pressure with the right foot, and it departs with stunning rapidity. If you're wondering how much one feeds a Special with a hood full of Wildcat V-8, remember that it won its class in the Mobil Economy Run last year. (Specials are friendly, as a rule, but they just don't seem to like gas pumps.) We won't tell you about the Special's lean good looks, its velvet ride, its docile handling, its pampering luxury. Take that up with your Buick dealer. (Also, ask him about an even wilder species we've developed: the Special with a 250-hp. Wildcat engine. And a little more grrrr in its purr.)

Chamber Favors Delay in School Bond Issue Vote

Some thirty members of the New Paltz Chamber of Commerce recently met to discuss the proposed New Paltz Central High School and their consensus of opinion was that the Board of Education should postpone the vote on the bond issue for the school to allow sufficient time to explore the possibility of other sites closer to the village of New Paltz.

This action was taken by the Chamber members at their regular meeting recently, and they instructed their representative to the Independent Citizens Committee on Education, William Jansen, to bring this proposal before the ICCE.

Other action taken by the Chamber members included the decision to poll the organization's entire membership by mail ballot to determine if the Chamber would go on record for or against the state-wide sales tax which has been proposed by Governor Rockefeller.

Chamber members spent considerable time discussing the content of a brochure which is being prepared by the Area Relations Committee under the chairmanship of Dominick Stregola. They decided to prepare a small brochure by June 1 listing various resort hotels, restaurants, and other vacation facilities in this area, to answer numerous inquiries from tourists and then to proceed to compile a more general brochure which would promote the New Paltz area.

Among other topics discussed were the Master Plan for the Village and Town of New Paltz, urban renewal possibilities, and traffic problems in the village. A communication was read from Dr. William J. Haggerty, president of the State University College at New Paltz in which he named Robert McDowell, college business manager, as the official college representative to the New Paltz Chamber of Commerce.

Chamber president, S. Parks Glenn, announced that the next regular meeting is scheduled for April 22 in the Town Hall at 8 p. m. He said that the guest speaker will be a representative of the New York Small Business Association.

Opens Local Office

William Morris, who was formerly with the Augustine Insurance Agency has announced the opening of the William R. Morris Insurance Agency located at 5 South Chestnut Street.

Morris spent the past two and a half years at 68 Main Street as an agent and prior to that, seven years as a claims adjuster with the National Grange Insurance Company.

Morris is well known in the scouting circles for the past 10 years having been scout master of Troop 77 and presently Explorer Advisor of Post 77. He is also the treasurer of the Salvation Army for the New Paltz and surrounding area.

He was born in New Jersey and upon graduation from high school in Newark, attended the New York State University at Cobleskill where he majored in Animal Husbandry and furthered his studies at Cornell University. He resides with his father and brother at 38 Church Street.

Tour Stock Market

Students of the business classes of the New Paltz Central High School went on a trip to New York City recently.

The morning schedule included a brief stop at Federal Hall and a visit to the New York Stock Exchange. Here representatives by means of visual aids explained principals of buying and selling stock and bonds. Then the group went to the gallery from where the stock market in operation could be viewed.

The visit to the exchange was followed in the afternoon by a call on a nearby broker's office where the details of initiating buy or sell orders and transmitting them to the Big Exchange were explained.

A ride on the Staten Island ferry completed the day on lower Manhattan.

Lions Plan Dinner

The New Paltz Lions Club has announced it will hold a Father and Son Dinner on Wednesday evening, April 7 at Ireland Corners Hotel.

Guest speaker for the evening will be Dr. Heinz Meng of the State University College of New Paltz who will present a film on falconry and also exhibit some of his live birds.

All Lions Club members and guests are welcome.

Defer Board Session

The New Paltz Village Planning Board has postponed their April 8 meeting to April 15. The meeting will be held in the trustee's room of the Municipal Building at 8 p. m.

Chairman of the Village Planning Board is Barney White. Other members include William Heidgerd, Henry Hornbeck, John Taylor. The vacancy created by the resignation of Harry Pope some time ago has not been filled. Mrs. John Weaver is secretary of the Board.

Library Drive Is Now Underway

NEW PALTZ—This week the annual membership drive of the Elting Memorial Library of New Paltz begins. Letters asking support have been sent out to all members, past contributors and friends of the library. This year's goal is $2,000.

The Elting Library continues to grow each year. Circulation of books during 1964 exceeded any previous year. The library has a program to purchase as many books as operating funds permit. In addition, the Elting Library borrows books from Mid-Hudson Libraries to increase the selection of books available. Special request for books not readily available locally are obtained through them. Another program of significance is the expansion of the local history collection which is being undertaken by William Heidgerd, a past president of the library.

In order to operate the library, maintain the building, compensate the personnel, and provide better reading to the community it is necessary to supplement other types of income with a successful drive. The trustees of the library are grateful for past generosity and hope everyone in the community will contribute as thoughtfully this year to meet the goal. Contributions may be forwarded to the Elting Memorial Library.

Reformed Church

The junior high youth fellowship of the Reformed Church will have a program entitled Let's Go to Camp at the next meeting Wednesday 7 p. m. in the youth lounge. Laura Buchanan will tell the junior hi's about her impressions of youth conferences at Warwick Estates and Douglas Martin will tell about one he attended at Camp Hope, Hope, N. J. last summer. Mr. and Mrs. Donald Martin are advisors to the junior hi group.

The Scourge of Narcotics is the topic for a meeting April 13 at 8 p. m. in the Fellowship Hall of the New Paltz Reformed Church Education Building. There will be a talk, film and display.

This program is under the auspices of the Guild for Christian Service but will be open to all members of the New Paltz community. It is hoped that many will attend as the topic is one of concern to all citizens.

Methodist Activities

Monday, the commission on education will meet at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Donald Roper, 26 Duzine Road, at 8 p. m. Tuesday 6 a. m. men's study class meets at the College Inn Restaurant to study Paul's Letter to the Ephesians; 3:40 p. m. the Confirmation class meets in the social hall.

Wednesday 7 p. m. Explorer Post 77 meets in the Fellowship Hall; 8 p. m. Lenten study class on the book of Genesis will meet in the social hall. Thursday 7:30 p. m. the second session of the pastor's membership training class will meet in the parsonage. All those interested in joining the church may attend. At 7:30 p. m. Boy Scout Troop 77 will meet in the Fellowship Hall; 7:30 p. m. senior choir will rehearse in the choir room. Saturday the Junior MYF will meet at 10 a. m. to work on plans for the Easter dawn service.

Palm Sunday services of Worship will be 8:30 and 11 a. m. The senior choir will present the cantata, Olivet to Calvary by J. H. Maunders at 7:30 p. m. in the sanctuary of the church. All members of the community may attend this sacred performance.

Ambulance Plan Is Under Study By Firefighters

The New Paltz Fire Department has appointed a committee to study the ambulance service in the New Paltz area, and to make recommendations to the department on how the service should be handled in the future. The town of New Paltz has grown so rapidly in population that the demand for ambulance service has greatly increased.

Drivers of the ambulance have always been members of the fire department. Recently, it has been difficult to obtain volunteer drivers during the daytime because most of the members of the department work.

On occasion through the years the fire department has held a special drive to raise money for the ambulance service when needed through contributions from town and village residents. With contributions in 1959 a new ambulance was purchased.

The committee appointed to study the ambulance service is scheduled to make a report at the fire department meeting on Monday, April 5.

Cancer Crusade Workers Listed

Wife His Secretary For $4,000 a Year

ALBANY, N. Y. (AP)—Assembly Clerk John T. McKennan acknowledges that his wife holds a $4,000-a-year post as his secretary.

But, the former Democratic mayor of Utica told a reporter Monday that he saw nothing unusual in employing his wife, Marguerite, and added, "She left a $7,000-a-year teaching position to come to work with me."

McKennan, elected by Democrats in February to succeed Ansley Borkowski of Buffalo, a Republican, receives $15,000 a year in his part-time post.

Students Protest Cut In Education Budget

CORTLAND, N. Y. (AP)—State University students at Cortland marched from their campus to the county courthouse Monday night to protest proposed cuts in the State University budget.

Democratic legislators have proposed a $7-million reduction in the $42 million in new funds that Gov. Rockefeller has asked for the university system.

About 2,000 students participated in the Cortland demonstration. Earlier Monday, 900 Albany State students marched to the State Capitol to protest the budget slash.

Chamber Favors Delay in School Bond Issue Vote

Some thirty members of the New Paltz Chamber of Commerce recently met to discuss the proposed New Paltz Central High School and their consensus of opinion was that the Board of Education should postpone the vote on the bond issue for the school to allow sufficient time to explore the possibility of other sites closer to the village of New Paltz.

This action was taken by the Chamber members at their regular meeting recently, and they instructed their representative to the Independent Citizens Committee on Education, William Jansen, to bring this proposal before the ICCE.

Other action taken by the Chamber members included the decision to poll the organization's entire membership by mail ballot to determine if the Chamber would go on record for or against the state-wide sales tax which has been proposed by Governor Rockefeller.

Chamber members spent considerable time discussing the content of a brochure which is being prepared by the Area Relations Committee under the chairmanship of Dominick Sfraga. They decided to prepare a small brochure by June 1 listing various resort hotels, restaurants, and other vacation facilities in this area, to answer numerous inquiries from tourists and then to proceed to compile a more general brochure which would promote the New Paltz area.

Among other topics discussed were the Master Plan for the Village and Town of New Paltz, urban renewal possibilities, and traffic problems in the village. A communication was read from Dr. William J. Haggerty, president of the State University College at New Paltz in which he named Robert McDowell, college business manager, as the official college representative to the New Paltz Chamber of Commerce.

Chamber president, S. Parks Glenn, announced that the next regular meeting is scheduled for April 22 in the Town Hall at 8 p. m. He said that the guest speaker will be a representative of the New York Small Business Association.

Opens Local Office

William Morris, who was formerly with the Augustine Insurance Agency has announced the opening of the William R. Morris Insurance Agency located at 5 South Chestnut Street.

Morris spent the past two and a half years at 68 Main Street as an agent and prior to that, seven years as a claims adjuster with the National Grange Insurance Company.

Morris is well known in the scouting circles for the past 10 years having been scout master of Troop 77 and presently Explorer Advisor of Post 77. He is also the treasurer of the Salvation Army for the New Paltz and surrounding area.

He was born in New Jersey and upon graduation from high school in Newark, attended the New York State University at Cobleskill where he majored in Animal Husbandry and furthered his studies at Cornell University. He resides with his father and brother at 58 Church Street.

Tour Stock Market

Students of the business classes of the New Paltz Central High School went on a trip to New York City recently.

The morning schedule included a brief stop at Federal Hall and a visit to the New York Stock Exchange. Here representatives by means of visual aids explained principals of buying and selling stock and bonds. Then the group went to the gallery from where the stock market in operation could be viewed.

The visit to the exchange was followed in the afternoon by a call on a nearby broker's office where the details of initiating buy or sell orders and transmitting them to the Big Exchange were explained.

A ride on the Staten Island ferry completed the day on lower Manhattan.

Lions Plan Dinner

The New Paltz Lions Club has announced it will hold a Father and Son Dinner on Wednesday evening, April 7 at Ireland Corners Hotel.

Guest speaker for the evening will be Dr. Heinz Meng of the State University College of New Paltz who will present a film on falconry and also exhibit some of his live birds.

All Lions Club members and guests are welcome.

Defer Board Session

The New Paltz Village Planning Board has postponed their April 8 meeting to April 15. The meeting will be held in the trustee's room of the Municipal Building at 8 p. m.

Chairman of the Village Planning Board is Barney White. Other members include William Heidgerd, Henry Hornbeck, John Taylor. The vacancy created by the resignation of Harry Pope some time ago has not been filled. Mrs. John Weaver is secretary of the Board.

Library Drive Is Now Underway

NEW PALTZ—This week the annual membership drive of the Elting Memorial Library of New Paltz begins. Letters asking support have been sent out to all members, past contributors and friends of the library. This year's goal is $2,000.

The Elting Library continues to grow each year. Circulation of books during 1964 exceeded any previous year. The library has a program to purchase as many books as operating funds permit. In addition, the Elting Library borrows books from Mid-Hudson Libraries to increase the selection of books available. Special request for books not readily available locally are obtained through them. Another program of significance is the expansion of the local history collection which is being undertaken by William Heidgerd, a past president of the library.

In order to operate the library, maintain the building, compensate the personnel, and provide better reading to the community it is necessary to supplement other types of income with a successful drive. The trustees of the library are grateful for past generosity and hope everyone in the community will contribute as thoughtfully this year to meet the goal. Contributions may be forwarded to the Elting Memorial Library.

Reformed Church

The junior high youth fellowship of the Reformed Church will have a program entitled Let's Go to Camp at the next meeting Wednesday 7 p. m. in the youth lounge. Laura Buchanan will tell the junior hi's about her impressions of youth conferences at Warwick Estates and Douglas Martin will tell about one he attended at Camp Hope, Hope, N. J., last summer. Mr. and Mrs. Donald Martin are advisors to the junior hi group.

The Scourge of Narcotics is the topic for a meeting April 13 at 8 p. m. in the Fellowship Hall of the New Paltz Reformed Church Education Building. There will be a talk, film and display.

This program is under the auspices of the Guild for Christian Service but will be open to all members of the New Paltz community. It is hoped that many will attend as the topic is one of concern to all citizens.

Methodist Activities

Monday, the commission on education will meet at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Donald Roper, 26 Duzine Road, at 8 p. m. Tuesday 6 a. m. men's study class meets at the College Inn Restaurant to study Paul's Letter to the Ephesians; 3:40 p. m. the Confirmation class meets in the social hall.

Wednesday 7 p. m. Explorer Post 77 meets in the Fellowship Hall; 8 p. m. Lenten study class on the book of Genesis will meet in the social hall. Thursday 7:30 p. m. the second session of the pastor's membership training class will meet in the parsonage. All those interested in joining the church may attend. At 7:30 p. m. Boy Scout Troop 77 will meet in the Fellowship Hall; 7:30 p. m. senior choir will rehearse in the choir room. Saturday the Junior MYF will meet at 10 a. m. to work on plans for the Easter dawn service.

Palm Sunday services of Worship will be 8:30 and 11 a. m. The senior choir will present the cantata, Olivet to Calvary by J. H. Maunder at 7:30 p. m. in the sanctuary of the church. All members of the community may attend this sacred performance.

Ambulance Plan Is Under Study By Firefighters

The New Paltz Fire Department has appointed a committee to study the ambulance service in the New Paltz area, and to make recommendations to the department on how the service should be handled in the future. The town of New Paltz has grown so rapidly in population that the demand for ambulance service has greatly increased.

Drivers of the ambulance have always been members of the fire department. Recently, it has been difficult to obtain volunteer drivers during the daytime because most of the members of the department work.

On occasion through the years the fire department has held a special drive to raise money for the ambulance service when needed through contributions from town and village residents. With contributions in 1959 a new ambulance was purchased.

The committee appointed to study the ambulance service is scheduled to make a report at the fire department meeting on Monday, April 5.

Cancer Crusade Workers Listed

April 1st marked the official opening of the American Cancer Society Crusade for 1965.

A door to door canvas will be conducted during the month of April to solicit contributions and distribute valuable information regarding cancer.

Mrs. William George and Mrs. Bert Rhinehart are co-chairmen for the Town of New Paltz. Captains are Mrs. Robert Corey, Mrs. Gilbert Clough, Mrs. William Cuthbert, Mrs. Matthew Fairweather, Mrs. Kurt Hass, Mrs. Richard Hasbrouck, Mrs. William Hurley, Mrs. Alfred Jensen, Mrs. Richard Jones, Mrs. Allen Lawton, Mrs. Richard Lent, Mrs. John Logan, Mrs. Smith Ruger, Mrs. Peter Savago, Mrs. Frank Spies, and Mrs. Malcolm Taylor.

Community Notes

Mrs. Jerome DePuy of the Mountain Rest Road, had as dinner guests Tuesday, Mrs. Charles Palen and Mrs. John Beaver of Esopus, and Mrs. Cecil DePuy of Cherry Hill road.

The annual meeting of the New Paltz Study Club will be held at the home of Mrs. Morris Kirk on the Old Ford Road at 2 p. m. April 6. Mrs. Herbert Uriel will give some dramatic readings.

Mr. and Mrs. Henry Hain are the parents of a daughter, Maryann Elizabeth, born March 19.

Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Benenati and children Paul, Michael and Barbara were recent guests of Mr. Benenati's parents at Warwick.

Leaves for Base

Captain Earl Place of the U.S. Air Force visited his mother, Mrs. Clarence Place of 207 Main Street last week upon his return from being stationed three years in France.

Captain Place with his wife and son, Jeffery and daughter, Allyson, have left for Richards-Gebaur Air Force Base near Kansas City, Missouri, where he will be stationed.

Captain is a graduate of the New Paltz Central School.

Wife His Secretary For $4,000 a Year

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP)—Assembly Clerk John T. McKennan acknowledges that his wife holds a $4,000-a-year post as his secretary.

But, the former Democratic mayor of Utica told a reporter Monday that he saw nothing unusual in employing his wife, Marguerite, and added, "She left a $7,000-a-year teaching position to come to work with me."

McKennan, elected by Democrats in February to succeed Ansley Borkowski of Buffalo, a Republican, receives $15,000 a year in his part-time post.

Legislative rules do not prohibit a lawmaker or legislative officer from employing a member of his family on his staff.

Students Protest Cut In Education Budget

CORTLAND, N.Y. (AP)—State University students at Cortland marched from their campus to the county courthouse Monday night to protest proposed cuts in the State University budget.

Democratic legislators have proposed a $7-million reduction in the $42 million in new funds that Gov. Rockefeller has asked for the university system.

About 2,000 students participated in the Cortland demonstration. Earlier Monday, 900 Albany State students marched to the State Capitol to protest the budget slash.

Set Final Plans For Communion Breakfast May 2

Reservations for the May 2 annual Communion breakfast of St. Mary of the Snow Rosary Society may be had by phoning Mrs. Joan Turek, according to plans outlined during Thursday's monthly meeting.

Co-chairman Mrs. Bobbie DiDominio and Mrs. Marion Schnell announced that Sister Mary Patricia of St. Agatha's Home for Children, Nanuet, will address the group on her work at the home.

Since the accommodations are limited to 100 persons, Rosarians, guests, or women of the parish are asked to contact Mrs. Turek immediately. Tickets may also be obtained from Eleanor Naccarato.

The breakfast will follow the 8 a. m. Mass. Members of the Holy Name Society will serve.

The May investiture and Living Rosary will take place on the regular meeting night, May 6. Any woman who has joined the society in the past year is expected to be invested that night in order to obtain the special indulgences of the society. It would also be appropriate if she would participate in the Living Rosary, the candlelight procession where each person represents a bead and recites the first part of the prayer. All parishioners are invited to attend this special devotion to Mary and encourage their older children to attend.

The nominating committee headed by Mrs. Corrine Van Benschoten, will present a slate of officers for the May meeting for general voting in June. Aiding in the selection will be Mrs. Eileen Doyle, Miss Lucille Nau and Mrs. Ruth Govsky.

A first holy communicant will be outfitted by the Rosary Society. The group also voted the annual $10 prize to an eighth grade graduate of St. Mary's.

John Bud Smith, chairman of the Holy Name auction slated for May 29, appealed to the ladies to let the Holy Name men clean out their attics and cellars in the hopes of finding gems suitable for resale. He explained that the group already has stoves, tables, refrigerators, etc. They will take old, as well as new items.

Members of the Rosary Society will serve the Holy Name Communion breakfast on Sunday, June 13, following the 8 a. m. Mass. Chairman Mrs. Marion Garzone is lining up her committees. She asks that the women whose husbands will not be attending to please make an effort to assist, especially in the clean-up detail.

The parish library is growing rapidly, according to Mrs. Gloria Laird, co-chairman. She requests that, for the time being, periodicals and magazines should not be donated.

A thank-you note from the Archbishop McGough in South Africa was read by Mrs. Dorothy Corea. The mission box was passed around for those wishing to give towards the support of the catechist and his family.

The photograph album containing pictures of the farewell tribute to the Rt. Rev. Msgr. Edward Plover, former pastor, and snaps of the church, school and grounds, was viewed by those present. It was compiled by Karl Pietkiewicz and will be sent to Msgr. Plover shortly.

Returns from the calendar clip will be kept in a separate fund, according to the president, Mrs. Peggy Wilsey, who explained at a future meeting the monies would be voted for a particular worthwhile purpose.

The baby sitting nursery will be in operation the morning of the first Holy Communion for benefit of the parents who wish to attend. In June a new chairman will be selected. Mrs. Rita Connor has been in charge for the past 9 months.

Mrs. Connor was the high single and high triple game winner in the match between the Holy Name men and Rosary Society held recently in the bowling lanes at Simmons Plaza. The ladies won by over 100 points, Mrs. Lorraine Wagner reported.

A comprehensive report on the Citizens for Decent Literature was given.

Mrs. Marion Schnell attended the sessions representing the Rosary Society. The chairman had requested that a representative from each organization in town be present at the meetings held twice a month to combat the infiltration of printed materials unsuitable for the young. Mrs. Schnell remarked that only about 18 organizations of the more than 100 in the township have responded.

She distributed samples of the types of publications in comic book style actively on display hereabouts. Mrs. Schnell explained that individuals should be on the lookout in various stores and compliment the owner should he not handle objectionable periodicals. She described a case where a store owner had removed the unsuitable books from his shelves, but was forced to return them since he had received so many complaints from potential buyers that they were no longer available. Not one person had thought to thank him for not displaying the indecent publications.

An informative talk on the "Parish Priest" was given by the Rev. Joseph Hamilton following the business meeting. Who he is, how he studied to get there, and the assignments in his lifetime were accurately detailed. "Priests come in assorted sizes," stated Father Hamilton "but all are instrumental in the hands of Christ." "In God's eyes, to be great is to be holy," he concluded. A brief question and answer period followed.

Coffee was served by Mrs. Marge Syman, Mrs. Dorothy Cassell and Mrs. Ginger Curl.

Newly Formed Newman Club Names Chairman

James Geskie was elected temporary chairman at the first meeting of the St. John's Newman Club which was held recently in the parish hall.

The Rev. Leo Laffin, pastor, and advisor explained the purpose of the club.

A nominating committee was selected to choose candidates for president, vice president, secretary and treasurer to be elected at the next meeting.

Suggestions were made to have a car wash and a news letter.

The next meeting will be held Thursday 7:30 p. m. in St. John's Hall, Veteran.

Events Scheduled

Katsbaan Reformed Church Ladies Aid will serve a turkey supper Saturday at three settings, 5, 6 and 7 p. m. in the church hall. Reservations may be made with Mrs. Fred Elveleit, or Mrs. William Fiero.

Washington Hook & Ladder Company Auxiliary is sponsoring a round and square dance including a stage show featuring TV personality Pete Williams and his group Saturday, April 24 from 8 p. m. to midnight at Donlon Auditorium in the municipal building, Partition Street. Tickets are available from any auxiliary members or at the door.

The regular meeting of the Women's Guild for Christian Service of Saugerties Reformed Church will be held Wednesday in the parish hall.

Pioneer Girls' Awards Dinner Attended by 115

The annual Pioneer Girl banquet was held recently at First Baptist Church of Saugerties. Approximately 115 Pals, Gals, Committee, Guides and Mothers were in attendance. The evening commenced with a ham supper. Following the supper, a program was presented. Awards were distributed to the girls for their various achievements, songs were sung, and the film, "The Family That Changed the World" was shown.

All girls are invited to attend the meetings of Pioneer Girls held each Monday at the church at 7 p. m. The Pilgrim Group is for all girls. 15 Dealers Will Display Wares At Antique Show

Be it Early American, Victorian, Louis XIV, Oriental or just plain American, the third annual VFW antique show and sale will fit the bill on May 15 and May 16 in the VFW Hall, Livingston St. Doors will open at 10 a. m. until 9 p. m. each day. Refreshments will be available.

Fifteen Hudson Valley dealers will display their wares from primitives to collectors items, including coins, dolls, carnival glass, etc. Due to the new addition in the hall, accommodations are still available for two more exhibitors. Persons wishing to obtain space should contact the chairman, Mrs. Kay Helm in Quarryville immediately.

The public is invited to come and browse among the items of yesterday in eye-catching displays.

Profits will be used in furthering the workings of the Ladies Auxiliary to Saugerties Memorial Post 5034, VFW, sponsors of this annual event.

MRS. DEXTER O. ARNOLD

Women Voters League Slates Special Speaker

To Strengthen the Arm of Liberty will be the topic of Mrs. Dexter O. Arnold, guest speaker on April 14, at the meeting of Saugerties League of Women Voters in Saugerties Methodist Church at 8 p. m.

Mrs. Arnold will stress in particular local projects for community improvement including her experiences with the Community improvement contest on a nationwide basis which was initiated by 11,000 clubs and then taken over by the communities themselves. Mrs. Arnold will also discuss her role in the past as U. S. representative at the conference at Jerusalem. This conference was under the auspices of the United Nations and dealt with role of women in the struggle for peace and development. The Saugerties League extends an invitation to all residents to attend. Mrs. Arnold is as well known locally as she is nationwide for her many contributions to help people all over the world and she will speak on her inspirations, information and personal type of experiences in her many varied endeavors.

There will be a brief business meeting prior to Mrs. Arnold's talk and refreshments will be served at the conclusion of the meeting.

Katsbaan Wins Play-offs; Sets Sights for Legion

Katsbaan Apaches slayed West Camp Palatines 9-8 and 10-8 to win Saugerties Dartsball League's play-off Monday night at their home court and set their sights for the League's pennant.

winners, American Legion next Monday night in the series finals at Centerville Firehouse.

Robert Finger led the Apache attack with 10 for 11, one home run, and six runs-batted-in. Other Katsbaan homers were delivered by James Hutton, Foster Finger and Albert Tice.

In the lusterless contests, Lewis Robinson was high man for West Camp with 6 for 9. Gregory Fowler, who starred in last week's contests, won over Quarryville, scored six RBI's, and Clarence Lynk, the Palatine's captain hit the only homer for West Camp.

Katsbaan, last year's league champions, were the pennant winners last season and the Legionnaires were play-off winners. The positions are reversed this year.

The series games will follow the annual league banquet at 6:30 p. m. in Centerville Fire Hall.

The winner, best two out of three, will win the league's championship trophy.

Methodist Notes

Recently received into the membership of the Saugerties Methodist Church by the Rev. J. H. Raineau were Mrs. Robert Orchard by letter from Clinton Avenue Methodist Church; Mrs. Stella Bakes by letter from the Fourth Avenue Methodist Church, Brooklyn, and Mr. and Mrs. Bruce Damerell from the Shrub Oak Methodist Church. As a result of last week's cafeteria supper over $200 was sent to the Rev. Alfredo Cotto-Thorner for his mission work at So. 3rd Street Methodist Church, Brooklyn. The WSCS expresses gratitude to all who contributed and requests all empty dishes to be picked up in the kitchen.

Color Range

One of the best natural wood insulators, western red cedar is used extensively for paneling. Its color ranges from almost pure white through gold to a deep red brown. Panel boards are usually selected to show the range of colors, but, if desired, boards may be chosen to create a wall of uniform color.

Eases Conditions

VIENTIANE, Laos, (AP) — The Communist Pathet Lao have proposed low-level talks in Vientiane and have abandoned pre-conditions previously demanded, a government spokesman said today.

Previously, the Pathet Lao have demanded that all talks to restore peace in the divided country be held in Paris.

A minister who asked not to be identified said the Pathet Lao change — "it's a debacle" — indicates the Communists have been hurt by continuous bombings by Laotian and American aircraft of their supply routes.

The next meeting will be held Thursday 7:30 p. m. in St. John's Hall, Veteran.

Events Scheduled

Katsbaan Reformed Church Ladies Aid will serve a turkey supper Saturday at three settings, 5, 6 and 7 p. m. in the church hall. Reservations may be made with Mrs. Fred Eiveleit, or Mrs. William Fiero.

Washington Hook & Ladder Company Auxiliary is sponsoring a round and square dance including a stage show featuring TV personality Pete Williams and his group Saturday, April 24 from 8 p. m. to midnight at Donlon Auditorium in the municipal building, Partition Street. Tickets are available from any auxiliary members or at the door.

The regular meeting of the Women's Guild for Christian Service of Saugerties Reformed Church will be held Wednesday in the parish hall.

Pioneer Girls' Awards Dinner Attended by 115

The annual Pioneer Girl banquet was held recently at First Baptist Church of Saugerties. Approximately 115 Pals, Gals, Committee, Guides and Mothers were in attendance. The evening commenced with a ham supper. Following the supper, a program was presented. Awards were distributed to the girls for their various achievements, songs were sung, and the film, "The Family That Changed the World" was shown.

All girls are invited to attend the meetings of Pioneer Girls held each Monday at the church at 7 p. m. The Pilgrim Group is for all girls. Grades 4 through 6; the Colonist Group is for girls, Grades 7 through 9; the Explorer Group is for all girls, Grades 10 through 12. Those girls who were presented awards were:

15 Dealers Will Display Wares At Antique Show

Be it Early American, Victorian, Louis XIV, Oriental or just plain American, the third annual VFW antique show and sale will fit the bill on May 15 and May 16 in the VFW Hall, Livingston St. Doors will open at 10 a. m. until 9 p. m. each day. Refreshments will be available.

Fifteen Hudson Valley dealers will display their wares from primitives to collectors items, including coins, dolls, carnival glass, etc. Due to the new addition in the hall, accommodations are still available for two more exhibitors. Persons wishing to obtain space should contact the chairman, Mrs. Kay Helm in Quarryville immediately.

The public is invited to come and browse among the items of yesteryear in eye-catching displays. Profits will be used in furthering the workings of the Ladies Auxiliary to Saugerties Memorial Post 5034, VFW, sponsors of this annual event.

MRS. DEXTER O. ARNOLD

Women Voters League Slates Special Speaker

To Strengthen the Arm of Liberty will be the topic of Mrs. Dexter O. Arnold, guest speaker on April 14, at the meeting of Saugerties League of Women Voters in Saugerties Methodist Church at 8 p. m.

Mrs. Arnold will stress in particular local projects for community improvement including her experiences with the Community improvement contest on a nationwide basis which was initiated by 11,000 clubs and then taken over by the communities themselves. Mrs. Arnold will also discuss her role in the past as U. S. representative at the conference at Jerusalem. This conference was under the auspices of the United Nations and dealt with role of women in the struggle for peace and development. The Saugerties League extends an invitation to all residents to attend. Mrs. Arnold is as well known locally as she is nationwide for her many contributions to help people all over the world and she will speak on her inspirations, information and personal type of experiences in her many varied endeavors.

There will be a brief business meeting prior to Mrs. Arnold's talk and refreshments will be served at the conclusion of the meeting.

Katsbaan Wins Play-offs; Sets Sights for Legion

Katsbaan Apaches shaded West Camp Palatines 9-8 and 10-8 to win Saugerties Dartball League's play-off Monday night at their home court and set their sights for the League's pennant.

winners, American Legion next Monday night in the series finals at Centerville Firehouse.

Robert Finger led the Apache attack with 10 for 11, one home run, and six runs-batted-in. Other Katsbaan homers were delivered by James Hutton, Foster Finger and Albert Tice.

In the lusterless contests, Lewis Robinson was high man for West Camp with 6 for 9. Gregory Fowler, who starred in last week's contests, won over Quarryville, scored six RBI's, and Clarence Lynk, the Palatine's captain hit the only homer for West Camp.

Katsbaan, last year's league champions, were the pennant winners last season and the Legionnaires were play-off winners. The positions are reversed this year.

The series games will follow the annual league banquet at 6:30 p. m. in Centerville Fire Hall.

The winner, best two out of three, will win the league's championship trophy.

Methodist Notes

Recently received into the membership of the Saugerties Methodist Church by the Rev. J. H. Rainier were Mrs. Robert Orchard by letter from Clinton Avenue Methodist Church; Mrs. Stella Bakes by letter from the Fourth Avenue Methodist Church, Brooklyn, and Mr. and Mrs. Bruce Damerell from the Shrub Oak Methodist Church. As a result of last week's cafeteria supper over $200 was sent to the Rev. Alfredo Cotto-Thorner for his mission work at So. 3rd Street Methodist Church, Brooklyn. The WSCS expresses gratitude to all who contributed and requests all empty dishes to be picked up in the kitchen.

Previously, the Pathet Lao have demanded that all talks to restore peace in the divided country be held in Paris. A minister who asked not to be identified said the Pathet Lao change — "it's a debacle" — indicates the Communists have been hurt by continuous bombings by Laotian and American aircraft of their supply routes.

Eases Conditions

VIENTIANE, Laos, (AP) — The Communist Pathet Lao have proposed low-level talks in Vientiane and have abandoned pre-conditions previously demanded, a government spokesman said today.

Previously, the Pathet Lao have demanded that all talks to restore peace in the divided country be held in Paris.

A minister who asked not to be identified said the Pathet Lao change — "it's a debacle" — indicates the Communists have been hurt by continuous bombings by Laotian and American aircraft of their supply routes.

Color Range

One of the best natural wood insulators, western red cedar is used extensively for paneling. Its color ranges from almost pure white through gold to a deep red brown. Panel boards are usually selected to show the range of colors, but, if desired, boards may be chosen to create a wall of uniform color.

And now for my feature trick of the evening.

Watch closely while I produce before your very eyes a compact car that's surprisingly big... amazingly roomy... unbelievably comfortable.

A truly family-sized compact... yet incredibly low-priced.

On second thought, that's not much of a trick... Dodge Dealers do it every day!

Say the magic word and amaze your friends... Dart. It's no illusion. It's a Dodge.

Watch closely: Incredible Dart GT. Big 111-inch wheelbase for room and ride. Magic compact car price. More magic? Bucket seats, padded dash and full carpeting are standard. Six or V8 models available, too.

MOST NEW HOME BUYERS CHOOSE OIL HEAT

Discriminating home buyers know that Oil Heat adds to the value of a home. This, perhaps, explains why more new homes are bought which have oil heating installations. Also — real estate men know a home is worth more if it is heated with oil and never hesitate using it as a selling feature.

Be wise — insist on Oil Heat

NEW YORK (AP) — Skilled labor shortages aren't all in the highly publicized space age industries. Nor are all the time-hallowed hand skills being made obsolete by mechanization. There's a side to the employment picture other than the swift invasion of automation.

Many firms hunt overseas for the trained craftsmen they need to continue production for which there is a steady demand — and, as yet anyway, no machine to take over man's role.

Diamond cutters use precise tools, and have for many years. But the key to the production is the worker himself — not the tool.

Cabinetmakers are in demand — and in short supply — in parts of the furniture and wood-working industries where manual skills are needed more than machine tools.

Fine crystal is still the handiwork of craftsmen despite the onslaught of the machine age.

Some fabrics still call for hand-tended looms, and some clothing and upholstery and like products need skilled hand workmanship.

America's wine growers, brandy makers, whisky distillers still hire workers with ancient hand arts, despite the newer mechanical techniques of mass production they also employ.

Older countries still furnish many of this nation's top chefs and others in the food industry. Cabinetmakers trained for fine hand work are so scarce in this country that some companies periodically recruit young workers in Western Europe, where the skill has been handed down in families for generations.

In this country, too, many such cabinet workers are the sons or grandsons of workers who brought this skill here to fashion the finest of furniture, or to use in other forms of woodworking for which there is still a sizable market. Some employers are hoping that the government's new training programs will help fill in the shortages.

Employee pride of accomplishment is essential to quality production in these fields and often the precise skills were refined centuries ago in the European guild system.

without my double. It was obvious that he had led a singleton and that declarer would hold tricks in diamonds or clubs so I decided on a desperate false-card. I won the trick with the ace instead of the queen and led back the deuce. South could well have afforded to ruff high, but he didn't bother to think since he was certain that my partner held the queen of hearts, and ruffed low. My partner made a trump trick."

Oswald: "Yes, it surely pays to give your opponent every chance to go wrong. Conversely, it is equally important when you are bidding or defending to give your partner as much help as possible. Incidentally, South should have played dummy's king of hearts at trick one. He had no better use for that card and West might have led away from the ace."

Navy Skin Diver Perishes Didn't Expect Cave Rescue Until Water Had Gone Down

BY BILL SIMMONS
MOUNTAIN VIEW, Ark. (AP) — The first sight of a skin diver bobbing to the surface didn't surprise any of the spelunkers trapped in flooded Rowland Cave, says Hugh Shell. "But we hadn't anticipated the diver suggesting we put on some skin diving gear and go back out with him under the water," said Shell in an interview Monday several hours after the tragedy-marred rescue. "We thought he'd bring in supplies and we'd wait for the water to fall."

Skin divers led Shell, 40, of Batesville, Ark., and three college students, one at a time, through the 200 feet of murky water to safety outside the cave. Shell and the other spelunkers — Hogan Bledsoe, 20, of Lake Village, Ark., and Steve Wilson, 20, of Batesville, students at Arkansas Tech, and Mike Hill, 19, of Batesville, a student at Arkansas College — came through their more than 36 hours in the cave showing no ill effects.

One of the divers collapsed at the mouth of the cave and died after helping out the last of the four explorers. He was chief damage controlman Lyle E. Thomas, 39, one of three Navy divers flown in from Washington to help the rescue effort. Dr. T. J. Burton, Stone County coroner, attributed Thomas' death to a heart attack.

The spelunkers entered the cave in this Ozark foothills country early Saturday night. "We were on our way out on Sunday morning when we came upon the water and we knew we were trapped," Shell said. "But none of us was ever worried. We had provisions for four days and we figured we could wait for the water to go down."

The spelunkers waited in a cavernous area known as the Cathedral Room — the last room in the developed area of the cave, a onetime tourist attraction. Then, Sunday afternoon a string of lights went on which extended from the mouth of the cave to the Cathedral Room 900 feet inside.

Wrapping a pocketknife in plastic insulation, the spelunkers scraped a portion of electrical line bare and — shorting the circuit — started transmitting periodic S-O-S signals. Monday — almost 24 hours after the first S-O-S — a skin diver broke the surface of the water.

Thayer Charges Gestapo Tactics, Quits CC Group

Hary M. Thayer, in a surprise move, resigned today as a director of the Kingston Area Chamber of Commerce in protest to what he called being "silenced" at this morning's breakfast meeting of the Kingston Area Chamber of Commerce. Thayer, general manager of Station WHGQ, said that it was understanding that this morning's meeting was scheduled for the purpose of finding out "the truth" of the status of Ulster County Community College, including when the taxpayers would start and when it would be occupied at Stone Ridge.

Thayer, an outspoken critic of "news releases" concerning the college, said that "it was obvious, from the Gestapo-like tactics that took place at this morning's breakfast at the Governor Clinton Hotel, that this was not the object." Thayer told The Freeman that he resigned when he learned that he was not to serve as moderator of a panel to discuss the Community College, as determined earlier by request of the Chamber board of directors. He said, "I will never be a part of an organization that will in any way suppress the truth, and I consider that was done in silencing me this morning at the breakfast."

Board to Receive New School Bids Until May 7th

Sealed proposals will be received by the Board of Education, Kingston City Schools (Consolidated) until 2:30 p. m. on May 7, for the construction of an elementary school at the end of Merilina Avenue, adjacent to the J. Watson Bailey School. Bids will be received at the offices of the board in the George Washington School.

Plans and specifications will include contracts for General Construction, Electric, Plumbing, heating and ventilating, sprinkler system, kitchen equipment. Plans and specifications may be seen at the office of Harry Halverson & Associates, architects, at 239 Fair Street.

Rusk in Tehran

TEHRAN, Iran (AP) — Secretary of State Dean Rusk arrived in Tehran today to head the U.S. delegation to the 13th ministerial council of the Central Treaty Organization opening Wednesday. CENTO is composed of Britain, Turkey, Iran and Pakistan as full members, and the United States as an active member in three of its committees.

Saugerties Board

cluding the position of police chief, Harold Mills and others on the police force.

The public hearings were held without incident and the board indicated it would announce its decision as to adoption at a later date.

The board granted permission to Saugerties Jaycees to conduct its annual Easter egg hunt at the Little League Field Saturday, April 10 at 10 a. m. The rain date is April 17.

Attorney G. Thomas Rea Jr. sought a variance of the zoning ordinance for a client at the northern part of Main Street, from residential U-1 to apartment and boardinghouses U2.

The board acting for the zoning officer who is on vacation, referred the request to the Zoning Board of Appeals. May 1 was proclaimed Loyalty Day in Saugerties. The observance is sponsored annually by Saugerties Memorial Post 5034, VFW. The VFW in a letter invited the board to participate in the ceremony at 2 p. m. that date.

Village Clerk Gage read a petition signed by 68 southside residents complaining of the condition of a chicken farm operating in the former Ferroxcube plant on East Bridge Street now owned by Gibber Realty Co., Monticello. The petition complained of the odor and unclean conditions causing an influx of skunks and rats.

The board instructed Village Attorney Carmichael to write a letter to the owners advising that the state laws involved will be investigated and an application for an injunction will be made.

Fire Commissioner McCaig reported that the new fire warden, inspection booklets are ready and inspection of properties will start about April 26.

Mayor Cornelius Cox announced that a two-week cleanup drive will start Monday, April 12 and residents are requested to leave debris at the curb on the days announced when the street department will make pick ups in each area. A schedule of pick ups will be announced.

Outgoing Fire Chief Walter Johnson, in his annual report, commended the board for its action in eliminating fire hazards in the village.

Street Commissioner Clements was empowered to spend $450 to repair a guard fence on upper Main Street hill near Mt. View Cemetery. He also reported that fill will be dumped into that area in an effort to widen the street.

Trustee York reported a fuel savings of 25 per cent over the same period a year ago for heating the municipal building with the new oil burner. A 15 per cent savings was guaranteed.

Police Commissioner Steele reported that the new cell door has been installed at the new lockup in the police station and he is now awaiting installation of two porcelain fixtures to complete the job.

Parks Commissioner Rice reported the municipal beach will open July 3. The mayor read a letter from the Lions Club inviting the board to a discussion on fluoridation Monday, April 12 at the Flamingo Restaurant.

Toll Taker Spots Stolen Auto at Saugerties Booth

An alert toll booth collector on the New York Thruway at Saugerties was responsible for the spotting of a stolen car and the apprehension of the two alleged passengers in the car.

Albany police reported a car owned by Donald Longale of 483 Livingston Avenue, Albany, had been taken from a parking lot behind the Livingston Apartments sometime Sunday night.

Monday Pauline Hill was on duty at the Saugerties toll booth about 5:30 a. m. when she noticed the broken front vent window of a car which passed through the toll booth. There were three young men in the car. To the toll booth collector they appeared "young and nervous" so she notified Albany authorities by phone and in turn State Police were notified.

As Troopers Alfred Hopf and E. P. Martin were receiving the information, the suspected car drove past them on the Thruway just north of the Saugerties interchange. The troopers gave chase and a 100-mile an hour chase ensued. The fleeing car disappeared momentarily over a rise in the road and when the troopers car approached three men took to their heels. The abandoned car was later found to be that reported missing from Albany. The troopers gave chase but the trio escaped in the woods.

Continuing their patrol in the area, the troopers some time later picked up a 17-year old Albany youth who was hitchhiking on the road. They charged him with hitchhiking on the Thruway and brought him to the Kingston station for questioning. The youth gave his name as Tony Mullen, 17, of Albany. Questioned by Investigator Richard Ryan, he admitted the car was a stolen vehicle and later Albany police picked up one Richard Ryan, an Albany youth and at latest reports were checking on a third Albany youth.

The car was allegedly stolen from Route 9W to Saugerties where it entered the Thruway enroute back to Albany. The sharp eye of the toll booth collector spoiled the return trip. Albany police were today continuing their investigation.

Cars Will Pass On Thruway Here In Economy Run

The eyes of the American automotive industry and the motoring public will be on the 49 cars competing in the 1965 Mobil Economy Run which passes through Kingston via New York State Thruway April 11. The first car will arrive approximately 8:15 a. m. on the run from Los Angeles to New York's Times Square.

This final leg of the 7-day gas economy contest was chosen as it typifies a route with conditions facing the average motorist traveling coast-to-coast.

Accompanying the competing cars are some 75 support vehicles carrying over 250 officials of the United States Auto Club, the international press, auto representatives and technical crews necessary in conducting the Run. Cars representing all American manufacturers are competing in nine classes that range from compact to fastbacks to luxury. Operating under the strict supervision of U.S.A.C. observers, the cars are required to maintain a 50 MPH-plus average speed throughout the more-than-3200-mile Run while observing all local ordinances, highway rules and driver courtesies.

Six overnight stops after leaving Los Angeles on Monday are Flagstaff, Pueblo, Kansas City, Kan., Chicago, Niagara Falls, Ont., and Albany. The Manhattan finish line will be crossed early Sunday, April 11.

Planners Name 3-Man Group For Billboards

A billboard committee has been appointed by the Ulster County Planning Board. The committee members are Larry Argiro of New Paltz, Wilfred Kopp of Wawarsing and Benjamin L. Webster of Woodstock who will act as chairman.

This committee has been formed in response to many letters and phone calls to Planning Board members urging immediate action be taken to control the billboard blight that is rapidly spreading throughout the county. It is widely recognized that this is defacing the natural beauty of the region which is its major attraction.

Typical of such letters is one stating: "... it is essential to convince the business community that a billboard free Ulster County would benefit everyone here not only aesthetically but financially."

Another typical letter lists reasons for controlling billboards, such as: "Lowering of property values in the vicinity; surveys have shown that more accidents occur on roads showing billboards; dislike of tourists and pleasure drivers who have to ride through a maze of billboards; impossibility of reading signs at speed of modern cars, a hazard to those who try and a waste of money."

Since the County Planning Board has no authority to limit or control land uses, it is preparing a model sign ordinance for the use of towns and villages which do have authority to adopt such controls for the protection and welfare for their people.

The billboard committee will welcome suggestions from civic organizations and individuals who are concerned with the problem. Such suggestions should be sent to Benjamin L. Webster, Box 57, Woodstock.

Johnson Rescinds Order to Close Hospitals for Vets

A Veterans Administration order to close 14 veterans' hospitals and old soldiers' homes by June 30 has been rescinded by President Johnson for an indefinite period pending a report of his eight-man commission named Saturday to review the controversial situation.

Congressman Joseph Y. Resnick of Ellenville (D-28th District) said the rescinding order was announced this morning at a meeting of the Veterans Affairs Committee in Washington, D. C.

The special commission has been instructed to study the situation and report to the President by June 1. President Johnson said that he will "promptly act on its recommendations."

The Ellenville congressman today hailed the rescinding order as a great step forward and said if the commission had been appointed in the beginning, the controversy could have been avoided.

Representative Resnick said he feels the President has received poor advice and lacks adequate information on the status of the hospitals. The congressman said he is hopeful that the commission will personally inspect the Castle Point Hospital at Beacon.

King Denies . . .

ders taking place, with untold beatings and brutality and a continuation of bombings, you have such an absolute breakdown of law and order and a reign of terror, that something must be done to prod the good people. The problem of Alabama is not merely violence by bad people but the silence of good people. This boycott is no different from other boycotts — the bus boycott in Montgomery, the boycott of Birmingham. The principle is no different from the federal law which would withhold funds from a school. The whole purpose is to arouse a sense of concern within what I call the people of good will so that they will rise up and bring an end to the reign of terror.

Answer on Moderates
Q: How do you hope to gain or retain support of white moderates in Alabama?

A: I don't think in a social revolution you can always rely on the support of the moderates. But I don't think that a person who is truly committed is ever alienated completely by tactics. It is very easy to stand on the outside and look at it. Maybe if some of these people had to preach three funerals they would take a different view.

I realize we are a minority, only 10 per cent of the population and that we must have allies in the white community. But I do feel we need committed allies — but not allies who set timetables and question a tactical method.

Q: Doesn't the boycott cast you in the role of oppressor rather than the oppressed?

A: The initial reaction grew out of misunderstanding. When I explain to people what we are doing, they almost unanimously agree. It is based on the philosophy that non-cooperation with evil is as much a part of our belief as cooperation with good.

Good people can never divorce themselves from the evil system — so we have to do something. The best example was Germany under Hitler. The world stood by and allowed Hitler to get by with all those things.

On Retaliation
Q: What about retaliation against the Negro?

A: I don't see how much more there could be. I think the Negro is prepared for it. The whole idea emerged from the grass roots communities. They are already boycotting in their own communities.

Q: If the boycott alienates the white moderates, then how are you to achieve an enduring, working racial peace?

A: I don't agree with the pre-supposition. When an oppressed people use militant nonviolent means it brings out latent hostility — a kind of temporary bitterness and alienation of people. The marchers and other demonstrations alienated some people. I call it temporary reaction, that inevitable phase of transition taking place in a state which has been denying the democratic process. All the talk about alienation doesn't worry me at all. There are white people in Alabama who support the boycott. They are small in number.

Bringing It Out
Through this method we are bringing the whole issue of oppression out in the open where people can see it and be forced to deal with it. This is just a continuation of the period of protest. There comes a time when you move to the period of retaliation.

Q: What do you want to accomplish?

A: We would want to see some definite commitments from the governor on the voting-rights bill. It would save us a lot of work. We would want assurances that the state would abide by it (the voting bill). We would want a commitment on the poll tax and the whole question of removing police brutality on county, city and state level.

We would want a commitment from the political leadership of the state to remove the climate of terror by making proper statements and speeches, and legislative action that would not give the enemies of justice the feeling they were aided and abetted by law enforcement officials and legislators.

Q: Would you say that Gov. Wallace's meeting with the group of civil rights leaders, his concern over the bombing last week and the legislature's resolution denouncing the violence were the kind of things you are seeking?

A: This is a step in the right direction. I think it does demonstrate some change is taking place — whether a change in attitude or tactics, I don't know.

Late Bulletin
RICHMOND, Va. (AP) — A Federal Grand Jury today indicted two former Army buddies on charges of conspiring to sell United States defense secrets to the Soviet Union.

The two men, jailed on opposite sides of the nation after their arrests on charges of involvement in an 11-year spy plot, are army Sgt. Robert Lee Johnson, 43, and James Allen Mintonbaugh, 46. They will be tried in Alexandria, Va.

A 21-member grand jury returned the true bills after hearing two witnesses for nearly two hours.

Johnson and Mintonbaugh were indicted on three counts. The 11-page indictment lists 23 instances of overt acts in the alleged conspiracy. It said the two entered into the conspiracy in February 1953 and continued up to and including December 1964.

ANG Official Dies; Was Local Page One Winner

STEPHEN RIPLEY
Executive secretary of the American Newspaper Guild, Stephen Ripley, 57, died Sunday of cerebral hemorrhage at Fairfax Hospital, Falls Church, Va.

West Hurley firemen were summoned this morning for a brush fire which was later reported under control.

Glascow firemen answered a call for a grass fire during the morning.

Supervisors Set Public Hearing On Budget Law

A public hearing will be held Wednesday at 3:30 p. m. at the board of supervisor's offices in the County Office Building on adoption of Local Law No. 2, of 1965.

This law relates to the regulations relative to the preparation, consideration, hearing, amendment, and adoption of the annual county budget for Ulster County.

The resolution, which provides for adoption of a Local Law providing procedural methods to be followed in the budgeting process, was offered at the last meeting of the board by Minority Leader John Quimby (D), Marlboro, and the other Democratic members of the board.

Under the provisions of Local Law No. 2, 1965, the budget officer would be required to file no later than Nov. 1, of each year, copies of the tentative budget and make copies available to the clerk of the Board and the supervisors.

The Board no later than Nov. 20, of the year, shall meet and review the tentative budget and a public hearing shall be held no later than Dec. 1. The law would require that the board meet no later than Dec. 5, for final consideration of a budget, and if no such meeting is called by the chairman, then the meeting shall be deemed to be called for Dec. 6 at 3 p. m. In the event of that date being a Saturday or Sunday the meeting would be called on the next business day.

Beach Boys Get Three Years in Theft of Gems

NEW YORK (AP) — Three Florida beach boys were sentenced today to three years each for the theft of the fabulous Star of India Sapphire and other gems from the American Museum of Natural History Oct. 29.

State Supreme Court Justice Mitchell D. Schwartz said he accepted a leniency recommendation by the district attorney's office because the defendants had aided in the return of a substantial part of the jewelry. Each could have been sentenced to 21 years.

The defendants were Allen Dale Kuhn, 26; Jack Roland (Murf) the Surf) Murphy, 29, and Roger Frederick Clark, 27. The Star of India, the world's largest star sapphire at 563 carats, and the Midnight Star, another sapphire, of 116.75 carats, were recovered in Miami.

Still missing, however, is the DeLong ruby of 100 carats.

Kane's Condition Poor
John Kane, 71, of 598 Broadway, who was found collapsed Monday morning in his apartment at that address, was reported in poor condition today in Benedictine Hospital, where he was taken by Fatum's ambulance. Patrolmen George Baringer and Thomas Childs investigated.

More Liquor Stolen
Police continued their investigation today into the theft of four bottles of liquor from Stone's Liquor Store, 24 Broadway. Detectives said someone broke a window and reached through to take the bottles. The same store was also the scene of another burglary recently.

All poisonous snakes are immune to their own poison.

TODAY'S THOUGHT

By JIM GILPATRIC

A family found this verse in personal papers. I was graciously given permission to publish it.

I've a wonderful boy, and I say to him, "Son — Be fair and be square in the race you must run. Be brave if you lose and be meek if you win. Be better and nobler than I've ever been. Be honest and noble in all that you do. And honor the name I have given to you. We will grow up together, I'll too be a boy. And share in your trouble and share in your joy. We'll work out our problems together and then we will lay out our plans when we both will be men. And oh, what a wonderful joy this will be. No pleasure in life could be greater for me."

I hope this verse opens treasured avenues of family thought for you. I don't know who wrote this poem. If you happen to know, will you be kind enough, please, to write and let me know? JAMES F. GILPATRIC, JAMES M. MURPHY FUNERAL HOME Kingston, N. Y., FE 8-1200.

Britain Halts Bomber Project

LONDON (AP) — The British government today announced abandonment of its TSR2 tactical bomber project which was to have kept the nation in the nuclear power league.

The announcement by Chancellor of the Exchequer James Callaghan in the course of his budget speech made plain the Labor government reached its decision on the airplane's spiraling costs.

Callaghan said the government's decision would save the nation $100 million in the fiscal year beginning this month. The aircraft, continued the chancellor, already had cost $350 million to develop and the bill was rising fast each week.

Callaghan declined to say immediately if the government intends to buy the American F111 — formerly known as the TFX — as a substitute.

Navy Skin Diver Perishes

Didn't Expect Cave Rescue Until Water Had Gone Down

BY BILL SIMMONS

MOUNTAIN VIEW, Ark. (AP) — The first sight of a skin diver bobbing to the surface didn't surprise any of the spelunkers trapped in flooded Rowland Cave, says Hugh Shell. "But we hadn't anticipated the diver suggesting we put on some skin diving gear and go back out with him under the water," said Shell in an interview Monday several hours after the tragedy-marred rescue. "We thought he'd bring in supplies and we'd wait for the water to fall."

Skin divers led Shell, 40, of Batesville, Ark., and three college students, one at a time, through the 200 feet of murky water to safety outside the cave. Shell and the other spelunkers — Hogan Bledsoe, 20, of Lake Village, Ark., and Steve Wilson, 20, of Batesville, students at Arkansas Tech, and Mike Hill, 19, of Batesville, a student at Arkansas College — came through their more than 36 hours in the cave showing no ill effects.

One of the divers collapsed at the mouth of the cave and died after helping out the last of the four explorers. He was chief damage controlman Lyle E. Thomas, 39, one of three Navy divers flown in from Washington to help the rescue effort. Dr. T. J. Burton, Stone County coroner, attributed Thomas' death to a heart attack.

The spelunkers entered the cave in this Ozark foothills country early Saturday night. "We were on our way out on Sunday morning when we came upon the water and we knew we were trapped," Shell said.

"But none of us was ever worried. We had provisions for four days and we figured we could wait for the water to go down."

The spelunkers waited in a cavernous area known as the Cathedral Room — the last room in the developed area of the cave, a onetime tourist attraction.

Then, Sunday afternoon a string of lights went on which extended from the mouth of the cave to the Cathedral Room 900 feet inside.

Wrapping a pocketknife in plastic insulation, the spelunkers scraped a portion of electrical line bare and — shorting the circuit — started transmitting periodic S-O-S signals.

Monday almost 24 hours after the first S-O-S — a skin diver broke the surface of the water.

Thayer Charges Gestapo Tactics, Quits CC Group

Hary M. Thayer, in a surprise move, resigned today as a director of the Kingston Area Chamber of Commerce in protest to what he called being "silenced" at this morning's breakfast meeting of the Kingston Area Chamber of Commerce.

Thayer, general manager of Station WGHQ, said that it was understanding that this morning's meeting was scheduled for the purpose of finding out "the truth" of the status of Ulster County Community College, including when the taxpayers could expect the construction would start and when it would be occupied at Stone Ridge.

Thayer, an outspoken critic of "news releases" concerning the college, said that "it was obvious from the Gestapo-like tactics that took place at this morning's breakfast at the Governor Clinton Hotel, that this was not the object."

Thayer told The Freeman that he resigned when he learned that he was not to serve as moderator of a panel to discuss the Community College, as determined earlier by request of the Chamber board of directors. He said, "I will never be a part of an organization that will in any way suppress the truth, and I consider that was done in silencing me this morning at the breakfast."

Board to Receive New School Bids Until May 7th

Sealed proposals will be received by the Board of Education, Kingston City Schools (Consolidated) until 2:30 p. m. on May 7, for the construction of an elementary school at the end of Merilina Avenue, adjacent to the J. Watson Bailey School.

Bids will be received at the office of the board in the George Washington School.

Plans and specifications will include contracts for General Construction, Electric, Plumbing, heating and ventilating, sprinkler system, kitchen equipment.

Plans and specifications may be seen at the office of Harry Halverson & Associates, architects, at 239 Fair Street.

Rusk in Tehran

TEHRAN, Iran (AP) — Secretary of State Dean Rusk arrived in Tehran today to head the U.S. delegation to the 13th ministerial council of the Central Treaty Organization opening Wednesday.

CENTO is composed of Britain, Turkey, Iran and Pakistan as full members, and the United States as an active member in three of its committees.

Saugerties Board

cluding the position of police chief, Harold Mills and others on the police force.

The public hearings were held without incident and the board indicated it would announce its decision as to adoption at a later date.

The board granted permission to Saugerties Jaycees to conduct its annual Easter egg hunt at the Little League Field Saturday, April 10 at 10 a. m. The rain date is April 17.

Attorney G. Thomas Rea Jr. sought a variance of the zoning ordinance for a client at the northern part of Main Street, from residential U1 to apartments and boardinghouses U2.

The board acting for the zoning officer who is on vacation, referred the request to the Zoning Board of Appeals.

May 1 was proclaimed Loyalty Day in Saugerties. The observance is sponsored annually by Saugerties Memorial Post 5034, VFW. The VFW in a letter invited the board to participate in the ceremony at 2 p. m. that date.

Village Clerk Gage read a petition signed by 68 southside residents complaining of the condition of a chicken farm operating in the former Ferroxcube plant on East Bridge Street now owned by Gibbs Realty Co., Monticello. The petition complained of the odor and unclean conditions causing an influx of skunks and rats.

The board instructed Village Attorney Carmichael to write a letter to the owners advising that the state laws involved will be investigated and an application for an injunction will be made.

Fire Commissioner McCaig reported that the new fire warden, inspection booklets are ready and inspection of properties will start about April 26.

Mayor Cornelius Cox announced that a two-week cleanup drive will start Monday, April 12 and residents are requested to leave debris at the curb on the days announced when the street department will make pick ups in each area. A schedule of pick ups will be announced.

Outgoing Fire Chief Walter Johnson, in his annual report, commended the board for its action in eliminating fire hazards in the village.

Street Commissioner Clements was empowered to spend $450 to repair a guard fence on upper Main Street hill near Mt. View Cemetery. He also reported that fill will be dumped into that area in an effort to widen the street.

Trustee York reported a fuel savings of 25 per cent over the same period a year ago for heating the municipal building with the new oil burner. A 15 per cent savings was guaranteed.

Police Commissioner Steele reported that the new cell door has been installed at the new lockup in the police station and he is now awaiting installation of two porcelain fixtures to complete the job.

Parks Commissioner Rice reported the municipal beach will open July 3.

The mayor read a letter from the Lions Club inviting the board to a discussion on fluoridation Monday, April 12 at the Flamingo Restaurant.

Toll Taker Spots Stolen Auto at Saugerties Booth

An alert toll booth collector on the New York Thruway at Saugerties was responsible for the spotting of a stolen car and the apprehension of the two alleged passengers in the car.

Albany police reported a car owned by Donald Longale of 483 Livingston Avenue, Albany, had been taken from a parking lot behind the Livingston Apartments sometime Sunday night.

Monday Pauline Hill was on duty at the Saugerties toll booth about 5:30 a. m. when she noticed the broken front vent window of a car which passed through the toll booth. There were three young men in the car. To the toll booth collector they appeared "young and nervous" so she notified Albany authorities by phone and in turn State Police were notified.

As Troopers Alfred Hopf and E. P. Martin were receiving the information, the suspected car drove past them on the Thruway just north of the Saugerties interchange. The troopers gave chase and a 100-mile an hour chase ensued. The fleeing car disappeared momentarily over a rise in the road and when the troopers car approached three men took to their heels. The abandoned car was later found to be that reported missing from Albany. The troopers gave chase but the trio escaped in the woods.

Continuing their patrol in the area, the troopers some time later picked up a 17-year old Albany youth who was hitchhiking on the road. They charged him with hitchhiking on the Thruway and brought him to the Kingston station for questioning.

The youth gave his name as Tony Mullen, 17, of Albany. Questioned by Investigator Richard Ryan, he admitted the car was a stolen vehicle and later Albany police picked up one Richard Ryan, an Albany youth and at latest reports were checking on a third Albany youth.

The car was allegedly stolen in Albany Sunday, driven down Route 9W to Saugerties where it entered the Thruway enroute back to Albany. The sharp eye of the toll booth collector spoiled the return trip. Albany police were today continuing their investigation.

Cars Will Pass On Thruway Here In Economy Run

The eyes of the American automotive industry and the motoring public will be on the 49 cars competing in the 1965 Mobil Economy Run which passes through Kingston via New York State Thruway April 11. The first car will arrive approximately 8:15 a. m. on the run from Los Angeles to New York's Times Square.

This final leg of the 7-day gas economy contest was chosen as it typifies a route with conditions facing the average motorist traveling coast-to-coast.

Accompanying the competing cars are some 75 support vehicles carrying over 250 officials of the United States Auto Club, the international press, auto representatives and technical crews necessary in conducting the Run.

Cars representing all American manufacturers are competing in nine classes that range from compact to fastbacks to luxury. Operating under the strict supervision of U.S.A.C. observers, the cars are required to maintain a 50 MPH-plus average speed throughout the more-than-3200-mile Run while observing all local ordinances, highway rules and driver courtesies.

Six overnight stops after leaving Los Angeles on Monday are Flagstaff, Pueblo, Kansas City, Kan., Chicago, Niagara Falls, Ont., and Albany. The Manhattan finish line will be crossed early Sunday, April 11.

Planners Name 3-Man Group For Billboards

A billboard committee has been appointed by the Ulster County Planning Board. The committee members are Larry Argiro of New Paltz, Wilfred Kopp of Wawarsing and Benjamin L. Webster of Woodstock who will act as chairman.

This committee has been formed in response to many letters and phone calls to Planning Board members urging immediate action be taken to control the billboard blight that is rapidly spreading throughout the county. It is widely recognized that this is defacing the natural beauty of the region which is its major attraction.

Typical of such letters is one stating: "... it is essential to convince the business community that a billboard free Ulster County would benefit everyone here not only aesthetically but financially."

Another typical letter lists reasons for controlling billboards, such as: "Lowering of property values in the vicinity; surveys have shown that more accidents occur on roads showing billboards; dislike of tourists and pleasure drivers who have to ride through a maze of billboards; impossibility of reading signs at speed of modern cars, a hazard to those who try and a waste of money."

Since the County Planning Board has no authority to limit or control land uses, it is preparing a model sign ordinance for the use of towns and villages which do have authority to adopt such controls for the protection and welfare for their people.

The billboard committee will welcome suggestions from civic organizations and individuals who are concerned with the problem. Such suggestions should be sent to Benjamin L. Webster, Box 57, Woodstock.

Johnson Rescinds Order to Close Hospitals for Vets

A Veterans Administration order to close 14 veterans' hospitals and old soldiers' homes by June 30 has been rescinded by President Johnson for an indefinite period pending a report of his eight-man commission named Saturday to review the controversial situation.

Commissioner Joseph Y. Resnick of Ellenville (D-28th District) said the rescinding order was announced this morning at a meeting of the Veterans Affairs Committee in Washington, D. C.

The special commission has been instructed to study the situation and report to the President by June 1. President Johnson said that he will "promptly act on its recommendations."

The Ellenville congressman today hailed the rescinding order as a great step forward and said if the commission had been appointed in the beginning, the controversy could have been avoided.

Representative Resnick said he feels the President has received poor advice and lacks adequate information on the status of the hospitals. The congressman said he is hopeful that the commission will personally inspect the Castle Point Hospital at Beacon.

News of Interest to Fraternal Organizations

A regularly stated convocation of Mt. Horeb Chapter, 75, RAM, will be held at the Tabernacle, 31 Albany Avenue, Wednesday, 7:30 p. m. All companions of the chapter are requested to attend and all sojourners in the area are invited. This will be a business meeting after which refreshments and a social hour will be held.

King Denies ...

ders taking place, with untold beatings and brutality and a continuation of bombings, you have such an absolute breakdown of law and order and a reign of terror, that something must be done to prod the good people. The problem of Alabama is not merely violence by bad people but the silence of good people. This boycott is no different from other boycotts — the bus boycott in Montgomery, the boycott of Birmingham. The principle is no different from the federal law which would withhold funds from a school.

The whole purpose is to arouse a sense of concern within what I call the people of good will so that they will rise up and bring an end to the reign of terror.

Answer on Moderates

Q: How do you hope to gain or retain support of white moderates in Alabama?

A: I don't think in a social revolution you can always retain support of the moderates. But I don't think that a person who is truly committed is ever alienated completely by tactics. It is very easy to stand on the outside and look at it. Maybe if some of these people had to preach three funerals they would take a different view.

I realize we are a minority, only 10 per cent of the population and that we must have allies in the white community. But I do feel we need committed allies — but not allies who set timetables and question a tactical method.

Q: Doesn't the boycott cast you in the role of oppressor rather than the oppressed?

A: The initial reaction grew out of misunderstanding. When I explain to people what we are doing, they almost unanimously agree. It is based on the philosophy that non-cooperation with evil is as much a part of our belief as cooperation with good. Good people can never divorce themselves from the evil system — so we have to do something. The best example was Germany under Hitler. The world stood by and allowed Hitler to get by with all those things.

On Retaliation

Q: What about retaliation against the Negro?

A: I don't see how much more there could be. I think the Negro is prepared for it. The whole idea emerged from the grass roots communities. They already are boycotting in their own communities.

Q: If the boycott alienates the white moderates, then how are you to achieve an enduring, working racial peace?

A: I don't agree with the pre-supposition. When an oppressed people use militant nonviolent means it brings out latent hostility — a kind of temporary bitterness and alienation of people. The marches and other demonstrations alienated some people. I call it temporary reaction, that inevitable phase of transition taking place in a state which has been denying the democratic process. All the talk about alienation doesn't worry me at all. There are white people in Alabama who support the boycott. They are small in number.

Bringing It Out

Through this method we are bringing the whole issue of oppression out in the open where people can see it and be forced to deal with it. This is just a continuation of the period of protest. There comes a time when we move to the period of reconciliation.

Q: What do you want to accomplish?

A: We would want to see some definite commitments from the governor on the voting-rights bill. It would save us a lot of work. We would want assurances that the state would abide by it (the voting bill). We would want a commitment on the poll tax and the whole question of removing police brutality on county, city and state level. We would want a commitment from the political leadership of the state to remove the climate of terror by making the proper statements and speeches, and legislative action that would not give the enemies of justice the feeling they were aided and abetted by law enforcement officials and legislators.

Q: Would you say that Gov. Wallace's meeting with the group of civil rights leaders, his concern over the bombing last week and the legislature's resolution denouncing the violence were the kind of things you are seeking?

A: This is a step in the right direction. I think it does demonstrate some change in taking place — whether a change in attitude or tactics, I don't know.

Jury Indicts Pair

RICHMOND, Va. (AP) — A Federal Grand Jury today indicted two former Army buddies on charges of conspiring to sell United States defense secrets to the Soviet Union.

The two men, jailed on opposite sides of the nation after their arrests on charges of involvement in an 11-year spy plot, are army Sgt. Robert Lee Johnson, 43, and James Allen Mintkenbaugh, 46. They will be tried in Alexandria, Va.

A 21-member grand jury returned the true bills after hearing two witnesses for nearly two hours.

Johnson and Mintkenbaugh were indicted on three counts. The 11-page indictment lists 23 instances of overt acts in the alleged conspiracy. It said the two entered into the conspiracy in February 1953 and continued up to and including December 1964.

ANG Official Dies; Was Local Page One Winner

STEPHEN RIPLEY

Executive secretary of the American Newspaper Guild, Stephen Ripley, 57, died Sunday of cerebral hemorrhage at Fairfax Hospital, Falls Church, Va.

Ripley negotiated the first Guild contract for the Kingston local and was recipient of its Page One Award in labor in 1961. During the early years of the Kingston local he worked closely with Henry P. Eighmey, its first president.

A native of Rockford, Ill., Ripley worked as a reporter in the mid-West before joining ANG in 1943 as international representative. His many activities with the Guild included work in the east and middle west, serving as assistant editor of the Guild Reporter, serving in Canada as a representative of the Guild and as ANG Wire Service Administrator.

At the time of his death he was executive secretary of ANG contracts committee. He was vice chairman of the Falls Church, Va., City Democratic Committee.

Surviving are his wife, two daughters, a son, his father and a sister.

Brush and Forest Fire Precaution Is Issued Today

As fire officials issued a request for every precaution against brush and forest fires today, Fire Control headquarters was again kept on the jump as fires were reported in numerous areas of the county.

At 9:04 p. m. Monday Port Ewen firemen were summoned to a brush fire north of the Hercules Powder Company plant along the railroad. They secured at 9:35.

At 9:37 a. m. today Highland firemen were summoned to a fire on Chokilake Lake Road where an extensive area was burned over. The firemen had not secured at noon.

Cedar Grove firemen were summoned this morning for a brush fire and Ulster Hose No. 5, Town of Ulster was also called out for a brush fire today.

West Hurley firemen were summoned this morning for a brush fire which was later reported under control.

Glasco firemen answered a call for a grass fire during the morning.

Supervisors Set Public Hearing On Budget Law

A public hearing will be held Wednesday at 3:30 p. m. at the board of supervisor's offices in the County Office Building on adoption of Local Law No. 2, of 1965.

This law relates to the regulations relative to the preparation, consideration, hearing, amendment, and adoption of the annual county budget for Ulster County.

The resolution, which provides for adoption of a Local Law providing procedural methods to be followed in the budgeting process, was offered at the last meeting of the board by Minority Leader John Quimby (D), Marlboro, and the other democratic members of the board.

Under the provisions of Local Law No. 2, 1965, the budget officer would be required to file no later than Nov. 1, of each year, copies of the tentative budget and make copies available to the clerk of the Board and the supervisors.

The Board no later than Nov. 20 of the year, shall meet and review the tentative budget and a public hearing shall be held no later than Dec. 1. The law would require that the board meet no later than Dec. 5, for final consideration of a budget, and if no such meeting is called by the chairman, then the meeting shall be deemed to be called for Dec. 6 at 8 p. m. In the event of that date being a Saturday or Sunday the meeting would be called on the next business day.

Beach Boys Get Three Years in Theft of Gems

NEW YORK (AP) — Three Florida beach boys were sentenced today to three years each for the theft of the fabulous Star of India Sapphire and other gems from the American Museum of Natural History Oct. 29.

State Supreme Court Justice Mitchell D. Schweitzer said he accepted a leniency recommendation by the district attorney's office because the defendants had aided in the return of a substantial part of the jewelry. Each could have been sentenced to 21 years.

The defendants were Allen Dale Kuhn, 26; Jack Roland (Murf the Surf) Murphy, 27, and Roger Frederick Clark, 29. The Star of India, the world's largest star sapphire at 563 carats, and the Midnight Star, another sapphire, of 136.75 carats, were recovered in Miami.

Still missing, however, is the DeLong ruby of 100 carats.

Kane's Condition Poor

John Kane, 71, of 598 Broadway, who was found collapsed Monday morning in his apartment, that address, was reported in poor condition today in Benedictine Hospital, where he was taken by Fatum's ambulance. Patrolmen George Baringer and Thomas Childs investigated.

Police continued their investigation today into the theft of four bottles of liquor from Stone's Liquor Store, 24 Broadway. Detectives said someone broke a window and reached through to take the bottles. The same store was also the scene of another burglary recently.

Today's Thought

By JIM GILPATRIC

A family found this verse in personal papers. I was graciously given permission to publish it.

I've a wonderful boy, and I say to him, "Son — Be fair and be square in the race you must run. Be brave if you lose and be meek if you win. Be better and nobler than I've ever been. Be honest and noble in all that you do. And honor the name I have given to you. We will grow up together. I'll too be a boy. And share in your trouble and share in your joy. We'll work out our problems together and then We will lay out our plans when we both will be men. And oh, what a wonderful joy this will be. No pleasure in life could be greater for me."

I hope this verse opens treasured avenues of family thought for you. I don't know who wrote this poem. If you happen to know, will you be kind enough, please, to write and let me know?

Pope Preparing Decree Altering Mixed Marriages

VATICAN CITY (AP) — Pope Paul VI was reported today preparing a document extensively altering Roman Catholic Church law on mixed marriages, doing away with written promises from the non-Catholic and guaranteeing his or her religious liberty.

Italian papers speculated that the pontiff would shortly issue a "Motu Proprio," or personal administrative decree, altering the marriage section of the 46-year-old Code of Canon Law.

A Vatican official said, however, that the Pope would not publish such a document for some time. The official said a committee assigned by the Pope to review Church laws on marriage was still working out its recommended changes. The official is a prelate associated with that committee.

The changes known to be under serious consideration include an entirely new shift of responsibility from the non-Catholic party to the Catholic party in a mixed marriage.

Now, a non-Catholic Christian marrying a Catholic is asked to sign promises to create no obstacles for the Catholic in his or her practice of Catholicism and to rear and educate children as Roman Catholics.

Greene Man Is Fatally Injured, Hit by Vehicle

John Peter Pidgeon, 83, of Cairo Junction Road, Greene county was fatally injured at 7:45 p. m. Monday when he was struck by a tractor-trailer as he attempted to cross the road at the junction of Cairo Junction Road and Route 23.

The driver of the vehicle, Jerry Allen Silversmith, 32, of Waterport, Orleans county, was traveling north on Route 32 when the vehicle struck the pedestrian with the left front. Silversmith was charged with having no log book and was taken before Justice of the Peace George Carl of the Town of Catskill where a $50 fine was imposed.

Coroner Henry Millsbaugh was summoned and Dr. Vincent F. Tuzio of Cairo pronounced the man dead.

The accident was investigated by Investigator Joseph Valicenti and Trooper M. P. Cannon of the Leeds sub-station.

March for Fun

LANCASTER, N.Y. (AP) — Approximately 100 high school pupils plan to march 1½ miles Wednesday "just because its spring."

"It must be understood that this is not a protest march of any type," seniors at Lancaster Central Senior High School said. "It is entirely for fun."

The pupils will march from the town hall to the school, and arrive in time for their first classes at 7:55 a.m.

Few Tickets Left For Whalen Fete

In making this announcement today Christus J. Larios, chairman of the sponsoring committee, said that the response has been excellent, but that a few more can be accommodated in the main dining room of the hotel.

Tickets can be obtained at the office of the Kingston Area Chamber of Commerce or by contacting any member of the committee, before Wednesday night. The sponsoring committee, representing various organizations and institutions with which Whalen was closely associated, in addition to Larios are George Rusk, Richard Kalish, Harry Kaprelian, Dr. Dale B. Lake, Clifford A. Henze, John F. Seideler and John Leberer.

An informal social hour starting at 6:15 will precede the dinner at 7:15.

Patient Transferred

The Fatum Ambulance service was summoned to the New York Thruway at 3:40 p. m. Monday to transfer a patient from a north-bound ambulance which had broken down while transferring a patient, H. W. Walk of 15 George Street, Green Island, to a Troy Hospital. Walk was taken to Kingston Hospital. The ambulance owned by the Troy Ambulance Service of 55 Earle Street, Troy, was en route from New Jersey to a Troy hospital and was reported to have been a new vehicle which "threw a rod." The accident occurred at mile post 95 just north of Kingston.

Seems Short of Real Crisis

Berlin Rumpus Has Artificial Look

AP Special Correspondent

The new rumpus over Berlin has an artificial, improvised look.

Fusses Every Few Years

Big fusses over Berlin come regularly every few years. In the past, the appearance of a Berlin crisis usually was a reflection of some sort of Soviet policy problem, domestic or foreign.

This time it is possible the East German Communists insisted something had to be done to challenge the West German Parliament's plan to meet in West Berlin Wednesday. But the East German interference with land and air traffic to the isolated city undoubtedly was undertaken with Soviet approval.

In each successive crisis, the Russians evidently have hoped to make some sort of permanent gain from sanctioning and supporting harassment of air and autobahn traffic. Each time they have pulled up short of the dangerous showdown with the United States and the West.

This time Soviet policy makers, who have not been accomplishing much recently, might see some advantages in carefully heating up the Berlin atmosphere, but the operative word is "carefully."

Since they have been barred from any really effective endeavors in the Far East because of Red Chinese hostility to Soviet influence there, the Russians have been focusing their attention on Western Europe and on attempts to exploit divisions in the North Atlantic Alliance.

No Spectacular Moves

The Kremlin has had much trouble in the world Communist movement. It has had difficulty keeping Communist East Europe in line. It has huge problems with its internal economy. It has made no spectacular moves on the world stage since the new regime took over from Nikita Khrushchev.

A Berlin fuss could demonstrate that the Kremlin's heart still is in expansion of Communist power.

But the Russians are unlikely to repeat the mistakes made by Stalin and Khrushchev. Stalin's mistake was a posture, so menacing that it pushed the West together into solid unity. Khrushchev's error was in biting off more than he could chew, so that he had to back away from his ultimatum to the West to get out of Berlin.

Thayer to Supervise H-T Radio Network

Appointment of Harry M. Thayer as administrative vice-president in charge of radio was announced Monday by Martin Stone, president of the Herald-Tribune radio network.

Thayer is now president of radio station WGHQ, and will continue to serve in that capacity, in addition to assuming overall jurisdiction of all Herald-Tribune stations.

Capitol News In Brief

WASHINGTON (AP) — The House has given unanimous approval to a million-dollar authorization for a new embassy in Saigon. It would replace the existing structure, bombed last week by Viet Cong terrorists.

Monday's roll-call vote was 378 to 0. The measure now goes to the Senate.

WASHINGTON (AP) — The House Banking Committee urged the United States and its trading partners today to enlarge and improve the international payments system "while there is still time."

The committee gave its views in a report approving legislation to increase the U.S. quota in the International Monetary Fund by $1,035,000,000.

The report said the increase would provide further assurance that this country could make more use of the fund if it wished to do so in solving its balance-of-payments problems.

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Atomic Energy Commission says an underground nuclear test blast was fired Monday in Nevada. It was the seventh test announced this year. Its blast force was described as of low-intermediate yield meaning 20,000 to 200,000 tons of TNT.

Seek Funds for Creek

WASHINGTON (AP) — Rep. Samuel S. Stratton, D-N.Y., says Army Engineers will seek funds for planning a flood control project at Sampson Creek in Seneca Falls, N.Y.

The Army announced that steps would be taken to survey the area and that a flood control project was possible within existing legislation.

Monday's roll-call vote was 378 to 0. The measure now goes to the Senate.

WASHINGTON (AP) — The House Banking Committee urged the United States and its trading partners today to enlarge and improve the international payments system "while there is still time."

The committee gave its views in a report approving legislation to increase the U.S. quota in the International Monetary Fund by $1,035,000,000.

The report said the increase would provide further assurance that this country could make more use of the fund if it wished to do so in solving its balance-of-payments problems.

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Atomic Energy Commission says an underground nuclear test blast was fired Monday in Nevada. It was the seventh test announced this year. Its blast force was described as of low-intermediate yield meaning 20,000 to 200,000 tons of TNT.

Seek Funds for Creek

WASHINGTON (AP) — Rep. Samuel S. Stratton, D-N.Y., says Army Engineers will seek funds for planning a flood control project at Sampson Creek in Seneca Falls, N.Y.

The Army announced that steps would be taken to survey the area and that a flood control project was possible within existing legislation.

AP Special Correspondent
The new rumpus over Berlin has an artificial, improvised look.

Fusses Every Few Years

Big fusses over Berlin come regularly every few years. In the past, the appearance of a Berlin crisis usually was a reflection of some sort of Soviet policy problem, domestic or foreign.

This time it is possible the East German Communists insisted something had to be done to challenge the West German Parliament's plan to meet in West Berlin Wednesday. But the East German interference with land and air traffic to the isolated city undoubtedly was undertaken with Soviet approval.

In each successive crisis, the Russians evidently have hoped to make some sort of permanent gain from sanctioning and supporting harassment of air and autobahn traffic. Each time they have pulled up short of the dangerous showdown with the United States and the West.

This time Soviet policy makers, who have not been accomplishing much recently, might see some advantages in carefully heating up the Berlin atmosphere, but the operative word is "carefully."

Since they have been barred from any really effective endeavors in the Far East because of Red Chinese hostility to Soviet influence there, the Russians have been focusing their attention on Western Europe and on attempts to exploit divisions in the North Atlantic Alliance.

No Spectacular Moves
The Kremlin has had much trouble in the world Communist movement. It has had difficulty keeping Communist East Europe in line. It has huge problems with its internal economy. It has made no spectacular moves on the world stage since the new regime took over from Nikita Khrushchev.

A Berlin fuss could demonstrate that the Kremlin's heart still is in expansion of Communist power. But the Russians are unlikely to repeat the mistakes made by Stalin and Khrushchev. Stalin's mistake was a posture, so menacing that it pushed the West together into solid unity. Khrushchev's error was in biting off more than he could chew, so that he had to back away from his ultimatum to the West to get out of Berlin.

In winter robins go as far south as Guatemala. Water snakes capture fish and frogs under water.

NEW YORK (AP) — Hollywood's annual spring rite — awarding gold-plated statuettes to its motion picture toppers — may not be the ideal television program but what it lacks in format and pace, it makes up in glamor, variety and suspense.

For two and one-half hours on ABC Monday night the television audience was turned into a body of star-gazers. When Bob Hope's jokes ran thin or when the Oscars were being passed out to winners in some technical category, there were always the women's dresses and hairdos to look at.

There was, however, considerable built-in drama to Monday night's awards.

There was a high moment when Audrey Hepburn, who was not nominated for an award, came forward to present the Oscar for the best performance by an actor to her "My Fair Lady" co-star, Rex Harrison.

It was followed immediately by the top actress award to Julie Andrews who had been passed over for the movie role she had created in the stage version of "My Fair Lady" but who was honored for her acting in "Mary Poppins."

The award to "My Fair Lady" as the best film of the year was almost an anticlimax.

The program, far too long, ran along quite briskly this year. Some extraneous entertainment could have been eliminated.

The most recent national Nielsen ratings, for the two-week period ending March 21, for the second time in a row put NBC in the lead in what is still a tight three-way race for audience popularity. NBC's average rating for the period was 21.1, followed by CBS with 19.7 and ABC with 18.6.

Top 10 programs, as listed by Nielsen, were Bonanza, a Danny Thomas special, Gomer Pyle, Bewitched, the Walt Disney Show, the Fugitive, Peyton Place (Thursday nights), the Lucy Show, the Andy Griffith Show and Beverly Hillsbillies, in that order.

Recommended tonight: "Terror in the streets," NBC, 10-11 (EST) — one of the "White Paper" series dealing with the prevalence of crime and violence.

Track Mortgage Holder Denies Concession Deal

ROCHESTER, N. Y. (AP)—A mortgage holder on New York State's Finger Lakes Race Track, testifying in a federal inquiry, says he has not had any dealings with the Nilon Brothers, Inc., of Chester, Pa., beverage concessionaires at the track.

The testimony came from Louis M. Jacobs, president of the Empire Corp. of Buffalo, a subsidiary of Jacobs Brothers, who has the program concession at the track and holds a $1.5 million mortgage against the track at 15 per cent interest.

Jacobs appeared before bankruptcy referee Austin Donovan, for questioning by Francis J. D'Amato, court-appointed trustee for the track, in an inquiry aimed at finding out whether concession contracts at Finger Lakes had been obtained competitively and whether they were beneficial to the track.

The Nilon firm was alleged to have obtained a track concession by paying $100,000, and Robert Nilon had testified earlier that gifts or other monetary inducements were almost a "universal practice" in obtaining concessions.

Jacobs said that to the best of his knowledge, he never had any dealings with the Nilon Brothers.

"What's the big idea of telling everybody I'm in a bad mood today?"

Health for All

Unwealthy, Unhealthy.

The neighborhood sick list was growing longer, inferior food, poor housing, crowded conditions were taking their toll in the community.

What community? It could have been one of a number — north, south, east or west — in which social investigators have been reporting "pockets of poverty" amid the general national well-being.

The ill effects of low income and slum housing on general health are no news to anyone. When it comes to an ailment like tuberculosis, poverty can play a vital part. The disease germ lodges in a victim's body and bides its time — perhaps for many years — until the general health level of the "host" has deteriorated to a point where active disease can gain a foothold.

Dr. James E. Perkins, managing director of the National Tuberculosis Association, said, "Progress will be slow in the battle against TB in the face of poverty and slum living conditions if we limit our efforts merely to the medical aspects." He was speaking in the context of a sobering TB case rate for 1963 — showing an increase of 31 of America's largest cities after a decade of general decline.

That disease-breeding poverty is everybody's problem is now generally recognized; that's why so many public and private programs keep getting organized to fight against it. In Nevada the State Tuberculosis and Health Association applied for—and received—an Anti-Poverty Act grant to raise the standard of life in one of its hard-hit communities and thereby combat disease.

TB isn't exclusively a disease of the disadvantaged; nobody, rich or poor, can reckon himself completely safe. But the records show a much higher disease rate

Sales Tax Plan Rocky's Blunder, Resnick Asserts

ELLENVILLE — "I consider the suggestion of a 2 per cent sales tax for the state of New York an incredible blunder on the part of Governor Rockefeller."

"The sales tax is regressive and places the burden of taxation on those who can least afford to bear it. It is inefficient and expensive to collect. It places an undue burden on business and might tend to drive business out of New York State."

"I am convinced that the fairest means of raising new taxes in New York would be an increase in the state income tax. The machinery already exists for collecting the income tax. Modification of the present income tax could provide adequate funds for carrying on needed state programs."

"This tax is just another tax work in our crazy quilt of taxes in New York State. We agree with the upstate Democrats who have refused to vote this tax. The present situation in New York State is due to the fact that they (the Republicans) chose the Democratic leaders and now refuse to support them."

Switch Wheeling For Income Stocks

Q) "In June 1956, I bought Wheeling Steel at 50 1/2 on a tip from a friend. It now sells at 62 and pays no dividend. My husband has developed a heart problem, and is unable to work too hard, so I need some income in addition to what we have. I would like to sell Wheeling Steel. Could you recommend a stock I could switch into that would pay a small dividend?" I could add another $2,500 to the proceeds of Wheeling Steel, if necessary." L.M.

A) I offer my sincere sympathy on your husband's heart condition. I think you are wise to sell Wheeling Steel, although shrewd industrialist Norton Simon has moved into this situation and may put it back on its feet in a few years.

I suggest you buy two good dividend paying stocks — Puget Sound Power & Light, yielding about 4 percent, and New England Tel. & Tel., offering a 4.5 percent return.

Q) "I read your column and you never mention series H bonds. You often talk about series E, but never series H. I have a pension and depend on interest from my series H bonds. Should I make a change?" H.L.

A) Please allow me to correct you. I have written a great many times about series H bonds and have advised them for those who need current income.

Both series E and H pay the same return — 3 1/2 percent — if held to maturity. The security is identical — that of the U.S. Government. Series E bonds accrue interest until maturity or prior redemption.

They are sold at a discount and mature at par and Federal income taxes may be deferred until maturity. Series H bonds pay interest by check from the Treasury every 6 months and Federal income tax must be paid on the interest for the year in which it is received.

I advise you very strongly to hold your H bonds which seem eminently suited to your needs.

AT GOP SEMINAR—Mrs. Raymond LeFever, vice chairman of the Ulster County Republican Committee, confers with former Vice President Richard M. Nixon at a four day meeting of GOP officials in Washington. She acted as official greeter of Mr. Nixon at a meeting of the Federation of Republican Women. During the meeting she spoke at length with Mr. Nixon who told her that Republican women "work harder, lose harder, but they never give up." At the seminar those attending heard addresses by Barry M. Goldwater, Senate Minority Leader Everett Dirksen and new national chairman, Ray Bliss. Assemblyman Kenneth L. Wilson, county chairman, said that Mrs. LeFever had brought back a wealth of information which will be most helpful in planning local strategy for the coming elections.

Zoning Building

sulted with a licensed engineer and land surveyor and was advised that since all roads and on-site developments in the project would be a "self-contained and maintained complex," approval of the Town Planning Board would not be required as the streets were not deemed to be installed in accordance with town specifications.

Two months later the town's planning consultant, Robert W. Mickie, who has since resigned, advised the planning board that while there was a question of jurisdiction, it was his personal opinion that the planning board had something to say over the proposed Sunset Garden development. He said that because of such features as use of the town's water system, building of a common sewage system, provision for only one access and the laying out of service roads which are, in effect, private streets, that the Planning Board could very well have jurisdiction over the development.

Mickie said he based his opinion on his interpretation of the Board's Subdivision Regulations and on Article 16 of the Town Law to which those subdivision regulations refer.

He said that he believed that proposed extension of Pine Place beyond its limits at that time, as a town road, constituted the laying out of a new street, and that the developer's plan showed a main service drive to be laid out from the Pine Place extension onto the site. He said that Article 16, Section 278 of the Town Law "recognizes the fact that certain roads or drives may be 'private streets' and provides that a notation may be made by the owner that they are to remain in a private ownership status. Nevertheless," he said, "the Planning Board still has the right to review such private street."

Mickie also told the board that Section 1 of the Subdivision Regulations provided that the planning board shall have the power to "approve plats (a plan for developing a piece of undeveloped property) showing new lots, blocks or sites, with or without streets." He said that he felt that this provision was an expansion of earlier powers granted by state law which allowed only approval of plats if they showed a new street, and that the reason for such an expansion of power was given "to enable planning boards to provide for proper on-site development."

ment of such items as water lines, sewage systems, access and parking layout, etc."

Suggests Review Power

The former planning consultant said further that in his experience over the last 12 years as a planner with local planning boards and various town attorneys, it was "my understanding that the standards for plat approval are intended to provide the Planning Board with review power over new building developments."

Meanwhile, The Freeman reported that while the Town Planning Board gave Cunningham only tentative approval of his proposed development providing for another access road and a change in location of certain buildings, active protest to the development was being registered by a number of Sunset Park residents—particularly in the Pine Place area—and that petitions to that effect were being circulated.

The residents strongly protested Cunningham's preliminary plan calling for use of the north end of Pine Place as sole access road and that to accommodate traffic from the new development streets would have to be widened, and thus front lawn areas would have to be cut considerably.

Pine Place residents similarly objected to failure of the developer to include an extension of Van Keuren Highway as a primary or secondary access. They claimed that since many tenants of the complex would likely be employed by nearby IBM, Pine Place residents would be subject to excessive traffic noise and the lives and safety of their children would be jeopardized by the increased volume of cars using the road. They also argued that the plan would alter the entire character of Sunset Park.

Edward J. Devine, town planning board chairman, said that the "safety of all the town residents was a main concern" of planning boards. He said that the developer had agreed to extend a proposed area of 50,000 feet in an "open area" — that area providing for playground and recreational space — to 60,000 feet.

Sunset Park residents, meantime, insisted that the danger was still prevalent that if the development is realized as planned that their children would be exposed to excess traffic.

Next — Residential protest mounts, public hearing is called and Planning Board issues rejection notice — while construction continues and title changes hands.

Financial and Commercial

NEW YORK (AP) — The stock market moved irregularly as trading slackened early this afternoon.

Gains and losses of most key stocks were fractional.

Uncertainty about the situation in Viet Nam, Berlin and Britain was said to be one factor in the uncertain market. Another was the approach of the April 15 income tax deadline, with many investors facing the necessity of raising cash to make up for underwithheld earnings.

The trend was a little lower among autos, rails, and steels. Rubbers, aerospace issues, cigarettes gained a bit. The picture was mixed among building materials, oils and electronics.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks at noon was unchanged, with industrials, rails and utilities all unchanged. The stock market stalemate was further illustrated by Standard & Poor's 500-stock index which at noon was unchanged at 86.53.

The Dow Jones industrial average, however, showed a trifling loss of .79 at 892.44.

Action on Career Pay by Council Tonight Uncertain

Whether or not any action would be taken at tonight's Common Council meeting on the question of the proposed career plans for police and firemen remained a matter of speculation today, although two unsigned resolutions were filed at least a week ago calling for funds for the plans.

The resolutions, aimed at providing $47,076 in career plan boosts for the fire and police departments, were filed with City Clerk Walter S. Foster.

Although they were unsigned, the resolutions asked that the money be set aside for such sums which may exist, or may come into the city's general fund, to implement the plans.

Officials of the Kingston Uniformed Fire Fighters' Association, Local 461, said at the time that they were "pleased" to learn that the resolutions had been pre-filed and referred to the resolution on their behalf as a "continuation of the joint efforts of Alderman Raymond Armeter (R-11th Ward) and Donald Hucker (R-4th Ward) in obtaining a career plan for Kingston's fire fighters."

The fire fighters also said that the January meeting of the Common Council indicated that 12 of the city's 13 aldermen (the 5th Ward was not represented due to the court battle over the aldermanic appointment) favored a career plan for both the fire fighters and police.

The new resolution, in effect, would set funds at $23,580 which had been requested by the Board of Fire Commissioners from general funds which might be forthcoming through the action of the Council's Finance Committee, which is currently seeking ways of raising additional revenue to implement the career plans.

Martorana Keeps Up Fight With Newcombe on Support

Plattekill Supervisor Joseph Martorana, the Ulster County candidate seeking the Republican nomination for state senator, today continued his criticism of the methods being used by his opponent to draw support from Ulster County Republican committeemen.

Last week Lloyd Newcombe of Greene County charged that Martorana was leveling a highly personal attack against the party leadership of Ulster County and that Martorana was aiming to divide the party. Calling such charges false, unfair and hitting below-the-belt, Martorana added: "The record over the years will show that on many and many occasions I have demonstrated my loyalty and dedication to the Republican Party and its leadership. When necessary too I have taken the initiative to defend and to unify the party and to actively work for its victory at the polls."

Charges Division

"Conversely," Martorana continued, "the record will show that only last year it was Mr. Newcombe from Greene County who leveled a highly personal attack against the Republican Party leadership of Ulster County. It was also Mr. Newcombe who divided the Republican Party by creating a senatorial primary fight. And it was also Mr. Newcombe," the Plattekill supervisor added, "who attempted to lose the primary fight pledged in words, his loyalty and support to the victorious Republican nominee and then waited for the results to show that the Republicans lost Ulster County in the senatorial race—thanks to Mr. Newcombe. This is Mr. Newcombe's Republican Record for Ulster County."

Summarizing his latest criticism of Newcombe's tactics, Martorana stated, "It is all very apparent now that Mr. Newcombe is attempting to use the good name of the Ulster County chairman for selfish political gain. In so doing he is also attempting to convey the false image that I am working against the party—a skill he is well versed in. What I am sincerely trying to do at this stage of my candidacy is to preserve within the Republican Party the image that we are a party of the people and that our strength and success lies in accepting grass-roots sentiment from the rank and file. I am hopeful that I can prevail in my efforts."

Points to Service

Martorana concluded his statement by saying that if an election for state senator is held this year, he is interested in winning in November not September. "Party loyalty and party dedication and service are essential parts of the ingredients that make a good candidate and a good state senator. However, proven legislative ability and a record of public service to all the people are equally important," Martorana stated. He added, "If the Republican Party is to appeal to all citizens, then it should pick candidates who have publicly served all citizens."

Martorana has twice been elected Plattekill supervisor by heavy majorities in a previous Democratic town. Before his election as supervisor in 1961, he served as deputy clerk of the Board of Supervisors and assistant county budget officer. Martorana has also served for three years on various legislative staffs of the State Legislature both in the assembly and in the senate. Throughout the years he has also served in many capacities with civic, fraternal and charitable organizations. Martorana is continuing his meetings with city and town committees.

Execution Postponed

Vietnamese authorities at Da Nang, 380 miles north of Saigon, postponed until Thursday the public execution of a Viet Cong terrorist. They said the prisoner was giving information about Communist activities in the Da Nang area.

The terrorist, Le Dau, 24, was captured Sunday night in the Grand Hotel in downtown Da Nang. He had 2 1/2 pounds of plastic explosives concealed in a transistor radio. He was to have been executed today.

There were reports that the Viet Cong was planning a terror campaign in Saigon, using booby-trapped fountain pens, cigarette lighters and radios. Several such objects have been picked up recently.

After Bomb Targets Bomb squads rushed Monday night to the U.S. AID mission headquarters after several batteries of a type that could be used to detonate bombs were found buried on the grounds. No explosives were found.

U.S. authorities in Washington indicated American bombers will be hitting more hard-to-rebuild targets in North Viet Nam in the days ahead.

Over the weekend key rail and highway bridges and a steam power plant were bombed.

He said that because of such features as use of the town's water system, building of a common sewage system, provision for only one access and the laying out of service roads which are, in effect, private streets, that the Planning Board could very well have jurisdiction over the development.

Mickle said he based his opinion on his interpretation of the Board's Subdivision Regulations and on Article 16 of the Town Law to which those subdivision regulations refer.

He said that he believed that proposed extension of Pine Place beyond its limits at that time, as a town road, constituted the laying out of a new street, and that the developer's plan showed a main service drive to be laid out from the Pine Place extension onto the site. He said that Article 16, section 278 of the Town Law "recognizes the fact that certain roads or drives may be 'private streets' and provides that a notation may be made by the owner that they are to remain in a private ownership status. Nevertheless," he said, "the Planning Board still has the right to review such private street."

Mickle also told the board that Section 1 of the Subdivision Regulations provided that the planning board shall have the power to "approve plats (a plan for developing a piece of undeveloped property) showing new lots, blocks or sites, with or without streets." He said that he felt that this provision was an expansion of earlier powers granted by state law which allowed only approval of plats if they showed a new street, and that the reason for such an expansion of power was given "to enable planning boards to provide for proper on-site development."

Suggests R-view Power

The former planning consultant said further that in his experience over the past 12 years as a planner with local planning boards and various town attorneys, it was "my understanding that the standards for plat approval are intended to provide the Planning Board with review power over new building developments."

Meanwhile, The Freeman reported that while the Town Planning Board gave Cunningham only tentative approval of his proposed development providing for another access road and a change in location of certain buildings, active protest to the development was being registered by a number of Sunset Park residents—particularly in the Pine Place area—and that petitions to that effect were being circulated.

The residents strongly protested Cunningham's preliminary plan calling for use of the north end of Pine Place as sole access road and that to accommodate traffic from the new development streets would have to be widened, and thus front lawn areas would have to be cut considerably.

Pine Place residents similarly objected to failure of the developer to include an extension of Van Keuren Highway as a primary or secondary access. They claimed that since many tenants of the complex would likely be employed by nearby IBM, Pine Place residents would be subject to excessive traffic noise and the lives and safety of their children would be jeopardized by the increased volume of cars using the road. They also argued that the plan would alter the entire character of Sunset Park.

Edward J. Devine, town planning board chairman, said that the "safety of all the town residents was a main concern" of planning boards. He said that the developer had agreed to extend a proposed area of 50,000 feet in an "open area" — that area providing for playground and recreational space — to 60,000 feet.

Sunset Park residents, meantime, insisted that the danger was still prevalent that if the development is realized as planned that their children would be exposed to excess traffic.

Next — Residential protest mounts, public hearing is called and Planning Board issues rejection notice — while construction continues and title changes hands.

hospitals, church properties, clubs and service organizations. The purpose of the inspection program is in line with the Rating Organization's continuing effort to maintain up-to-date information in its rating files.

"Upon completion of the inspection, the information gathered by the inspectors will be utilized by the Rating Organization in the checking or rates applicable to individual properties."

The inspection team has registered with local municipal authorities and will, in all instances, readily identify themselves.

"The New York Fire Insurance Rating Organization is a non-profit service organization, supported and operated by a majority of the companies who transact the business of writing fire and allied lines of insurance in New York State. Financial and Commercial

NEW YORK (AP)—The stock market moved irregularly as trading slackened early this afternoon.

Gains and losses of most key stocks were fractional.

Uncertainty about the situation in Viet Nam, Berlin and Britain was said to be one factor in the uncertain market. Another was the approach of the April 15 income tax deadline, with many investors facing the necessity of raising cash to make up for underwithheld earnings.

The trend was a little lower among autos, rails, and steels. Rubbers, aerospace issues, cigarettes gained a bit. The picture was mixed among building materials, oils and electronics.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks at noon was unchanged, with industrials, rails and utilities all unchanged.

The stock market stalemate was further illustrated by Standard & Poor's 500-stock index which at noon was unchanged at 86.53.

The Dow Jones industrial average, however, showed a trifling loss of .79 at 892.44.

Action on Career Pay by Council Tonight Uncertain

Whether or not any action would be taken at tonight's Common Council meeting on the question of the proposed career plans for police and firemen remained a matter of speculation today, although two unsigned resolutions were filed at least a week ago calling for funds for the plans.

The resolutions, aimed at providing $47,076 in career plan boosts for the fire and police departments, were filed with City Clerk Walter S. Foster.

Although they were unsigned, the resolutions asked that the money be set aside for such sums which may exist, or may come into the city's general fund, to implement the plans.

Officials of the Kingston Unified Fire Fighter's Association, Local 461, said at the time that they were "pleased" to learn that the resolutions had been pre-filed and referred to the resolution on their behalf as a "continuation of the joint efforts of Alderman Raymond Armeter (R-11th Ward) and Donald Hucker (R-4th Ward) in obtaining a career plan for Kingston's fire fighters."

The fire fighters also said that the January meeting of the Common Council indicated that 12 of the city's 13 aldermen (the 5th Ward was not represented due to the court battle over the aldermanic appointment) favored a career plan for both the fire fighters and police.

The new resolution, in effect, would set funds at $23,580 which had been requested by the Board of Fire Commissioners from general funds which might be forthcoming through the action of the Council's Finance Committee, which is currently seeking ways of raising additional revenue to implement the career plans.

Martorana Keeps Up Fight With Newcombe on Support

Plattekill Supervisor Joseph Martorana, the Ulster County candidate seeking the Republican nomination for state senator, today continued his criticism of the methods being used by his opponent to draw support from Ulster County Republican committee.

Last week Lloyd Newcombe of Greene County charged that Martorana was leveling a highly personal attack against the party leadership of Ulster County and that Martorana was aiming to divide the party. Calling such charges false, unfair and hitting below-the-belt, Martorana added: "The record over the years will show that on many and many occasions I have demonstrated my loyalty and dedication to the Republican Party and its leadership. When necessary too I have taken the initiative to defend and to unify the party and to work for its victory at the polls."

Charges Division

"Conversely," Martorana continued, "the record will show that only last year it was Mr. Newcombe from Greene County who leveled a highly personal attack against the Republican Party leadership of Ulster County. It was also Mr. Newcombe who divided the Republican Party by creating a senatorial primary fight. And it was also Mr. Newcombe," the Plattekill supervisor added, "who after losing the primary fight pledged, in words, his loyalty and support to the victorious Republican nominee and then waited for the results to show that the Republicans lost Ulster County in the senatorial race—thanks to Mr. Newcombe. This is Mr. Newcombe's Republican Record for Ulster County."

Summarizing his latest criticism of Newcombe's tactics, Martorana stated, "It is all very apparent now that Mr. Newcombe is attempting to 'use' the good name of the Ulster County chairman for selfish political gain. In so doing he is also attempting to convey the false image that I am working against the party—a skill he is well versed in. What I am sincerely trying to do at this stage of my candidacy is to preserve within the Republican Party the image that we are a party of the people and that our strength and success lies in accepting grassroots sentiment from the rank and file. I am hopeful that I can prevail in my efforts."

Points to Service

Martorana concluded his statement by saying that if an election for state senator is held this year, he is interested in winning in November not September. "Party loyalty and party dedication and service are essential parts of the ingredients that make a good candidate and a good state senator. However, proven legislative ability and a record of public service to 'all' the people are equally important," Martorana stated. He added, "If the Republican Party is to appeal to 'all' citizens, then it should pick candidates who have publicly served 'all' citizens."

Martorana has twice been elected Plattekill supervisor by heavy majorities in a previous Democratic town. Before his election as supervisor in 1961, he served as deputy clerk of the Board of Supervisors and assistant county budget officer. Martorana has also served for three years on various legislative staffs of the State Legislature both in the assembly and in the senate. Throughout the years he has also served in many capacities with civic, fraternal and charitable organizations. Martorana is continuing his meetings with city and town committees.

Execution Postponed

Vietnamese authorities at Da Nang, 380 miles north of Saigon, postponed until Thursday the public execution of a Viet Cong terrorist. They said the prisoner was giving information about Communist activities in the Da Nang area.

The terrorist, Le Dau, 24, was captured Sunday night in the Grand Hotel in downtown Da Nang. He had 2 1/2 pounds of plastic explosives concealed in a transistor radio. He was to have been executed today.

There were reports that the Viet Cong was planning a terror campaign in Saigon, using booby-trapped fountain pens, cigarette lighters and radios. Several such objects have been picked up recently.

After Big Targets

Bomb squads rushed Monday night to the U.S. AID mission headquarters after several batteries of a type that could be used to detonate bombs were found buried on the grounds. No explosives were found.

U.S. authorities in Washington indicated American bombers will be hitting more hard-to-rebuild targets in North Viet Nam in the days ahead.

Over the weekend key rail and highway bridges and a steam power plant were bombed.

Chicago Resident Arrested Again In Cage Scandal

CHICAGO (AP)—FBI agents have arrested, for the second time, Chicago night club manager Leo Enrico Casale.

The FBI has accused the 24-year-old Casale of being involved with a point-shaving scandal that resulted in the expulsion of three Seattle University basketball players.

Agents arrested Casale Feb. 17 on a Seattle warrant charging him with attempting to bribe Seattle University players to shave points in their Jan. 22 game. That day Seattle beat the University of Idaho 89-72.

And in the second arrest Monday, they accused Casale and Joseph Frank Polito, 33, of writing a phony check against an Everett, Mass., bank. The FBI said Polito used the $298.93 check to buy a round-trip plane ticket to Pullman, Wash., for "Karl T. Zuger."

Casale registered in a Moscow, Idaho, hotel during the trip as "Karl T. Zuger," agents said.

Today, Casale was free on a $25,000 recognizance bond in the Seattle University scandal which resulted in the expulsion of team captain Charles Williams and reserve guard Peller Phillips Jr. Casale and Polito were each free on additional $5,000 cash bonds on charges of causing a fraudulent check to cross state lines.

Bribery charges against teammates Williams and Phillips have been dropped and they have been subpoenaed to testify before a federal grand jury which convenes Wednesday.

Williams and Phillips were expelled for failure to report a bribe attempt.

Casale is to answer the point-shaving warrant April 9 in U.S. District Court Seattle. His and Polito's arraignment on the bad-check charge has been continued to April 20 in Chicago before a U.S. commissioner.

India Leaders Dislike Eating On United States

BY DAN COGGIN

NEW DELHI, India (AP)—Indians are eating on the American cuff these days and many don't like it.

Despite India's severe food shortages and admitted inability to feed itself, the Indian government is under attack for seeking two more years of massive imports of U.S. wheat amounting to 20,000 tons a day.

India is heavily dependent on supplies of American grain under the Food for Peace Program. American experts don't expect this nation of 480 million will be any closer to self-sufficiency in food 10 years from now.

Yet the strange controversy rages in Parliament, the press and the market place over whether to go on accepting food aid from the United States.

Some leading figures in Prime Minister Lal Bahadur Shastri's ruling Congress party have joined the onslaught. Mrs. Vijayalakshmi Pandit, sister of the late Prime Minister Jawaharlal Nehru, has said:

"If we wait for the next food crisis and the great ships sailing to bring relief to us, we shall be a broken people."

Mrs. Pandit's fears of a "broken people" focus on a major argument against U.S. food assistance: that Indians may be lulled into a dependent attitude, a false security, and not try hard enough to solve the food dilemma by boosting their own farm output.

Driver Loses Control

When an infant seated between the driver and a passenger in a car operated by Helen Davidson, 18, of Woodbourne, attempted to reach for the wheel, the operator lost control as she reached for the child and the car ran off the highway into the ditch. Sandra Caston, 24, the passenger complained of side pains and sought treatment by her own physician in Ellenville. The child or driver was not injured. Trooper R. P. Peffley of the Ellenville sub-station reported the car operated by Helen Davidson was proceeding west on Route 52, two miles west of Ellenville when the accident occurred at 3:20 p. m. Monday.

Testimonial Set For CSEA Head

A testimonial dinner will be held at 7 p. m. on Wednesday, April 28, at Elmer's Inn, Ruby, for James P. Martin, president of the Civil Service Employees Association, Ulster County Chapter.

Martin was a lieutenant on the Kingston Police Force for over 37 years and has been president of the local CSEA Chapter for 13 years. He was born in Kingston March 16, 1885 and has always resided here. He married the former Gertrude Dittus and they had seven children all of whom reside in this area. Martin has been residing with his daughter and son-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Harold DeGraff of 48 Smith Avenue, Kingston, since the death of his wife more than a year ago.

Joseph Kelly, alderman-at-large for several years, will act as toastmaster at the dinner. There will be music, dancing and free refreshments.

Tickets may be obtained from Dorothy Lacey, ticket chairman, of 226 Wall Street; Leon Studt of 59 South Manor Avenue; Albert Ochner of 17 Augusta Street; Margaret Carle of 145 Greenkill Avenue; Harold DeGraff of 48 Smith Avenue; and Martin Kelly of 86 Spring Street. Tickets may be obtained at any time from the Board of Public Works Office.

In each corner of a new house, Hopi Indians put a piece of cactus to give the house "roots."

Career Conclave Slated Thursday At Paltz School

Thursday evening April 8, at 7:30 in the New Paltz High School, all Ulster County will sponsor a county-wide career conference.

All students in grades 9 through 12, with their parents may attend. A dinner will precede the conference, at which time the representatives of the various careers will meet with all Ulster County guidance personnel to begin the Career Night Program.

Among the vocations which will be represented are the following:

Miss Phyllis Bulgatz, physical therapist with the United Cerebral Palsy Association of Ulster County, Kingston, will represent physical therapy.

Maxine Agnew, speech therapist at Ulster County Cerebral Palsy Center, Kingston, will represent speech therapy.

Mrs. George A. Kirk, dental hygienist with Dr. Rodney W. Ball, Saugerties, will represent the dental hygienist field.

Mrs. Helen B. Hildebrandt, school nurse teacher in the Saugerties Central School, will discuss professional nursing.

Walter Sidney Van Der Bent, consulting engineer in the fields of mechanical, electrical, structural, civil engineering for the State of New York, will represent mechanical engineering.

Robert P. Slover, millwork manager of the Miron Building Company, Poughkeepsie, will speak about all related vocations in carpentry.

David DeG. Smith, vice president and divisional merchandise manager of Luckey, Platt & Company, Poughkeepsie, will discuss opportunities in retailing and store work.

Among the representatives of the U. S. Armed Forces will be Robert A. Milling U. S. Air Force Recruiting Representative; William C. Keaton, M.M.C., and John M. Gibbons, M.M.C.S., Navy Recruiting Representatives, and Edward F. Malenski, Sgt. 1st Class, Army Chief Recruiter, Ulster County.

Students have been able to select several vocations which concern their interest and will be given admission tickets to speak to these representatives prior to the conference.

Miss Frances A. Larned, president of the Ulster County Guidance Association, with the assistance of Edward H. Stearns, director of guidance in Marlboro Central School, and Thomas Benenati, director of guidance in New Paltz High School, have served as chief coordinators for this event.

Sales-Tax Plan Is Up For Showdown Vote

BY ROBERT T. GRAY
ALBANY, N.Y. (AP) — Gov. Rockefeller's hotly debated sales-tax plan was before the Senate for a showdown vote today but marked for almost certain defeat in its present, sweeping form.

Democratic leaders, fighting to win approval for the bill, agreed to one concession—elimination of the tax on haircuts and beauty parlor services. They indicated they would make further compromises to win votes.

And Republicans were reported still at work on their curtailed sales-tax plan, preparing to offer it as a means of breaking the impasse caused by the split in Democratic ranks.

The state was in the sixth day of the new fiscal year without a budget as the maneuvering continued.

Paychecks are scheduled to go out Wednesday to 50,000 state workers employed in institutions but will not be mailed unless a budget is passed or emergency legislation authorizing the pay is enacted.

The dispute centers on Rockefeller's proposal for a 2 per cent statewide sales tax on retail purchases and a wide range of services. It would raise $330 million in the current fiscal year and is the key to balancing the new budget, which calls for $547 million in new spending.

A public hearing on possible revenue substitutes for the sales tax ended Monday with no sign of legislative agreement on a plan of alternatives.

Zaretzki, speaking for himself and Assembly Speaker Anthony J. Travia, told reporters the hearing had convinced him that "thinking people feel the sales tax is the lesser of two evils."

He estimated that elimination of the proposed tax on hair cuts and beauty-shop services would cost $3.7 million this year in revenues, which would take effect Aug. 1, and $6.5-million on a full-year basis.

The 25 - member Republican minority remained publicly firm through Monday night in its opposition to a sales tax on the ground that GOP lawmakers would not support new levies while Upstate Democrats maintained an anti-tax position.

The Democratic split reflected the division of the party's leadership struggle that prevented organization of the Legislature for a month.

CELEBRATE 70TH ANNIVERSARY—An open house reception for 60 people was given Sunday afternoon to celebrate the 70th wedding anniversary of Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Ostrander of 54 Hurley Avenue. Mrs. Ostrander is 90 years old and her husband is 92. Formerly from Old West Hurley, the couple have been residents of Kingston for 55 years. Retired for many years, Mr. Ostrander was formerly employed by Mohican Market on John Street. The Ostranders have two children, Mrs. Joseph Hughes of the same address and Norwood Ostrander of Hillcrest Avenue. Their grandchildren are Mrs. E. Ronald Rifenburg, Mrs. David Van Etten, both of Elmendorf Tract, Hurley, Allan and Susan Ostrander of Hillcrest Avenue. They have five great grandchildren. (Freeman photo)

4-H Club News

High School Seniors Attend College Panel

Miss Mary Littlejohn, office of admissions, New Paltz University College moderated a panel of college students with 4-H backgrounds before an audience of 4-H high school seniors during an "After High School, What?" tea and jamboree held at Williams Lake, Rosendale, recently. Some parents were also present.

The panel was made up of Miss Charlene Meyer, a freshman at Syracuse University, majoring in forestry; Mrs. Patricia Hoppe, a sophomore, Ulster County Community College, majoring in teaching; and Peter Gippert, junior, Ithaca College, pursuing a degree in television and radio.

Numerous were the areas and experiences discussed. The high school seniors were so interested in knowing what it was like to go to college; how to select a major field; how to get along socially; what college professors and instructors were like; can you choose a roommate, and if not, what are the rules for getting along with a stranger? They also wanted to know how grades were issued and how much did they count; how can you be assured of pleasing your instructors and do you have to go along with the crowd in order to be accepted.

The group dispersed on a note of great expectation as Miss Littlejohn challenged them to go forth, make a few mistakes, stub a toe even but profit by these errors and seek even more diligently to find a way to contribute to life's process and promote happiness within themselves and others. After the meeting she distributed brochures on higher education and presented the group with a copy of the award winning yearbook, Paltzian '64.

This tea and jamboree proved to be the type of program that serves a definite purpose and efforts will be made to further utilize the resources of former 4-H members who are back in the county during spring vacation.

Crafts Week Slated At Military Academy

A special program will be presented at West Point during the period 11-17 April designated by the Special Services Division as Crafts Week.

Plans for the week include a sports car show, outdoor art show and sale, woodturning demonstration and exhibit of projects made at the Crafts Shop.

The sports car show will be held in building 622 and will be open to the public from 2 p. m. until 10 p. m. during the entire week. Major automobile companies will display latest model sports cars.

The outdoor art show and sale will be held on Saturday, April 17, in the Crafts Shop area. Paintings and drawings will be displayed outside the Crafts Shop, Indoor Rifle Range, and throughout the entire area. Ceramics and three-dimensional works will also be exhibited in this area and in the Crafts Shop.

The woodturning demonstration on the new variable speed wood lathe will be presented by one of the major tool manufacturing companies.

Births

The city registrar recorded 158 births in March. This was 26 more than in February, and three more than in March, 1964.

Births recorded recently:

March 24—Darlene Jo to Mr. and Mrs. Lionel Coddington, 50 Hunter Street.

March 29—Charles Cudworth Jr. to Mr. and Mrs. C. C. Mason, Yankeetown Pond Road, Bearsville.

March 30—Thomas Michael to Mr. and Mrs. John Geza Krupp, Ohayo Mountain Road, Woodstock.

Food Sales

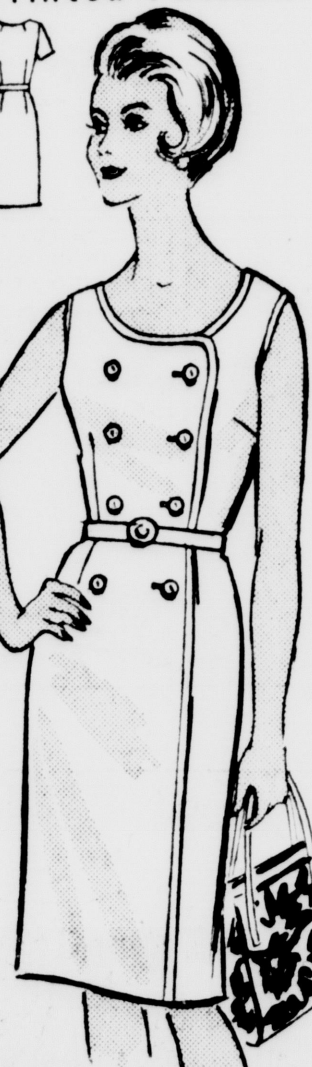

There will be a food sale April 17, 10 a. m., at the Corner Store (formerly Elmendorf's Market) sponsored by the Ladies Auxiliary American Legion Post 1512, Stone Ridge.

The food sale is being held specifically for the purpose of raising money to buy new flags for the Post that were destroyed in the fire last spring. The flags are needed for the parade Memorial Day. Any help from the public in the community as far as donating towards the sale and their patronage will be appreciated.

Fetes Master Masons

Kingston Chapter 155, Order of the Eastern Star, honored the Master Masons on Friday night with Worthy Matron, Marian Radcliffe, presiding. The Worthy Matron read a poem called "April" written by Brother Fred Richter, who is now 98 years old and is Roundout Lodge 343 guest at the Masonic Home in Utica. It was a fitting tribute to the first meeting in April and on the Master Mason's night.

Rt. Worshipful Frank Strobel escorted and presented to the East the heads of the Masonic bodies, who were accompanied by more than 60 Master Masons. Included were: Rt. Worshipful Brother Fred Van Deusen, Grand Steward of the Grand Lodge of the state of New York; Worshipful Master Ralph Travis, Kingston Lodge No. 10; Brother Leon Milkofsky, Senior Warden, representing W. Master J. Wesley Drake, Roundout Lodge No. 343; Worshipful Brother Howard Whitaker, A.G.L. Greens-Elster District, State of New York; Sir Knight Albert Hoebush, Em. Commandery, Roundout Commandery; Ex-Companion Lemuel Boice, Master Mt. Horeb Chapter, R.&S.M.; Companion Donald Bowra representing III. Master Sidney Far, Ancient City Council, III. Companion Walter Lawrence, A.G.L. Ancient and Select Masters; Brother Peter Stokette, President, Kingston Lodge Craftsmen Club No. 10; Brother Myron Rowe, vice president, representing Brother Felix Nettleton, president of the Roundout Craftsmen Club No. 343; and Brother Milton Makowski, president of Ulster County Shrine Club.

The Worthy Patron George Radcliffe greeted the Master Masons with a poem, "Last Night I Knew Where Iram Knew." A humorous degree, "King Solomon Had His Troubles, Too" was given by the officers of the Star. A special feature of the evening was a lecture with slides on the Honey Bee by C. Edward Rowe. Every one was given the opportunity to see a working hive of bees.

Mr. Rowe, with the help of his wife, and his son Myron, keeps many Apiaries from the upper St. Lawrence River to the southern Hudson River Valley in quest of a fine quality of honey. Mr. Rowe explained that a Moses Quimby of Coxsack, N. Y., who died in 1875, was the first to start this type of commercial beekeeping in the Hudson Valley and in 1852 a Rev. Lorenzo Langstroth, after studying bees and their habits invented the movable-type hive which is standard equipment today.

Other guests presented were the Rt. Worthy Robert Greene, Grand Lecturer of the Greene-Elster District O.E.S. and Sister Edna Bink, president, Ulster County Nile Club.

The Worthy Matron announced the next card party will be May 8, and the annual bazaar will be held June 5. The next meeting on April 16 will be dedicated to the Easter season.

After the meeting, a covered dish supper was served in the dining room decorated with a bee theme.

High School Seniors Attend College Panel

Miss Mary Littlejohn, office of admissions, New Paltz University College moderated a panel of college students with 4-H backgrounds before an audience of 4-H high school seniors during an "After High School, What?" tea and jamboree held at Williams Lake, Rosendale, recently. Some parents were also present.

The panel was made up of Miss Charlene Meyer, a freshman at Syracuse University, majoring in forestry; Mrs. Patricia Hoppe, a sophomore, Ulster County Community College, majoring in teaching; and Peter Gippert, junior, Ithaca College, pursuing a degree in television and radio.

Numerous were the areas and experiences discussed. The high school seniors were so interested in knowing what it was like to go to college; how to select a major field; how to get along socially; what college professors and instructors were like; can you choose a roommate, and if not, what are the rules for getting along with a stranger? They also wanted to know how grades were issued and how much did they cost; how can you be assured of pleasing your instructors and do you have to go along with the crowd in order to be accepted.

The group dispersed on a note of great expectation as Miss Littlejohn challenged them to go forth, make a few mistakes, stub a toe even but profit by these errors and seek even more diligently to find a way to contribute to life's process and promote happiness within themselves and others. After the meeting she distributed brochures on higher education and presented the group with a copy of the award winning yearbook, Palzonia '64.

This tea and jamboree proved to be the type of program that serves a definite purpose and efforts will be made to further utilize the resources of former 4-H members who are back in the county during spring vacation.

Crafts Week Slated At Military Academy

A special program will be presented at West Point during the period 11-17 April designated by the Special Services Division as Crafts Week.

Plans for the week include a sports car show, outdoor art show and sale, woodturning demonstration and exhibit of projects made at the Crafts Shop.

The sports car show will be held in building 622 and will be open to the public from 2 p. m. until 10 p. m. during the entire week. Major automobile companies will display latest model sports cars.

The outdoor art show and sale will be held on Saturday, April 17, in the Craft Shop area. Paintings and drawings will be displayed outside the Crafts Shop, Indoor Rifle Range, and throughout the entire area. Ceramics and three-dimensional works will also be exhibited in this area and in the Crafts Shop.

The woodturning demonstration on the new variable speed wood lathe will be presented by one of the major tool manufacturing companies.

Births

The city registrar recorded 158 births in March. This was 26 more than in February, and three more than in March, 1964.

Births recorded recently:

March 24—Darlene Jo to Mr. and Mrs. Lionel Coddington, 50 Hunter Street.

March 29—Charles Cudworth Jr. to Mr. and Mrs. C. C. Mason, Yankee Town Pond Road, Bearsville.

March 30—Thomas Michael to Mr. and Mrs. John Geza Krupp, Ohayo Mountain Road, Woodstock.

March 31—Elizabeth Mary to Mr. and Mrs. Frank Salvatore Ottaviano, 22 Grand Street, Highland, and Brian Thomas to Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Patrick Bannon, Vans Court, Lake Katrine.

Food Sales

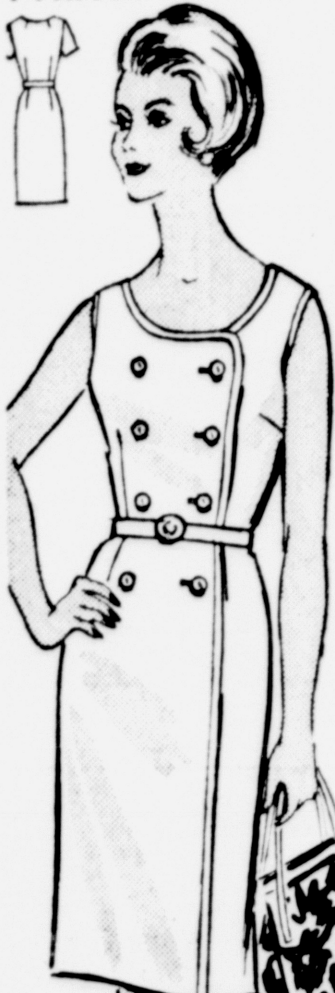

There will be a food sale April 17, 10 a. m. at the Corner Stone (formerly Elmendorf's Market) sponsored by the Ladies Auxiliary American Legion Post 1512, Stone Ridge.

The food sale is being held specifically for the purpose of raising money to buy new flags for the Post that were destroyed in the fire last spring. The flags are needed for the parade Memorial Day. Any help from the public in the community as far as donating towards the sale and their patronage will be appreciated.

Kingston Chapter 155 Fetes Master Masons

Kingston Chapter 155, Order of the Eastern Star, honored the Master Masons on Friday night with Worthy Matron, Marian Radcliffe, presiding. The Worthy Matron read a poem called "April" written by Brother Fred Richter, who is now 98 years old and is Roundout Lodge 343 guest at the Masonic Home in Utica. It was a fitting tribute to the first meeting in April and on the Master Mason's night.

Rt. Worshipful Frank Strobel escorted and presented to the East the heads of the Masonic bodies, who were accompanied by more than 60 Master Masons. Included were: Rt. Worshipful Brother Fred Van Deusen, Grand Stewart of the Grand Lodge of the State of New York; Worshipful Master Ralph Travis, Kingston Lodge No. 10; Brother Leon Milkofsky, Senior Warden, representing W. Master J. Wesley Drake, Roundout Lodge No. 343; Worshipful Brother Howard Whitaker, A.G.L. Green Ulster District, State of New York; Sir Knight Albert Hoeft, Em. Commander, Roundout Commandery; Ex-Companion Lemuel Boice, Master Mt. Horeb Chapter, R.S.M.; Companion Donald Bowra representing Ill. Master Sidney Friar, Ancient City Council; Ill. Companion Walter Lawrence, A.G.L. Ancient and Select Masters; Brother Peter Stokette, President, Kingston Lodge Craftsmen Club No. 10; Brother Myron Rowe vice president, representing Brother Felix Nettleton, president of the Roundout Craftsmen Club No. 343; and Brother Milton Makowski, president of Ulster County Shrine Club.

The Worthy Patron George Radcliffe greeted the Master Masons with a poem, "Last Night I Knew Where Hiram Knew." A humorous degree, "King Solomon Had His Troubles Too" was given by the officers of the Star. A special feature of the evening was a lecture with slides on the Honey Bee by C. Edward Rowe. Every one was given the opportunity to see a working hive of bees. Mr. Rowe, with the help of his wife, and his son Myron, keeps many Aparies from the upper St. Lawrence River to the southern Hudson River Valley in quest of a fine quality of honey.

Mr. Rowe explained that a Moses Quimby of Coxsack, N. Y., who died in 1875, was the first to start this type of commercial beekeeping in the Hudson Valley and in 1852 a Rev. Lorenzo Langstroth, after studying bees and their habits invented the movable-type hive which is standard equipment today.

Other guests presented were the Rt. Worthy Robert Greene, Grand Lecturer of the Green Ulster District O.E.S. and Sister Edna Brink, president, Ulster County Nile Club.

The Worthy Matron announced the next card party will be May 8, and the annual bazaar will be held June 5. The next meeting on April 16 will be dedicated to the Easter season.

After the meeting, a covered dish supper was served in the dining room decorated with a bee theme.

THE TOUSLED CURL

Youthful, invigorating is the new look in hairstyling for Spring-Easter 1965. An energetic tangle of curls complements the forever-youthful look in fashions. The soft flowing lines of the clothes are heightened with a studied casual flare in the hair. Wispy bangs are accentuated with short curved tendrils directly in front of the ears. Fullness is given to the overall silhouette at the crown. Back hair is lightly fluffed and feathered hugging the nape.

Erich Leinsdorf Announces Complete Series Of Programs for Summer Berkshire Festival

Erich Leinsdorf, Music Director of the Boston Symphony Orchestra and of the Berkshire Festival at Tanglewood (Lenox, Mass.), has announced complete programs which the Orchestra will present at its 24 concerts during the eight-week 1965 Berkshire Festival season.

From July 2 through August 22 the Boston Symphony Orchestra will be heard on Friday and Saturday evenings at 8 p. m. and Sunday afternoons at 2:30 p. m. All concerts will take place in the 6,000-seat Music Shed at Tanglewood, the 210-acre estate in Lenox, Mass., which is the summer home of the Orchestra. Mr. Leinsdorf will also continue the Saturday morning open rehearsals in the Music Shed at 10 a. m., which are given for the benefit of the Orchestra's Pension Fund.

In outlining the major musical events of this summer's Festival,

Mr. Leinsdorf said he would follow the established and popular plan of devoting the first two weekends (July 2-3-4, July 9-10-11) to chamber orchestra concerts with members of the Boston Symphony Orchestra, including works by Bach, Haydn and Beethoven. The remaining six weekends will consist of concerts by the full Boston Symphony. Mr. Leinsdorf will conduct the six chamber orchestra programs and eleven of the eighteen programs by the full Orchestra. Guest conductors will be Eleanzar de Carvalho, Jean Martinon, Charles Munch, Seiji Ozawa, and Leopold Stokowski.

Beethoven's major compositions for solo instruments and orchestra will be performed at this summer's Festival, and musical observances of significant anniversaries of Berg, Hindemith, Ravel and Stravinsky will take place. A complete version of Wagner's "Lohengrin" will be given in the final weekend (Aug. 20-21-22).

A detailed brochure with program and ticket information may be obtained by writing the Berkshire Festival Ticket Office, Symphony Hall, Boston, Mass., 02115.

Chorus of U. S. Coast Guard Academy Will Perform in Saugerties High School May 8

The Catskill Glee Club will host the Mohawk-Hudson Male Chorus Association in a mass concert on Saturday, May 8 in the auditorium of the Saugerties High School. It is expected that approximately 200 singers will participate in the program.

Highlight of the evening will be the appearance of the Coast Guard Academy Idlers. The group recently appeared on the Bell Telephone Hour, before a joint session of Congress and on the outdoor stage at Constitution Plaza in Hartford, Conn.

The Catskill Glee Club will sing under the direction of Donald S. Fellows. Tickets to the concert are now available from members of the local club.

Dessert Card Party Planned April 22 By Junior Marrieds

Members of the Junior Married Women's Club of the YWCA were entertained Thursday night with a program of silent movies from a collection owned and shown by Christopher Reuner. The contrast between movie-making in the silent era and present day methods was both interesting and amusing.

During the business meeting preceding the program Mrs. Frederick F. Burnett, president, reminded the members that April 18 begins National YWCA week and there will be a special program at the YWCA. There will be a news release soon concerning this program which is under the supervision of Mrs. Burnett.

The nominating committee will meet in April and prepare the slate of officers to be elected in May. Serving on the committee with Mrs. William E. Barnes are the Mmes. William J. Schreiber, Robert L. Smith, E. Ronald Rifenburg and Herbert H. Reuner.

The dessert card party under the chairmanship of Mrs. Hessel L. Davis will be held April 22 at 8 p. m. at the YWCA. Assisting Mrs. Davison are the Mmes. William N. Merrill, Alfred J. Port and Robert C. Tremper. The card party is open to the public and tickets are available from Junior Married members, at the YWCA now and on the night of the card party.

Mrs. Robert L. Smith announced that the dinner-dance for Junior Married members and their guests is scheduled for May 8 at 8 p. m. at Oehler's Mountain Lodge. For further information phone Mrs. Smith or any member of her committee, the member of her committee, the Mmes. Davison, Tremper and Terry T. Read. Cancellation date is May 3.

Three new members were welcomed at the meeting, the Mmes. Francis P. Gardner, Orville Giles and Carl B. Nordstrom. Hostesses for the evening were the Mmes. John E. Van Dine, Donald E. Boyce, Ronald F. O'Neil and Bernard V. Trowbridge.

The YWCA is a member of the Community Chest.

St. Mary's Altar-Rosary

Deadline for reservations on a bus to New York City sponsored by St. Mary's Altar Rosary Society has been set at April 14.

The bus trip is set for April 24 and will include a matinee performance of "Patrick I," a full length play about Ireland's national apostle.

Reservations may be made with Mrs. Philip Furnari, Brewster Street, Mrs. John Dunn, Garden Street, Mrs. Frank Casciaro, Flatbush Avenue and Miss Mary Keating, Brewster Street.

Abrams to Judge Contest

Mac Abrams, proprietor of Abrams' Music Store at 38½ John Street, and percussion instrument teacher, has been invited to serve as a judge of percussion music Saturday, April 10, at the Commack, L. I. school. He will serve as a judge in the contests being held at the meeting of the New York State School of Music. He has previously served in the capacity of judge in other contests, including contests held at other Long Island schools.

WILLIAM OSKAY, son of Mr. and Mrs. William Oskay, Doris Street, Port Ewen, will play "Violin Sonata in G" by Dvorak at the annual High School orchestra concert, Saturday, April 10 at 8:15 p. m. in the KHS auditorium. Tickets may be obtained from the orchestra members or at the door the night of the concert. (Photo Workshop)

Carter Is Named New Leader of Ulster Kiwanis

H. Edward Carter was elected president of Ulster Kiwanis Club during an emergency meeting of the board of directors Monday night following the regular business meeting.

Carter was elected to the post of presidency for the rest of the year due to the transfer of John Hoffer, former president.

John Fredericks was elected vice-president while Albert Brooker and Albert Wilmoth were appointed for two-year terms as new directors.

Announcement was made last night that a pancake supper will be held Saturday, April 24, at a place to be announced. Proceeds will be used to underwrite a trip for deserving children to the Stewart Air Force Base open house in Newburgh.

Entertainment at Home Acknowledged by Board

Mrs. Thomas Reynolds Sr., conducted a meeting of the Board of Managers, Home for the Aged, on April 1st at 2 p. m. Official and committee reports were given.

Mrs. John Gill, chairman of the entertainment committee, acknowledged the following programs which were given at the Home for the enjoyment of the residents:

Mrs. Orville Hines of Saugerties, who presented slides of the Panama Canal; Miss Nancy Schadevald of Hurley, who gave a resume of her trip to Europe; Mrs. William Ochs, who read a series of articles.

The next meeting of the Board will be held on Thursday, April 29th.

Personals

Students named to the dean's list at St. Bonaventure University were announced today by the Rev. Cornelius Welch, O.F.M., vice president for academics. On the list is Andrew J. Gilday of 275 West Chestnut Street, Kingston.

Legion Auxiliary Will Sponsor Style Show; Poppy Theme

Plans are underway for a fashion show to be given Tuesday, May 4 in the Legion Hall, Stone Ridge, by the American Legion Auxiliary, Post 1512, Marletown.

On the committee in charge of arrangements are Helen Bennett and Arlene Burke. The show theme will be "The Poppy." This is in keeping with the fact that May is Poppy Month for the American Legion.

The latest in summer fashions will be shown as well as costume jewelry. Poppy hats made by the Junior Girls and ladies in the area will be modeled. Refreshments will be served.

Area Residents in Washington

One of the highlights of a trip to Washington, D. C., made by area residents, was a tour of Williamsburg, Va., on Saturday, March 27. Among the many places of interest visited were the courthouse, the old jail and the Governor's Palace in which one of the items of interest was a beautiful inlaid Mother of Pearl jewel chest. This was donated by Queen Elizabeth II of England when she visited there in 1957. The chest was given to her by her grandmother, Queen Mary.

Some of the points of interest visited in Washington were the Capitol, the National Archives, the U.S. Mint, FBI Building, George Washington's home in Mt. Vernon, the Wax Museum, President Kennedy's grave in Arlington National Cemetery, the Immaculate Conception Shrine, the Franciscan Monastery Holyland, and St. Matthew's Church where President Kennedy's funeral services were held. The trip was enjoyed by all.

Members of the party included: Mr. and Mrs. Fred Iannone, Mrs. Anne Brown, Miss Rita M. Senor, Mrs. Rita M. Senor, Donald Policastro Jr., Mrs. Emma Vanderhoof, Mrs. William Schacht, Miss Goldie Nyulassy, Miss Veronica Donnelly, Miss Eileen Donnelly, Miss Catherine Donnelly, Mrs. Frank Nozcek, Mrs. G. Bush, Mrs. E. Rabaza, Mr. and Mrs. T. Lamax Sr., Mrs. Anna A. Area Residents in Washington

One of the highlights of a trip to Washington, D. C., made by area residents, was a tour of Williamsburg, Va., on Saturday, March 27. Among the many places of interest visited were the courthouse, the old jail and the Governor's Palace in which one of the items of interest was a beautiful inlaid Mother of Pearl jewel chest. This was donated by Queen Elizabeth II of England when she visited there in 1957. The chest was given to her by her grandmother, Queen Mary.

Some of the points of interest visited in Washington were the Capitol, the National Archives, the U.S. Mint, FBI Building, George Washington's home in Mt. Vernon, the Wax Museum, President Kennedy's grave in Arlington National Cemetery, the Immaculate Conception Shrine, the Franciscan Monastery Holyland, and St. Matthew's Church where President Kennedy's funeral services were held. The trip was enjoyed by all.

Members of the party included: Mr. and Mrs. Fred Iannone, Mrs. Anne Brown, Miss Rita M. Senor, Mrs. Rita M. Senor, Donald Pollicastro Jr., Mrs. Emma Vanderhoof, Mrs. William Vinacht, Miss Goldie Nyulassy, Miss Veronica Donnelly, Miss Eileen Donnelly, Miss Catherine Donnelly, Mrs. Frank Nozceky, Mrs. G. Bush, Mrs. E. Rabaza, Mr. and Mrs. T. Lamax Sr., Mrs. Anna A. Knoll, Miss Maggie Davi, Miss Debbie Caruso, Miss Irene Corraht, Miss Blanche Wasson, Miss Anna Hock, Miss Dora Traver, Mrs. Raymond Strozzi, Mrs. Rose Valente, Mrs. Ralph Libech, Mrs. Sophia Wierse, Miss Mary Olive Every, Miss Margaret Wendt, Miss Evelyn Hausner, Miss Dolores Rank, Miss Anna Wilson, Mrs. Alfred Lyons, Josephine Panzarella, Marcia Abatzis, Mary Senor, Dorothy Senor, Michael Senor, Miss Constantine Bouloukos, Miss Dorothy Bouloukos, Miss Mary Otens, Miss Rose Otens, Miss Josephine Allen, Miss Fanny Snow, Miss Alice Sheeley, Miss Dorothy Stoll, Donald Polcastro of Glasco was the bus driver for the Kingston-Pine Hill Bus Company.

Arrangements for the trip were made by Mrs. Teresa Mayone of Glasco. Many of the residents are planning to attend the traditional Easter pageant in New York City on April 10.

Tackle Shop Reaches Finals of Hudson Valley Tourney

GUESS WHO?

THE FAVORITE SON of Atlanta, Georgia, this famed performer was once among the most idolized men in all of sport. He was a champion at age 14 and when 28 accomplished his most memorable achievement—a never equalled Grand Slam. Nope, he's not a baseball player.

Gene Sarazen Selects Nicklaus in Masters

By MURRAY ROSE
Associated Press Sports Writer
AUGUSTA, Ga. (AP) — Gene Sarazen is high on Jack Nicklaus to win the 30th Masters Golf Tournament starting Thursday but he feels the husky blond bomber, four-time winner of the game have an unfair advantage over the rest of the field.

"They get the best caddies," said the 63-year-old Squire of Germantown, N.Y., who won the second Masters in 1934 with his famous double eagle. "The caddies can make a big difference."

"Only five per cent of the caddies today know the difference between a driver and a four iron," said the veteran, who came out of the bag-carrying ranks to fame and fortune. "The good ones go to the top players like Nicklaus, Palmer, Tony Lema and Sam Snead."

"The way to equalize it would be to have the caddies just as a service. They would not be permitted to give advice."

Sarazen also suggested that the game should be mechanized to help speed up play.

"Golf carts should be permitted in the tournaments," said Sarazen. "You've got to keep up with the times and keep the game from lagging. You can still use caddies for the other functions."

As for Nicklaus, winner of the Masters in 1963 and sharer of second money behind Palmer last year, Sarazen said, "He has everything to win on this long course. He drives farther, hits his irons better and puts better than anyone else."

Bondar Leads 71-66 Triumph; Bombardiers Win

By ED PALLADINO
Freeman Sports Staff

Bob (Bundles) Bondar, Kingston's answer to John Havlicek, scored nine points in the final four minutes of play to lead Ray's Tackle Shop to a 71-66 win over June Vernon Builders of Stony Point last night at the Poughkeepsie IBM Country Club court and advance the locals to the finals of the 22nd annual Hudson Valley Basketball tournament.

Ray's will oppose top rated Pine Plains Bombardiers on Wednesday at IBM for the championship. George Steutzie's club put up the second half to breeze by Port Chester, 91-78, in the other semi-final tilt.

Pratt Fouls Out

Bondar, a rare player in this day and age because he doesn't need warming the bench until needed, was given the call in his final period after Harry Pratt drew his fifth personal foul.

The clubs were taking turns at the lead and Stony Point had hot hands when Bondar entered the fray. He promptly put in a basket, intercepted a pass and fed to Jos Uhl underneath and directed the Tackle Shop to a nine-point lead. It was all over after that.

Sam Brown kept Ray's in the game in the opening half, making 16 of his 19 points during that time. Uhl had 12 of his markers in the third and fourth period and also did a solid defensive job on Tony Citarella in the final minutes of play.

However, both had to take a basketful of assists.

Pine Plains had trouble with Port Chester in the first half, leading by only two points 44-42. However, the big guns of the Bombardiers found the range after the intermission and the defense did a good job as the tourney favorites pulled away.

27 for Isaac

Warren Isaac, the jumping jack from Iona College, hit for 27 points to lead the Bombardiers, York Lareese had 21 and a bushful of assists.

Ray's and Pine Plains will clash at 8:15 on Wednesday after a third place contest at 7:15 between Port Chester and Stony Point. The Tackle Shop don't figure to beat Pine Plains but stranger things have happened.

Saugerties High Baseball Team Has Good Pitching

SPORTS

By CHARLES J. TIANO
Freeman Sports Editor

Promoters of the World's Invitational Match Game Championship bowling tournament, which is Chicago-based, insist the one-year cancellation of the event covers only the current year, 1965-66.

The professional tenpin fraternity is betting against it. The promoters gave mounting costs plus a belief that "a tremendous expansion of top tournament bowling in recent seasons has greatly lessened the need for maintaining the World's in order to give bowling a great show window event."

The apparent demise of the Invitational is a victory for the National Bowling Proprietors Assn. The Chicago branch broke away several years ago to stage its own major tournament. The Invitational never quite caught up with the BPAA All Star in prestige and value.

Politics invariably figures in most Invitionals. It is inherent in the name. The Invitational did make provision for top "name" stars who had flunked the BPAA elimination trials. On the other hand there was dissatisfaction with the selection system. For example, Rose Schatzel of Kingston, a three-time New York State all-events champion and singles titleholder, was never an automatic choice. Eventually, the Chicago group got around to tendering an invitation to The Queen, which she could not accept that particular year.

TOURNAMENT TROUBLES:

Did the bowlers of Kingston boycott the first annual Colonial City Handicap Classic at Sang's Bowlero? The tournament operators through Vincent T. (Chic) Carpio, tourney manager, seem to feel they have reason to think so. Expressing keen disappointment over the poor Kingston response, Carpio says he has some strong suspicions about some Kingston bowlers. Once again, we ask, boycott? There is some disparity in the Kingston figures in the two tournaments. About 30 per cent, 83 teams, of the Rip Van Winkle entry is from Kingston. With about 105 teams going, the Colonial City counts less than 20 from the city. There are other factors that must be weighed, however. First there is a head-on clash in dates and, secondly, the Rip Van Winkle is now in its 7th year, has the natural advantage of increasing prestige buildup and promotion. We feel the tournaments should avoid conflict in dates, if possible. We're not close enough to the scene to determine if a boycott is in effect or any undue pressure has been brought to bear on the bowling captains. In the long run, the tournament with the most attractive conditions and prizes will dominate. That's the inevitable end result of the free enterprise system.

THE ELEVENTH FRAME:

Did a couple of "the boys" have a confrontation after a recent Mid-City Classic session? ... A two-game total pins match among the three finalists will decide the championship of the $100,000 Firestone Professional Bowlers Association Tournament of Champions being contested in Akron, Ohio, this week. ... The Friendship League "Short form" bowling sheet is a model of tenpin reporting. ... This is the season when teams and captains get discouraged and things get sloppy. ... Has any man bowler made greater strides than Marion Sanford in this 1964-65 season? ... An entry of 4,068 teams, fifth largest in the 48-year history of the WIBC starts shooting Thursday night in Portland, Oregon. Total prize money is $203,360.00, second highest in the organization's history. ... The 1966 ABC tournament will be held in Rochester, the 1967 event in Miami Beach. ... Two Poughkeepsie area bowlers enjoyed unique firsts last week. Frank (Buzz) Petty of Dover Plains, a 13-year bowler with 160 average, switched from a 2-finger ball to a 3-holer for the first time, following an injury to a finger. The result? His career-first "600," a whopping 650. No more 2-holers for Mr. Petty. Ralph Puff, 71, 40 years on the lanes, posted his first "over 600 set—606. The 600 on the nose came "13 or 14 years ago."

NOT OFF THE WIRE: Curt Schleier writes that Chinese New Year aside, it definitely looks as if Hunter College's baseball team will make 1965 the Year of the Hawk. The entire team, by the way, is prepared with a fusillade of firecrackers to inaugurate the Year of the Hawk. Don't say we didn't tip you off.

West Has 52 Points In Laker Triumph

LOS ANGELES (AP)—On the strength of a brilliant effort by Jerry West, Los Angeles has taken a 2-0 lead over Baltimore in their best-of-7 series to decide the National Basketball Association's Western Division playoff championship.

West clicked for 52 points as the Lakers downed the Bullets 118-115 Monday night. In the first game on Saturday, the Lakers won 121-109.

The two teams move to Baltimore Wednesday night for the third game.

Sawyers Hope For Top Showing In DCSL Chase

By ED PALLADINO
Freeman Sports Staff

If pitching is still better than 75 percent of a ball game, then could Saugerties High as a solid contender for DCSL honors this season.

Coach Pete Kramer, handling the varsity for the first time, has a veteran mound staff, headed by senior Andy Wood and the hurlers are all capable of pitching winning ball.

Backing up Wood are right-handers Art Sperl and Frank Serravallo and southpaws Jeff Borges and Bob Speirs.

Glen Davis, an excellent defensive catcher, looms as top prospect at that position. If he remains eligible, Steve Bonack will probably back up Davis.

Owens at Shortstop
Co-captain Bruce Owens, a varsity baseball player since he was a freshman, has shortstop nailed down. He leads the infielders but can also pitch, if needed.

The rest of the infield shapes up with John Bond at first, Ed Hurley at second and Rich Greco at third. Utility players are Nick Buonfiglio, Gordon Freigh and Bob Whitney.

Dan Fury, another returning regular, heads the outfield contingent. Bob Smith, Bob Nilsen and Mel Howard are also on hand for picket duty.

Like most high school teams, hitting figures to be a problem for the Sawyers. "If we can get a couple of hits, we figure to be in the thick of the race," Kramer said. The defense is sound, and combined with the good pitching, look for Saugerties to win a few low run games.

The team opens this Saturday with a 10 o'clock home contest against Guilderland.

Saugerties High Baseball Team Has Good Pitching

By CHARLES J. TIANO
Freeman Sports Editor

Promoters of the World's Invitational Match Game Championship bowling tournament, which is Chicago-based, insist the one-year cancellation of the event covers only the current year, 1965-66.

The professional tenpin fraternity is betting against it. The promoters gave mounting costs plus a belief that "a tremendous expansion of top tournament bowling in recent seasons has greatly lessened the need for maintaining the World's in order to give bowling a great show window event."

The apparent demise of the Invitational is a victory for the National Bowling Proprietors Assn. The Chicago branch broke away several years ago to stage its own major tournament. The Invitational never quite caught up with the BPAA All Star in prestige and value.

Politics invariably figures in most Invitationals. It is inherent in the name. The Invitational did make provision for top "name" stars who had flunked the BPAA elimination trials. On the other hand there was dissatisfaction with the selection system. For example, Rose Schatzel of Kingston, a three-time New York State all-events champion and singles titleholder, was never an automatic choice. Eventually, the Chicago group got around to tendering an invitation to The Queen, which she could not accept that particular year.

TOURNAMENT TROUBLES:

Did the bowlers of Kingston boycott the first annual Colonial City Handicap Classic at Sangi's Bowlero? The tournament operators through Vincent L. (Chic) Carpio, tournament manager, seem to feel they have reason to think so. Expressing keen disappointment over the poor Kingston response, Carpio says he has some strong suspicions about some Kingston bowlers. Once again, we ask, boycott? There is some disparity in the Kingston figures in the two tournaments. About 30 per cent, 85 teams, of the Rip Van Winkle entry is from Kingston. With about 105 teams going, the Colonial City counts less than 20 from the city. There are other factors that must be weighed, however. First there is a head-on clash in dates and, secondly, the Rip Van Winkle is now in its 7th year, has the natural advantage of increasing prestige buildup and promotion. We feel the tournaments should avoid conflict in dates, if possible. We're not close enough to the scene to determine if a boycott is in effect or any undue pressure has been brought to bear on the bowling captains. In the long run, the tournament with the most attractive conditions and prizes will dominate. That's the inevitable end result of the free enterprise system.

THE ELEVENTH FRAME:

Did a couple of "the boys" have a confrontation after a recent Mid-City Classic session? A two-game total pins match among the three finalists will decide the championship of the $100,000 Firestone Professional Bowlers Association Tournament of Champions being contested in Akron, Ohio, this week. The Friendship League "short form" bowling sheet is a model of tenpin reporting. This is the season when teams and captains get discouraged and things get sloppy. Has any woman bowler made greater strides than Marion Sanford in this 1964-65 season? An entry of 4,068 teams, fifth largest in the 48-year history of the WIBC starts shooting Thursday night in Portland, Oregon. Total prize money is $203,360.00, second highest in the organization's history. The 1967 event in Miami Beach. Two Poughkeepsie area bowlers enjoyed unique firsts last week. Frank (Buzz) Petty of Dover Plains, a 13-year bowler with 160 average, switched from a 2-finger ball to a 3-hole for the first time, following an injury to a finger. The result? His career-first "600," a whopping 650. No more 2-holeers for Mr. Petty. Ralph Puff, 71, 40 years on the lanes, posted his first "over 600 set—606. The 600 on the nose came "13 or 14 years ago."

HOT OF THE WIRE: Curt Schleier writes that Chinese New Year aside, it definitely looks as if Hunter College's baseball team will make 1965 the Year of the Hawk. The entire team, by the way, is prepared with a fusillade of firecrackers to inaugurate the Year of the Hawk. Don't say we didn't tip you off.

West Has 52 Points In Laker Triumph

LOS ANGELES (AP)—On the strength of a brilliant effort by Jerry West, Los Angeles has taken a 2-0 lead over Baltimore in their best-of-7 series to decide the National Basketball Association's Western Division play-off championship.

West clicked for 52 points as the Lakers downed the Bullets 118-115 Monday night. In the first game on Saturday, the Lakers won 121-107.

The two teams move to Baltimore Wednesday night for the third game.

Sawyers Hope For Top Showing In DCSL Chase

By ED PALLADINO
Freeman Sports Staff

If pitching is still better than 75 percent of a ball game, then count Saugerties High as a solid contender for DCSL honors this season.

Coach Pete Kramer, handling the varsity for the first time, has a veteran mound staff, headed by senior Andy Wood and the hurlers are all capable of pitching winning ball.

Backing up Wood are right-handers Art Sperl and Frank Serravallo and southpaws Jeff Borgeas and Bob Speiths.

Glen Davis, an excellent defensive catcher, looms as top prospect at that position, if he remains eligible. Steve Bonack will probably back up Davis.

Owens at Shortstop
Co-captain Bruce Owens, a varsity baseball player since he was a freshman, has shortstop nailed down. He leads the infielders but can also pitch, if needed.

The rest of the infield shapes up with John Bond at first, Ed Hurley at second and Rich Greco at third. Utility players are Nick Buonfiglio, Gordon Freligh and Bob Whitney.

Dan Furry, another returning regular, heads the outfield contingent. Bob Smith, Bob Nilsen and Mel Howard are also on hand for picket duty.

Like most high school teams, hitting figures to be a problem for the Sawyers. "If we can get a couple of hits, we figure to be in the thick of the race," Kramer said. "The defense is sound, and combined with the good pitching, look for Saugerties to win a few low run games."

The team opens this Saturday with a 10 o'clock home contest against Gunderland.

Schovel Loses Pair of Games

Despite the fact they outsticked their opponents, 3082-2940, Schovel Tree kegglers managed to win only one game from Tompkins and Baxter Insurance in a Mid-Hudson Major league match Friday at the Campi-Tarsio Lanes in Newburgh. The defending champions now lead by five games.

Other local teams did well. Three Brothers Egg Farm rebounded from an 885 opener to win a pair from Lou Campi's "3" and Schoentag's Hotel took two from Tul-Tex Pins.

Jake Charter hit 651, Jack Ferraro 632, Larry Petersen 628 and Jim Amendola 606 for Schovel. Phil Versace led Tompkins and Baxter with 632. Bob Quinn had 619 and John Martini 611.

The locals won the middle game, 1077-915, but were nipped, 987-968 and 1038-1037 in the other two.

Herb Petersen was high for Three Brothers with a 648 blast. Tom Carlinio added 610. Low Campi Sr. paced his squad with 586. After their 885 opener, the winners rebounded with 1019 and 1054 for 2958 against 942, 966 and 847 for 2695.

Larry Ong and Jack Houghtaling blistered 666s for Schoentag's. Frank Kalinak's 612 led Tul-Tex. Schoentag's scored 1068, 933 and 1032 for 3033 against 884, 885 and 968 for 2847.

EMPLOYMENT

NOTICE TO JOB APPLICANTS
The Kingston Daily Freeman does not knowingly accept Help Wanted advertisements from employers covered by the Fair Labor Standards
Act if they offer less than legal minimum wages or pay wage differentials based on sex. Most employees engaged in interstate commerce or in the production of goods for such commerce must be paid not less than $1.25 an hour and time and one-half
for hours worked over 40 in a week.
Beginning September 3, 1964, most employees in certain large retail service, construction and other enterprises engaged in interstate commerce must be paid not less than $1.15 an hour and time and one-half
for hours worked over 40 in a week.
The Act also requires equal pay for equal work for men and women if you are offered less by covered employers or if you have questions concerning the Fair
Labor Standards Act, call or write the U. S. Labor Department's local office at 881 Gerard Ave., Bronx, N. Y., 10452. WYandotte 2-1235.

A Small Estate

There's something about this property that will beguile you and make you want it for your own. Could it be the circular driveway, lined with trees, or the charm of the home as you approach it on its 1 1/2 acres of privacy? The details are: Entry foyer, living rm., fireplace and dining alcove, paneled den, large modern kitchen w/dinette, 4 bdrms, 2 baths, w.o. heat, 2 car garage. Enclosed porch, plus blue tile patio. Built in 1940. It has many unusual features. We saved until last the natural swimming pool in the rear in the Savin Hill and there's a picnic grove. Makes you feel it is a haven to come home to. The price is $23,500. We'd like your reaction after inspection with us.

Wally, Stafford Named Primary Crew for Mission

HOUSTON, Tex. (AP) — Astronaut Walter M. Schirra Jr. hitched his career star to a space satellite and now his wish has come true.

Schirra, a Navy commander, 42, and Air Force Maj. Thomas P. Stafford, 34, were named the primary crew Monday for this country's first attempt to link up two full-size vehicles in space.

Air Force Maj. Virgil I. Grisom and Navy Lt. Cmdr. John W. Young were chosen backup crew for the flight, the fourth manned mission in the Gemini program. It is expected before Christmas.

This was a flip-flop arrangement of the first manned Gemini crew, for which Grisom and Young were primary crewmen, Schirra and Stafford the backup duo. That mission was completed March 23.

Schirra had said if he couldn't be first to fly in the two-man program, then he wanted to do something nobody else had done — join up in the space the Gemini spacecraft and an unmanned Agena rocket.

The procedure will be necessary for a landing on the moon and also for the trip back to earth after lunar exploration.

Canada Eyes Needy

OTTAWA (AP) — Canada plans to match the United States antipoverty drive with its own program "for the full utilization of our human resources."

Gov. Gen. Georges Vanier outlined the plans of Prime Minister Lester B. Pearson's Liberal government in a 3,000-word speech Monday opening the third session of the 26th Canadian Parliament.

Three proposals dominated the policy statement:

— Enactment of welfare and job-creating measures.

— Establishment of a Company of Young Canadians much like the late President Kennedy's U.S. Peace Corps.

— Buys Warehouse Series

LONDON (AP) — The British Broadcasting Corp. said today it had paid author P. G. Wodehouse the equivalent of $56,000 for the rights to a six-part television series based on his stories of Bertie Wooster and his butler Jeeves — who delighted fiction readers 40 years ago.

Wodehouse, 84, now lives in the New York area.

Jack Murton Dies

SANTA MONICA, Calif. (AP) — Jack Murton, 67, television executive, died Monday of a heart attack. Murton, a former TV casting director, collapsed in a courtroom after he had testified in a civil suit involving actresses Loretta Young and Portland Mason, 16-year-old daughter of film stars James and Pamela Mason.

NOTICE OF SALE

IN PURSUANCE OF a Judgment of Foreclosure and Sale duly granted by the Honorable Court of Sessions in the Ulster County Clerk's Office on the 4th day of March, 1965, H. EDGAR TIMMERMAN, the undersigned, being duly sworn, do hereby certify that at public auction at the front door of the Court House at Kingston, New York, on the 30th day of April, 1965, at 11:30 o'clock in the forenoon, the premises described in said Judgment as follows:

ALL THAT PIECE OR PARCEL OF LAND with buildings thereon, situate in the Town of Hurley, County of Ulster and State of New York, and more particularly bounded and described as follows:

BEGINNING at a point being the most easterly corner of lot No. 11 on map of 1861, containing 100 acres, Bruno Diez, Town of Hurley, on South Boulevard of the Ashokan Reservoir, and runs thence along Lot No. 7, East, seven degrees ten minutes west two hundred forty four feet to Lot No. 8, thence along the same south line, three hundred nine minutes west one hundred four feet and eight tenths feet to Lot No. 9; thence along the same south line, eight degrees fifty three minutes east two hundred thirty five and four tenths feet to Lot No. 15; thence along lots Nos. 15 and 16 north thirty eight degrees thirty five minutes east one hundred thirty six and five tenths feet to the point and place of beginning.

Being Lots Nos 10 and 11 as indicated on the above mentioned map, which map was filed in the office of the Clerk of Ulster County on the 13th day of May, 1922, as Map No. 84.

Excepting and reserving from the lands above conveyed, so much thereof as may be included in the public road which bounds the premises on the southeast.

Being the same premises conveyed by Thomas P. McGraw, Jr. and Marion A. McGraw, his wife, to James H. Cullen and Mary Cullen, his wife, by deed dated August 28, 1961 and to be sold under the Ulster County Clerk's Office simultaneously with this mortgage which is given to secure a part of the purchase price.

Dated at the City of Kingston, New York, this 4th day of March, 1965.

Lifer Again Denied Transcript of Trial

ROCHESTER, N.Y. (AP) — James R. Moore, 30, who is serving a life term as the convicted murderer of a Penfield girl, again has been denied a transcript of his trial.

Monroe County Judge Harry L. Rosenthal Monday said the court previously had refused the same request, and that there was no new evidence to change the court's opinion.

Moore was convicted of assaulting and suffocating Pamela Moss, 14, on Sept. 6, 1962. He was sentenced to life in Attica Prison with the recommendation of Monroe County Judge John P. Lomenzo that "under no circumstances" was Moore to be paroled.

Moore is seeking grounds to have his conviction set aside.

— Buys Warehouse Series

LONDON (AP) — The British Broadcasting Corp. said today it had paid author P. G. Wodehouse the equivalent of $56,000 for the rights to a six-part television series based on his stories of Bertie Wooster and his butler Jeeves — who delighted fiction readers 40 years ago.

Wodehouse, 84, now lives in the New York area.

Jack Murton Dies

SANTA MONICA, Calif. (AP) — Jack Murton, 67, television executive, died Monday of a heart attack. Murton, a former TV casting director, collapsed in a courtroom after he had testified in a civil suit involving actresses Loretta Young and Portland Mason, 16-year-old daughter of film stars James and Pamela Mason.

Wally, Stafford Named Primary Crew for Mission

HOUSTON, Tex. (AP) — Astronaut Walter M. Schirra Jr. hitched his career star to a space satellite and now his wish has come true.

Schirra, a Navy commander, 42, and Air Force Maj. Thomas P. Stafford, 34, were named the primary crew Monday for this country's first attempt to link up two full-size vehicles in space.

Air Force Maj. Virgil I. Grissom and Navy Lt. Cmdr. John W. Young were chosen backup crew for the flight, the fourth manned mission in the Gemini program. It is expected before Christmas.

This was a flip-flop arrangement of the first manned Gemini crew, for which Grissom and Young were primary crewmen, Schirra and Stafford the backup duo. That mission was completed March 23.

Schirra had said if he couldn't be first to fly in the two-man program, then he wanted to do something nobody else had done — join up in the space the Gemini spacecraft and an unmanned Agena rocket.

The procedure will be necessary for a landing on the moon and also for the trip back to earth after lunar exploration.

Lifer Again Denied Transcript of Trial

ROCHESTER, N.Y. (AP)—James R. Moore, 30, who is serving a life term as the convicted murderer of a Penfield girl, again has been denied a transcript of his trial.

Monroe County Judge Harry L. Rosenthal Monday said the court previously had refused the same request, and that there was no new evidence to change the court's opinion.

Moore was convicted of assaulting and suffocating Pamela Moss, 14, on Sept. 6, 1962. He was sentenced to life in Attica Prison with the recommendation of Monroe County Judge John P. Lomenzo that "under no circumstances" was Moore to be paroled.

Moore is seeking grounds to have his conviction set aside.

Canada Eyes Needy

OTTAWA (AP) — Canada plans to match the United States antipoverty drive with its own program "for the full utilization of our human resources" to ease hardship among the needy.

Gov. Gen. Georges Vanier outlined the plans of Prime Minister Lester B. Pearson's Liberal government in a 3,000-word speech Monday opening the third session of the 26th Canadian Parliament.

Three proposals dominated the policy statement: — Calling of a federal-provincial conference as the first step toward a national medical care plan.

— Enactment of welfare and job-creating measures.

— Establishment of a Company of Young Canadians much like the late President Kennedy's U.S. Peace Corps.

Artist Closes Shop

COLUMBIA, Calif. (AP) — Charles Surdort, a 56-year-old artist who wouldn't trade his conservative brown tweed suit for a 49ers' costume, is packing up his canvases and closing his gallery after 18 years in this restored gold rush town.

Surdort said Friday he will not contest the state's legal action to evict him.

"It would cost me too much," he said. "They have all the taxpayers' money behind them."

Shopper Loses Money

Mrs. Harry Lee of Box 465, Route 1, Kingston, reported to police Monday afternoon that she lost a sum of money from her pocketbook while shopping on Wall Street. She said the money, which was rolled up into bills, apparently fell from the pocketbook when it was opened either while she was on the sidewalk or in a store in that vicinity.

Rain, Snow Hit Broad Sections

BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Rain and snow fell across broad areas of the nation today. Steady rains splashed much of the Midwest from South Dakota to Ohio and thunderstorms erupted southward to central Texas. Hail pelted Kansas City and Topeka, Kan., during the early morning after hitting areas in southern Texas.

Tornado winds lashed sections of Missouri and Oklahoma Monday, causing extensive property damage. The violent winds during thunderstorms ripped across Springfield, Mo., and nearby areas, in suburbs northwest of St. Louis and at Bartlesville, Okla.

Snow fell in the Dakotas along the northwestern edge of the rain belt, with 2 to 4 inches indicated in some areas. More snow was reported in sections of the Rockies.

For the first time this year the mercury soared to 100 degrees in the nation, hitting the century mark Monday at Laredo, in southern Texas. The warm weather extended northward into Indiana, with a high of 80 at Evansville.

SCIENCE IN PERSPECTIVE—Dr. Howard J. Curtis, chairman of the biology department, Brookhaven National Laboratory, addressed a group of 200 at the Governor Clinton Hotel Friday evening. In discussing his topic, Biomedical Problems of Space Research, Dr. Curtis emphasized that investigation of each possible problem affecting the safety of the astronauts was essential. As the probing of space continues, problems not anticipated by man arise. Dr. Curtis discussed in some detail research in problems related to radiation in which he has played an active role. Members of the Mid-Hudson Biologists Association were special guests at this second in the Science in Perspective lecture series sponsored by the Science-Mathematics Division of Ulster County Community College. Professor Calvin F. Grass, Chairman of the Science and Mathematics Division at Ulster County Community College, introduced Dr. Sherman H. Masten, Dean of UCCC, and Dr. Curtis. In his welcoming remarks Professor Grass pointed out the importance of understanding and co-operation among the various scientific disciplines. Discussing the program are (l-r) Professor George Carter, UCCC biology department, Dr. Curtis, Professor Grass and Dr. Alfred J. D. Caprio, science department chairman at Ontario Central School. Senate Is Asked To Ratify Two U.N. Amendments

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson asked the Senate today to ratify amendments to the United Nations Charter to increase membership of the Security Council and the Economic and Social Council.

He said the amendments "will strengthen the ability of the United Nations to act as a force for peace and the progress of mankind."

Under one amendment, the size of the Security Council would be increased from 11 to 15 and the voting majority of the council from 7 to 9.

The size of the Economic and Social Council would be increased from 18 to 27 with the right of veto of the permanent members not affected.

In his message to the Senate, Johnson described the amendments as realistic.

"The membership of the United Nations has grown from 51 in 1945 to 114 in 1965. Almost all of the new members are nations which have gained independence from the peaceful dismantling of empires — a process which brought nationhood to one-third of all the peoples of the world and which is here to stay," Johnson said.

An increase in membership of both councils is necessary to restore the balance which existed between the councils in the General Assembly when the charter came into force, Johnson said.

Printers

The printers have threatened to strike one or more of the newspapers that are members of the Newspaper Publishers Association of New York City. They are the News, Times, Herald Tribune, Journal-American, World-Telegram & Sun, Long Island Daily Press and Long Island Star-Journal. The association bargains for the seven papers with the nine craft unions in the industry.

The Post, the other major daily newspaper of general circulation, bargains with all unions separately. It withdrew from the publishers association during the 114-day newspaper blackout two years ago. A printers' strike sparked that shutdown.

Shortly after the printers' meetings at the News Monday, the presidents of two major unions resigned from the newspaper trades council, which had included nine of the 10 newspaper unions when contract negotiations began last fall.

Representatives of only five unions remain in the council, which has been hit by dissension since the printers moved to get more money than the $10.50 a week in two-year contracts originally accepted tentatively by four other unions.

Latest to resign are the stereotypers and the paper handlers. The printers—key union in the situation—have not negotiated with the publishers since negotiations collapsed Sunday.

Base pay for printers for day-shift work is $149 a week. There are premium rates for night work.

Contracts between all the city's major newspapers and the 10 unions expired last Tuesday midnight.

Name Gallagher Foreman of Jury

A panel of 35 grand jurors summoned for attendance at the April term of County Court reported Monday and Judge Raymond J. Mino appointed Joseph Thomas Gallagher of 154 Elmendorf Street, foreman. Alma Mae Machold of Columbia Street, Kingston, was named acting foreman.

Following the charge to the grand jurors the panel retired and named Gladys Marion Freer of Water Street, New Paltz, clerk.

Excuses also were heard from members of the trial panel which was summoned for attendance at the April terms of Supreme and County Court.

Monday afternoon District Attorney Joseph Torrace presented a criminal calendar of 87 cases. At the conclusion of the criminal calendar call County Judge Mino made up a "ready" calendar of 15 criminal cases which will be taken up for disposition as quickly as possible.

Civil matters will be heard first. Attorneys having criminal cases on the "ready" calendar were notified to stand ready to go to trial in the event of a break in the civil calendar. They will be given as much notice as possible before being required to proceed to trial.

Listed as first on the calendar was a first degree assault, second degree assault and illegal possession of a firearm as a felony indictment against William Arthur Harrison. It involves a shooting at Ellenville. James Murray appears for defendant.

It is the intention of District Attorney Torrace to dispose of jail cases first.

A number of defendants recently indicted were arraigned and pleas of innocent entered.

Meantime Supreme Court Justice William Deckelman called the civil calendar and made up a day calendar of ready cases. County Judge Mino presided in the upstairs court room and Justice Deckelman in the downstairs room in the court house.

Two Dead After Shooting Spree, Father Victim

SUMMIT, Miss. (AP) — "I am God! The Negro is God! Nobody can do anything to me!" shouted Isaac Brown Jr., 22, a Negro college student, as he wounded five white persons — one of them fatally — and then shot his father to death.

The second victim of the shooting spree, Ed Smith, 45, died Monday night in a hospital in nearby McComb. His death was not disclosed by authorities until early today.

Brown was in custody in an undisclosed jail where officers rushed him following his capture a short time after he apparently went berserk in a hardware store.

J.F. Schluter, 80, owner of the hardware store and Smith's uncle, was reported in grave condition.

The others, Smith's brother, Herbert, 51; Miss Julia Moak, 43, the hardware store's bookkeeper, and Walter Roberts, 80, who was sitting on a bench outside the store, were recovering satisfactorily.

Officers related the events this way:

Brown entered the hardware store and asked to see a .22 caliber pistol. After Smith showed him the weapon, Brown loaded it and began firing wildly around the store.

Walter Roberts, 80, who was outside, heard the shots and began to slip away from the store. Brown stepped outside and shot him in the back, then re-entered the store and continued firing.

He left the store and met his father.

The elder Brown was shot in the chest.

The youth then bolted for a house, which officers quickly surrounded. After being slightly wounded, Brown was captured and handcuffed.

Rotary to Hold District Parley At Concord Hotel

Dr. C. P. H. Teenstra of the Netherlands, president-elect of Rotary International for the fiscal year 1965-66, will be one of three outstanding Rotarians who will address sessions of the annual conference of District 721 at the Concord Hotel, Kiamasha Lake on Sunday, Monday and Tuesday, April 25, 26 and 27.

President-elect Teenstra, medical director of the Juliana-Oord Sanatorium for Bone and Joint Tuberculosis at Laren, The Netherlands, was born in Oldehove, The Netherlands and a graduate from the Medical Faculty of the University of Groningen, The Netherlands. For two years at the beginning of his career, he was the ship's doctor for the Java-China-Japan Line. He has served Rotary International as district governor. Dr. Teenstra was accorded the royal distinction of being designated an Officer in the Order of Orange-Nassau, an honor created in 1892 by Queen Wilhelmina.

The other noted speaker who will be heard during the conference are Dr. Norman Vincent Peale, minister, author and lecturer. His topic will be "What Rotary Means to Me." Dr. Peale is minister at the historic Marble Collegiate Church in New York City. He is author of the most popular non-fiction book of recent times, "Confident Living." He also is editor-in-chief of Guideposts, popular inspirational magazine with over one and a half million subscriptions. Dr. Peale is a member of the Rotary Club of New York City.

The third speaker will be David Schrom of the Poughkeepsie Club. He is vice president of manufacturing of The De Laval Separator Company. A registered professional engineer, he is past national president of the American Society of Tool and Manufacturing Engineers.

District Governor Robert Kristeller will preside over the conference and Albert Foshay will be the conference chairman. Both Rotarians are members of the Carmel Club, which will be the host club.

Rotary District 721 is comprised of the following:

Rotary District 721 is comprised of clubs in Ulster, Greene, Sullivan, Orange, Rockland, Putnam, Dutchess and Columbia counties.

Larry V. Bogert of the Kingston Rotary Club is publicity and promotional chairman and Warren F. Marr of the Woodstock Club is sergeant-at-arms.

Rotary Aunts are invited to attend the conference. Complete information regarding reservations, accommodations and program may be obtained from Albert Foshay, 64 Glenside Avenue, Carmel, N. Y.

Informers Help Uncle Sam Find Tax Delinquents

WASHINGTON (AP) — Some 100,000 informers help the Internal Revenue Service each year by providing tips on people who haven't paid their taxes.

The IRS says many do so "from patriotic motivation or civic duty." A few get paid for it.

The number of persons providing such tips has grown steadily.

Not Solicited

An IRS spokesman said the service doesn't solicit income tax tips but merely evaluates those that come in and follows them up if an investigation seems warranted. He noted that the FBI and other law enforcement agencies use informers routinely.

Only one out of every 10 tips results in even a preliminary investigation.

In the fiscal year which ended last June 30, the service collected $18.1 million as a result of tips compared with $12.7 million in the previous year.

The IRS paid $565,000 to 822 informers last year.

It has accepted tips for many years although the practice has been criticized by those who contend the informers are seeking revenge or perhaps are merely envious of a wealthy neighbor or employer.

Gets Explanation

A Congress member who heard from some of his constituents on the subject asked the service for an explanation. A recently prepared memorandum from the IRS said:

"It is important to note that the number of persons who volunteer information and make no claim for reward is 20 times as great as the number who do claim rewards. It is reasonable to assume, too, that many of those who do not claim a reward, are impelled to furnish information from patriotic motivation or civic duty."

"On the basis of these factors, it seems questionable that the elimination of rewards will eliminate informing."

The IRS figures indicated that about 95,000 persons offered tips in fiscal 1964.

One IRS practice may deter quite a few would-be tipsters: Whenever a tip is received, the IRS investigates the informer as well as the tip.

NEW CANCER STAMP—J. Wilson Tinney, right, chairman of Ulster County Cancer Crusade, received first issuance of new Crusade Against Cancer five cent Commemorative Stamp from Postmaster Oscar V. Newkirk at Central Post Office. Newkirk said that stamp, which is marked for distribution in April — designated by President Johnson as Cancer Control Month — "is to remind Americans that an early medical checkup often can bring this disease under control. The stamp will also salute the men and women engaged in cancer research and the millions of Americans who help fight the war against cancer." The U.S. is now 47th country to issue an anti-cancer stamp in one form or another. Since 1928, a total of 46 countries have issued some 110 postage stamps directed against cancer. On hand for local presentation was Mrs. Paul Wendrow, executive secretary of Ulster County Unit, American Cancer Society. (Freeman photo)

Artist Closes Shop

COLUMBIA, Calif. (AP) — Charles Surondoff, a 56-year-old artist who wouldn't trade his conservative brown tweed suit for a 49ers' costume, is packing up his canvases and closing his gallery after 18 years in this restored gold rush town.

Surondoff said Friday he will not contest the state's legal action to evict him.

"It would cost me too much," he said. "They have all the taxpayers' money behind them."

Shopper Loses Money

Mrs. Harry Lee of Box 465, Route 1, Kingston, reported to police Monday afternoon that she lost a sum of money from her pocketbook while shopping on Wall Street. She said the money, which was rolled up into bills, apparently fell from the pocketbook when it was opened either while she was on the sidewalk or in a store in that vicinity.

Rain, Snow Hit Broad Sections

BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Rain and snow fell across broad areas of the nation today. Steady rains splashed much of the Midwest from South Dakota to Ohio and thunderstorms erupted southward to central Texas. Hail pelted Kansas City and Topeka, Kan., during the early morning after hitting areas in southern Texas.

Tornado winds lashed sections of Missouri and Oklahoma Monday, causing extensive property damage. The violent winds during thunderstorms ripped across Springfield, Mo., and nearby areas, in suburbs northwest of St. Louis and at Bartlesville, Okla.

Snow fell in the Dakotas along the northwestern edge of the rain belt, with 2 to 4 inches indicated in some areas. More snow was reported in sections of the Rockies.

The heavy rain and snow caused some flooding in Midwest areas.

For the first time this year the mercury soared to 100 degrees in the nation, hitting the century mark Monday at Laredo, in southern Texas. The warm weather extended northward into Indiana, with a high of 80 at Evansville.

Senate Is Asked To Ratify Two U.N. Amendments

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson asked the Senate today to ratify amendments to the United Nations Charter to increase membership of the Security Council and the Economic and Social Council.

He said the amendments "will strengthen the ability of the United Nations to act as a force for peace and the progress of mankind."

Under one amendment, the size of the Security Council would be increased from 11 to 15 and the voting majority of the council from 7 to 9.

The size of the Economic and Social Council would be increased from 18 to 27 with the right of veto of the permanent members not affected.

In his message to the Senate, Johnson described the amendments as realistic.

"The membership of the United Nations has grown from 51 in 1945 to 114 in 1965. Almost all of the newer members are nations which have gained independence from the peaceful dismantling of empires — a process which brought nationhood to one-third of all the peoples of the world and which is here to stay," Johnson said.

An increase in membership of both councils is necessary to restore balance which existed between the councils in the General Assembly when the charter came into force, Johnson said.

between the publishers and printers.

The printers have threatened to strike one or more of the newspapers that are members of the Newspaper Publishers Association of New York City. They are the News, Times, Herald Tribune, Journal-American, World-Tele-gram & Sun, Long Island Daily Press and Long Island Star-Journal. The association bargains for the seven papers with the nine craft unions in the industry.

The Post, the other major daily newspaper of general circulation, bargains with all unions separately. It withdrew from the publishers association and resumed publication during the 114-day newspaper blackout two years ago. A printers' strike sparked that shutdown.

Shortly after the printers' meetings at the News Monday, the presidents of two more unions resigned from the newspaper trades council, which had included nine of the 10 newspaper unions when contract negotiations began last fall.

Representatives of only five unions remain in the council, which has been hit by dissension since the printers moved to get more money than the $10.50 a week in two-year contracts originally accepted tentatively by four other unions.

Latest to resign are the stereotypers and the paper handlers. The printers—key union in the situation—have not negotiated with the publishers since negotiations collapsed Sunday.

Base pay for printers for day-shift work is $149 a week. There are premium rates for night work.

Contracts between all the city's major newspapers and the 10 unions expired last Tuesday midnight.
